Nixon inks NATO paper

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — President Nixon paused today in his journey to the Moscow summit to join America's chief European allies in the ceremonial signing of the new Atlantic Alliance declaration.

The signing ceremony lasted about 15 minutes as the representatives of the alliance's 15 members fixed their signatures in rapid succession to the document. The Dutch secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Joseph M. A. H. Luns, made a brief speech in French and English, before the meeting adjourned for picture taking.

France's new president, Valery Giscard d'Estaing was absent and sent Premier Jacques Chirac. It was the first appearance of a French premier at NATO headquarters since President Charles de Gaulle expelled the alliance's military headquarters from France.

"Without the alliance, it is doubtful that detente with the Soviet Union would have begun, and without a continuing strong alliance, it is doubtful if the detente would continue," Nixon said on his arrival Tuesday night in the Belgian capital.

The declaration approved last week at the spring meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization formalizes a pledge that the United States will consult NATO'S 14 other members before staking out new policies.

After the signing by Nixon and heads of the other allied governments, the American President was to brief his allies about his Moscow trip at a closed session and then hold individual conferences with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Italian Premier Mariano Rumor.

Nixon in his arrival remarks said his presence at NATO headquarters between his visits to the Middle East and Moscow "symbolizes the central role that the Atlantic Alliance plays in pursuing our goal of a lasting peace in the world."

The President and Mrs. Nixon remain in Brussels until Thursday, when they fly to the Soviet capital for the third annual meeting between Nixon and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The Soviet-American summit is expected to produce a partial ban on underground nuclear weapon tests and an agreement in principle to further restrain fast-moving nuclear arms

Scene from 1964 flood here

Dredging project here was money well spent

A project completed nearly six years ago is probably primarily responsible for preventing thousands of dollars in flood damages in Washington C.H. over the weekend as the city experienced one of its heaviest rainfalls.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., completed a channel improvement project on Paint Creek through Washington C.H. during the summer of 1968 and the creek dredging work salvaged the city from possible large monetary losses when a heavy band of thunderstorms swooped through here last weekend.

City Manager Dan Wolford is confident that the 1968 creek dredging project by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers was well worth its $105,000 price tag.

The city has also spent approximately $225,000 for new storm sewer construction since 1965 in an attempt to ease flooding conditions.

Official Washington C.H. weather observer Coyt A. Stookey measured a total of 3.77 inches of precipitation here over a 48-hour period last weekend, but other amateur weather watchers gauged as much as 5.4 inches.

Regardless, the rainfall is believed to be the most since the 1968 flood here. Paint Creek never overflowed its banks during the heavy thundershowers last weekend.

City officials admit there were a few spots along city streets where the storm sewers were unable to carry the heavy load, but to their knowledge, there were no large monetary losses here as the result of the deluge of rain.

Some streets were temporarily blocked and the only street that was closed for any length of time was Oakland Avenue in the area of Cherry Hill Elementary school.

Paint Creek poured over its banks and flooded streets in May of 1968 when Washington C.H. received its heaviest rainfall in 20 years. Rainfall figures topped 7.3 inches in a 36-hour period. Of that total, 4.73 inches were recorded in a 24-hour period.

Flood loss in Fayette County was estimated at $3.7 million in a four-day span. The estimate included $1.5 million in a 21-car derailment on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, north of Bloomingburg, and a $2 million crop loss.

Interestingly, the May rainfall was a staggering 13.22-inch total.

In March of 1964, Fayette County streams overflowed their banks, flooding many homes, sending water over virtually every road in the county and forcing all schools to close. Many homes were also evacuated.

The county received seven inches of rain in two days during the 1964 flood.

According to figures compiled by the former City Manager Jack Whitmer, a monetary loss of $202,242 was suffered in the 1964 flood. The loss included damage to 10 industries at $158,125; damages to 79 residences at $28,612, and $31,505 to 41 parcels of rural real estate totaling 2,272 acres.

Records kept at the City Office Building also disclose a loss of $109,800 from a 1959 flood.

There's no question about the value of the 1968 creek dredging project, but city street department workers and youths employed by the city under state and federally-funded summer job programs have also been instrumental in preventing flood conditions.

Each summer the workers have been clearing the debris from banks of Paint Creek through Washington C.H. In years past the debris along the creek banks was largely responsible for flooding.

Jury selection opens in Ehrlichman's case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jury selection begins today in the trial of former White House domestic affairs chief John D. Ehrlichman and three others accused of illegally attempting to gather psychiatric information about Daniel Ellsberg.

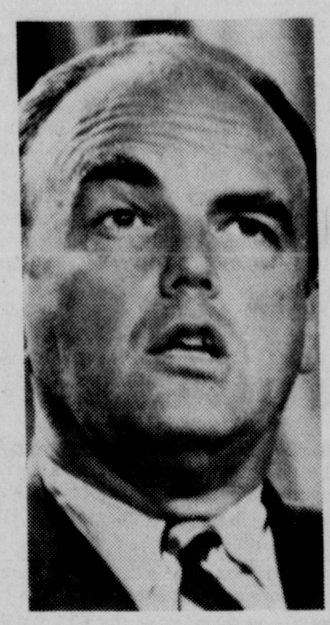
The case stems from the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist by the so-called White House plumbers. Ellsberg had leaked the Pentagon Papers to the media.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell has said the question before the jury in the trial will be simple: Did the defendants plot to violate the Fourth Amendment rights of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis Fielding of Beverly Hills, Calif.?

The Fourth Amendment of the Constitution prohibits searches by government agents without a properly-issued warrant.

Answering pretrial arguments that the break-in was justified as a special case to preserve national security, Gesell said:

"Whatever accommodation is required between the guarantees of the Fourth Amendment and the conduct of foreign affairs, it cannot justify a casual, ill-defined assignment to White House aides and part-time employes granting them an uncontrolled discretion to select, enter and search the homes and offices of innocent American citizens without a warrant."



JOHN EHRLICHMAN

Thus, Gesell has ruled out a defense based on the origins and motives of the plumbers, a special White House investigative unit established to plug news leaks.

Nonetheless, the principal defendant still is Ehrlichman, who, in August 1971, approved a covert operation against Fielding "if it is not traceable."

The second defendant is G. Gordon Liddy, 43, the silent man of the Watergate scandals, who is under multiyear jail sentences for the original Watergate break-in and contempt charges for refusal to testify before a grand jury.

The others are Bernard L. Barker, 57, and Eugenio R. Martinez, 51, members of the anti-Castro Cuban community of Miami. According to Dr. Fielding they were spotted by Spanish-speaking cleaning people in his modern office building in downtown Beverly Hills during the early morning hours the day of the break-in.

The burglars found nothing useful.

The four plumbers defendants are charged specifically with plotting the break-in "without legal process, probable cause, search warrant or other lawful authority." The maximum penalty for the single conspiracy indictment is 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In addition, the 49-year-old Ehrlichman, a successful Seattle lawyer before joining the administration, is charged with one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of making false statements before a federal grand jury. He is liable for 30 years in jail sentences and $50,000 in fines.

President Nixon has acknowledged approving creation of the plumbers within a week of publication of the Pentagon Papers, a highly-classified study of the origins of the Vietnam War, in part written by Ellsberg in his role as a Pentagon analyst.

Almost simultaneously, Ellsberg was identified as the source of the Pentagon Papers leak and Nixon ordered the plumbers to find out all they could "about Mr. Ellsberg and his motives."

Nixon named Ehrlichman "for supervision of this group" and Egil Krogh, Ehrlichman's assistant, was chosen chief plumber. Others added were David R. Young, formerly a member of Henry A. Kissinger's staff; Liddy, and E. Howard Hunt Jr., who was taken on as a White House consultant. Hunt had been a career employe of the CIA's clandestine operations section.

A principal witness, especially in the prosecution's case against Ehrlichman, will be Charles W. Colson, who turned over $5,000 in political contributions to Liddy, money that allegedly went to finance the operation.

Colson, originally indicted for the Fielding break-in, pleaded guilty to another felony charge in the Ellsberg case, and has been sentenced to one to three years in prison.

Panel to make data public

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has voted to make public most of the evidence it has received in secret impeachment hearings during the past seven weeks.

When the material will be released remains unclear but some members say all evidence relating to the Watergate cover-up, including the committee's versions of White House tapes, could be made public in a few days.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who will have the right to edit the material before it is released, said Tuesday he hoped the entire record of more than 7,000 pages would be available for public scrutiny when the committee starts debating proposed articles of impeachment, now scheduled for July 15.

"This is information on which one can make an evaluation," said Rodino. "It should come to the attention of the public."

The 22-16 vote came on a motion by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah.

Most of the evidence to be released consists of factual statements bearing on the conduct of President Nixon and his aides without any interpretation or conclusions.

However, it also includes the evidence that led the Watergate grand jury to vote 19 to 0 to name Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up. And it includes transcripts of presidential conversations far more complete than the edited versions released by the White House.

In other Watergate developments:

—Former top Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman and three others go on trial today in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—The Senate Watergate committee is reported ready to release a report written by Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., on possible CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

—A legal consultant to the Watergate committee proposed that Congress limit a president's use of executive privilege and define exactly what he can do in the name of national security.

The House Judiciary Committee resolution excludes from the evidence to be released material relating to the secret bombing of Cambodia that the Defense Department has refused to declassify.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who led the fight against releasing the evidence now, said it would infringe on the rights of Watergate defendants awaiting trial and also could hurt Nixon.

Inmates plead guilty in Ross County trial

Two Lucasville inmates pleaded guilty to kidnapping and escape and similar charges were dismissed against another following a surprise development in Ross County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Both Donald Nickerson, 45, Vandalia, and David Pilkington, 29, Olmstead, pleaded guilty to the five charges against them, after the other inmate, Robert Laws, 27, Columbus, testified that the two had forced him to participate in the escape under threat of his life. The charges against Laws were dismissed.

Nickerson and Pilkington told the court that they had planned the escape for several months and had threatened Laws' life if he did not participate.

JUDGE J. DONALD Ratcliff sentenced the two to 2 to 5 years for escape from custody, 5 to 15 years for kidnapping former Franklin County Sheriff's deputy Milton Cramer and Mrs. Irene Birchwell, and 4 to 25 years for aggravated burglary. The sentences are to run concurrently. Both men are presently serving life sentences for murder.

The trio was arrested by Washington C.H. police officers and Fayette County Sheriff's deputies following a bizarre escape attempt on March 27.

They overpowered former deputy Cramer who was transporting them from the prison to Columbus, and threatened to set fire to him. They commandeered his car and drove to a farm house on U.S. 35 near Ater's Lake where they handcuffed Cramer, Mrs. Birchwell, her daughter-in-law and a two-year-old boy.

They then stole a station wagon and sedan from the Birchwell home and headed toward Fayette County.

Nickerson and Pilkington were captured by Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks following a high-speed chase and eventual collision on the Old Chillicothe Road, just east of Washington C.H.

Laws, who was riding with Doyle W. Manning, 35, Indianapolis, Ind., was apprehended in a garage in the downtown area. Manning was fatally wounded in an exchange of gunfire with police.

Coffee Break . .

AN APPEAL was issued to members of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club Tuesday to assist in reconditioning Wilson Field for the Little League baseball program after the heavy weekend rainfall, but all Rotarians who were planning to man shovels, rakes and other equipment for the chore can now resort back to their previous plans. . .

Rotarian Don Kirk, president of the Washington C. H. Little League Association, learned Tuesday afternoon that workers from the city street department will be handling the repair chores on the infield at Wilson Field. . . .

City Manager Dan Wolford said the city street workers have volunteered their services to restore the diamond with city equipment. . . .All the work is being done after their regular duty hours. . .

The several tons of fill dirt needed for the project is being supplied by the city. . . .Wolford said the dirt is being taken from behind the city's sewage treatment plant where new lagoons are being dug. . . .

The city manager said the dirt will be mixed with sand which should improve the playing surface. . .

Rotarians were originally scheduled for diamond revamping chores at 1 p.m. Saturday. . .

Ohio Bell plans rate boost bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which received a $98 million rate increase last August, is gearing up to ask for another one before the end of the year.

Fred Eckley, president of Ohio Bell, Tuesday asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to begin the preliminary evaluation of plants and property necessary in rate cases.

John Ledingham, a PUCO spokesman, said such evaluations usually are made after the formal request is filed for an increase but said he imagined the PUCO would go ahead in advance.

"It sounds like a good idea," he said. "It will speed up any decision."

Ohio Bell waited two years after its last request — for $166 million — was granted, although reduced to $98 million.

Eckley, in a statement, noted that Ohio Bell officials said when the last increase was granted that it soon would be back for another.

"We want the commission and our customers to know that a request for telephone prices is in the planning stage and that in the months ahead we will work hard to explain to the public why we need more money," he said.

"The prices we pay for everything are going out of sight, so the company faces two choices — higher prices or poorer service," he added.

Eckley said he didn't know at this time how much of an increase would be sought.

NFO faces fraud suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has sued the National Farmer Organization, which it contends is broke and lied to its members when it borrowed more than $7 million from them.

The farmers group was charged with fraud, false statements and failure to disclose information about its financial condition.

The suit filed in Des Moines, Iowa, and announced in Washington, came one day after the farm organization's board, in an emergency meeting, unanimously approved a resolution denying any fraud and requesting that the commission make a more thorough investigation.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley has suggested in a newsletter to members that the commission's probe is part of a government effort to ruin the group. Staley pointed out that the NFO was listed among White House "enemies" in Watergate testimony by ousted presidential counsel John W. Dean III.

An SEC spokesman denied on Tuesday that the suit is related to the enemies list. "The charges speak for themselves," he said.

The suit charges that the farm organization is in the red and can't pay its bills.

NFO, which markets a broad range of commodities for its members, has had trouble collecting the $75-a-year dues it asks of its members, and recently launched a drive to collect delinquent dues, estimated by sources close to the farm organization at $12 million or more.

Staley sent a letter to members June 13, marked "confidential for members only—not to be released to the press."

In it, he said the SEC investigation is the biggest problem to confront the farm group in its 18-year history.

Vinyl-chloride-cancer link brings call for safeguards

WASHINGTON (AP) — A medical study has produced new evidence suggesting a high incidence of death from a rare liver cancer among factory employes working with vinyl chloride, a chemical widely used in the plastics industry.

A study of vinyl chloride workers at the Goodyear plant in Niagara Falls, N.Y., found that three of 24 deaths were due to the cancer angiosarcoma.

Dr. Irving J. Selikoff, director of the Environmental Sciences Laboratory of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine, cited the study. He emphasized the critical importance of reducing the amount of vinyl chloride workers are exposed to, to a "no detectable level" as proposed by the Labor Department.

Selikoff was among dozens of witnesses Tuesday at a hearing on the Labor Department's proposed standards for regulating its use.

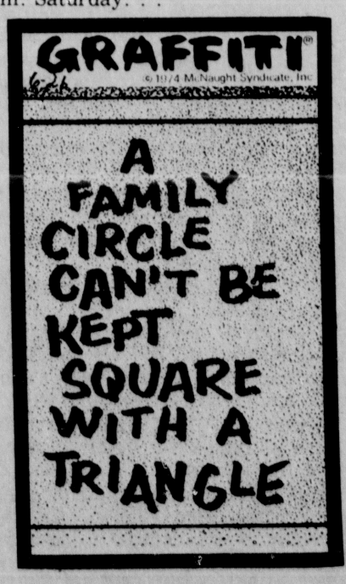
Representatives of the Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., a trade association, argued that the medical evidence was too inconclusive to require banning worker exposure to the chemical. They said the proposed regulations were impossible to achieve and would force the industry to close scores of plants with the loss of as many as 2.2 million jobs.

"The proposed permanent standard is not technologically feasible and, if adopted, would shut down the industry," warned Anton Vittone, president of the B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co.

Blanchester man dies of injuries

BLANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — William H. Benningfield of Blanchester has died of injuries suffered in a two-vehicle wreck at the intersection of Ohio 350 and U.S. 68 in southern Clinton County, the highway patrol reports.

The wreck was Tuesday.



Deaths, Funerals

MRS. TRACIE B. MASON — Services for Mrs. Tracie Brown Mason, 74, of 633 E. Paint St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home with the Rev. Leon Cook officiating. Mrs. Mason, a resident of Washington C.H. for the past 56 years, died Saturday.

Two hymns were sung by Mrs. Wanda Greathouse and Phillip Greathouse. Steve Greathouse was the pianist. Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Robert Yarger, Forrest Haines, Wayne Haines, Larry Brown, Walter Lee Brown and Larry Baker.

LAWRENCE M. THOMAS — Private services for Lawrence M. Thomas, 59, of Bellbrook, were held Tuesday afternoon in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. David Harper officiating. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse played the organ. Mr. Thomas died Saturday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Woodlawn Cemetery, Bowersville, were David and Charles Harner; Russell, Carroll and Roger Sanderson; Charles Worley and James Goodbar.

Pentagon fears technology leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some key Pentagon officials are concerned that sharing certain U.S. technology with Russia under the detente policy could impair national security.

This concern smoldered as President Nixon prepared for his coming Moscow visit, during which new and broadened agreements are expected in furtherance of detente.

Officials are worried mostly about the transfer of critical advanced computer technology, which has military as well as civilian application. The Russians are said to trail the United States in important aspects of this technology.

Also bothering defense officials is the possibility that the Russians might be helped to gain ground in the field of micro-electronics.

So far, officials said, government safeguards are working adequately.

But there have been conflicts among the State, Commerce and Defense departments, which look at the question from differing viewpoints, Pentagon officials said. The State Department is anxious to promote detente, the Commerce Department wants to open up the Russian market for U.S. business, and the Defense Department considers itself the guardian of national security.

"We are not in opposition to detente," said one senior Pentagon official. "But we must pursue detente within the bounds of national security."

In a rare speech, Vice Adm. Vincent de Poix, director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, several weeks ago sounded what he called "a small note of caution."

"Detente is intended to, and certainly does, facilitate technological research and development exchange and contacts through cooperative agreement, the increased availability of credits and relaxed export controls," de Poix said.

"But it is not intended to do so at the expense of our national security. While exchange at the level of basic research poses no problem in this regard, this becomes more uncertain as one moves up the scale of weapons sophistication

The threat of more heavy rains over flood-troubled parts of southern Ohio has eased, although occasional showers and thundershowers remained in forecasts for the area today.

A flash flood watch was in effect for southern Ohio Tuesday night, but was cancelled about 11 p.m. The heavy rains failed to materialize and showers generally measured less than a quarter of an inch, the National Weather Service reported.

Occasional showers or thundershowers were forecast to continue today over southern Ohio, although skies should clear tonight.

Temperatures were expected to remain below normal today with highs ranging from the upper 60s in northern Ohio to the low 70s in the southwest.

Warmer weather is forecast for the end of the week with highs in the 70s across the state Thursday and in the 80s by the weekend. Lows tonight will range from the upper 40s to low 50s.

Dry weather is forecast Thursday and Friday, providing a break for cleanup workers at Franklin and Lebanon, where weekend flooding caused extensive damage.

Fair Friday and showers Saturday or Sunday. Highs in the 80s. Lows in the upper 50s and the 60s.

Twisters seen in Central Ohio

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes were sighted in Franklin and Licking counties today, the National Weather Service reported.

Touchdowns were reported in Pataskala and in extreme southeastern Franklin County, the weather service said.

A tornado warning was issued for eastern Franklin, Fairfield and Licking counties today.

Stock list slips back

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped back a bit today, cutting short the technical rally that produced a sharp gain on Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction a short while after the opening, and losers and gainers were about even on the New York Stock Exchange. Analysts said it appeared the continued rise of interest rates was helping to choke off the bargain-hunting that had sparked Tuesday's rebound.

Several banks joined today in raising their prime lending rates from 11½ to 11¾ per cent, and there were predictions that a 12 per cent rate on loans to large corporations might be in the offing soon.

Today's prices on the Big Board included A. H. Robins, up ⅛ at 17¾; Perkin-Elmer, unchanged at 30⅝; International Telephone, down ¼ at 19¾, and Raytheon, up ⅜ at 33.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average registered a 12.52-point rise to 828.85 as the market posted its first clear-cut advance in more than two weeks.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 9-5 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 11.92 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .58 to 81.04.

Ohio grain outlook optimistic

By The Associated Press

Some uncertainty may have been removed from Ohio grain markets with a new federal crop outlook forecasting record corn and wheat harvests.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in Columbus also had optimistic reports for Ohio this week.

Gary Bovard reported 75 per cent of the Ohio winter wheat crop has turned and 65 per cent is ripe and reported "in good condition."

Spokesman at Shaw Elevators in London said many central Ohio terminals are short of storage space because farmers have been reluctant to sell surpluses from last year's harvest.

C. William Swank of Landmark Farm Bureau Cooperative, a 70-elevator central Ohio operation, said the elevators may start emptying, however, with the latest USDA outlook.

Stormy weather in the western U.S. and similar soybean planting problems in Illinois yielded enough uncertainty to keep bidding so low early this week that the Chicago Board of Trade posted no reports for Tuesday.

One Landmark grain watcher said farmers took a "wait and see" attitude in line with that uncertainty.

And elevator operators say the Buckeye farmer who sold more than half of last year's soybean crop long before the market topped out at an unprecedented $11 a bushel likely was waiting for it to happen again.

But Swank said they may have been overly pessimistic on hearing reports from the west and from Illinois soybean farmers.

The USDA's special report Tuesday indicates a drop from the early Nixon administration grain-conscious predictions. But the forecast is still for a record 6.4 billion bushels of corn and 12.1 billion bushels of wheat.

Futures from Chicago dropped Tuesday 17 cents on wheat, 18 cents on soybeans and 8 cents on corn, and may renew speculation.

Swank said that development followed a six-day increase in wheat to the 20-cent daily limit. While farmers were hedging their bets, he said speculators were carefully limiting investments.

State Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie said the ups-and-downs, even to the price limits, are not unusual at this time of year, when crops are still unpredictable.

But he said farmers have suffered so many losses in cattle and hogs that they are looking for assurances somewhere.

CIA seeking law to guard secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency is seeking legislation authorizing criminal penalties against government employes who make intelligence secrets public, official sources say.

William E. Colby, director of the spy agency, has proposed amendments to the National Security Act of 1947, which also would clarify the government's ability to enjoin news media from disclosing material that might compromise the sources and methods of intelligence gathering, the sources said.

The criminal penalties, however, would not apply to the newsmen, the sources said. "This is not aimed at the media, but at people who decide on their own to disclose classified information. This would not allow the director to go after recipients of the information," one source said.

But the criminal provisions would apply to employes of firms with government contracts that gave them access to classified information, the sources said.

However, one source emphasized that before any prosecution could be brought, the director of the CIA would have to show to a judge that the classification was reasonable.

The sources stressed that Colby's proposal was being considered within the Nixon administration. No final decisions on its provisions or even on whether to make the recommendations formally to Congress have been made yet, they said.

One source said that under existing law it was a close question whether the government could obtain criminal penalties for those who leak government secrets.

5 still at large in hospital escape

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jefferson County Police said five of seven patients who escaped Tuesday from the state's forensic medicine section on the Central State Hospital grounds remained at large early today.

Two Eastern Kentuckians and five men from the Louisville area escaped from the maximum security Grauman Building operated by the Forensic Medicine branch of the state Bureau for Health Services.

Dr. Francisco Montero, director of the Grauman Building, said none had been convicted of the crimes with which they are charged.

He said they had been confined in the forensic medicine section for evaluation and treatment of their mental condition and determination of whether they are able to stand trial.

County police said they captured Sidney Espie, 18, of Louisville later Tuesday near LaGrange and returned him to the Grauman Building. Espie was facing charges of armed robbery and malicious cutting and wounding.

City police said they were holding a second patient, George Arens, 22, who was arrested Tuesday night in Louisville. He was facing charges of armed robbery and storehouse breaking.

Police identified the men still at large, and the charges against them, as:

Bernard Eugene Smith, 26, of Ashland, armed robbery and being an habitual criminal; Billy Edgar Hall, 26, of Pikeville, armed robbery, rape and arson; Edward Griffin, 31, of Louisville, charges not available; Othea Lee Tungett, 29, of Louisville, storehouse breaking, and Steven Bronger, 26, of Louisville, armed robbery and malicious cutting and wounding.

"None of the men is psychotic at this time," Dr. Montero said.

To escape, he said, the seven had to get through a door in the Grauman Building that was supposed to be locked, walk across a yard and climb an electrified fence more than 10 feet high.

Montero said the fence has only a slight electric charge: "It only gives a tingling sensation. Evidently the electricity is not enough to knock them down."

4-year-old boy regains life after 100-1 odds

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — The 4-year-old boy's heart and breathing had stopped and doctors working to revive him estimated his chances for survival were "no more than one to two in 100."

But on Tuesday, one week after he accidentally shot himself, William Horton asked a Harbor General Hospital nurse, "When can I go home?"

The .25 caliber bullet pierced William's aorta, ripped through his intestines in seven different places and lodged in his back.

Dr. Michael Peter, a senior resident in surgery who helped save the boy, told a news conference that a gunshot wound which penetrates the aorta is usually fatal. The aorta is the artery through which blood flows from the heart into the body.

Peter said the chances of a person surviving the injury "would be certainly no more than one to two in 100 and quite likely much less."

He said William's survival "represented a lot of good luck along with good care."

Peter said William's brain lacked oxygen for about 15 to 20 minutes, possibly "as long as 25 minutes," and this condition for longer than eight minutes can result in permanent brain damage. Children seem to tolerate this condition for longer periods than adults, he said.

"He has responded to questions and his memory is good," Peter said. "We feel certain there is no damage and he should recover completely."

The boy's mother, Beatrice Horton, 36, of Carson, Calif., said of her son's accident, "... I'll tell you one thing, I never want to have another gun in my possession like that again."

She said she had her automatic handgun in her purse the day of the accident because she was carrying about $500 with which she planned to purchase a minimotorbike for William.

She said she drove into a service station and left the car briefly.

"What he did, apparently, was reach inside my purse and hit the safety and the trigger all at the same time," Mrs. Horton said.

The boy was rushed to the hospital about one mile away, but appeared to be dead, doctors said—there was no heartbeat, no pulse, no spontaneous respiration. William's abdomen had filled with blood.

Doctors stopped the blood flow, administered cardiac massage and William's heartbeat began again. In three hours of surgery, doctors cut out the injured portion of the aorta, sewed the two remaining ends together and then repaired the seven holes in the intestines.

Mayors seek federal cash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's continued commitment to the New Federalism concept of sharing federal powers and dollars with the cities faces a challenge from the nation's mayors.

The U.S. Conference of Mayors, dominated by Democrats, was expected to adopt a resolution today declaring that the promises of the New Federalism haven't yet been fulfilled.

The measure, with companion proposals, calls on the administration and Congress to follow through with acceptable amounts of federal aid for second-step New Federalism programs such as mass transit and housing.

The measure also demands that Congress enforce its pledge to challenge Nixon on future impoundment of appropriated funds for urban programs.

Mayor Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee said he thought the President had undercut the New Federalism by impoundment of urban programs funds Congress appropriated.

"The burglary of the budget is much more serious than the burglary of the Democratic national headquarters," said Maier, president of the newly formed National Conference of Democratic Mayors.

The five-day conference, with about 350 mayors on hand, concludes with today's business session and the expected election of San Francisco's Joseph L. Alioto as the new conference president.

The overriding theme has been that the first step of the New Federalism, general revenue sharing, has been good in concept but that inflation has offset its promise by eating into city budgets.

The mayors are asking for early reenactment of general revenue sharing, at least a year before the current program expires at the end of 1976.

Marijuana haul in Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Drug Enforcement Administration says U.S. and Mexican authorities have carried out the biggest single seizure of marijuana in history, netting 42 tons of the weed in Mexicali, Mexico.

Announcing the joint operation Tuesday, DEA Administrator John Bartels Jr. estimated the marijuana's U.S. street sale value at $22.8 million.

He said Mexican police were holding seven men for questioning and that additional arrests were expected.

About 2½ tons of marijuana was found inside each of two tanker trucks stopped at the border while they were en route from Mexicali to California, with the rest discovered at a Mexicali warehouse in "a huge secret cavern beneath the concrete floor," the DEA said.

Mexicali is on the California-Mexico border, a sister city of Calexico, Calif.

According to authorities, the tanker trucks would transport tar and asphalt into the Mexicali area and return to the United States loaded with marijuana.

Gas prices stay stable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Automobile Association reports that for a fifth straight week, the average price of regular gasoline across the nation has remained stable at 56 cents a gallon.

The AAA also said Tuesday that according to spot checks of 5,556 stations in all states except Alaska, the average price of premium gasoline has stayed at 60 cents a gallon for two weeks in a row.

Slight improvement was reported in the availability of gasoline on evenings and weekends, although the AAA said the proportion of stations completely out of gas increased from 0.2 per cent a week ago to 0.6 per cent this week.

Hawaii had the highest average prices—61 cents for regular and 64 cents for premium. Michigan and Illinois averaged second highest in regular fuel prices at 59 cents while Vermont was second in premium prices at 63 cents.

Ohio jobless rate increases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 220,000 Ohioans were out of work in May, the state Bureau of Employment Services reported today.

That was 4.6 per cent of the state's civilian labor force, the OBES said, a slight increase from the 4.2 per cent unemployment level of the same month last year.

But, said the bureau, the unemployment rate has been on the decline for several months.

Vice president quits at Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The first black vice president of the University of Cincinnati has resigned.

Dr. Charles E. Johnson said he planned to accept a job with an international management consulting firm in the East.

Johnson has held the UC post for two years.

The former economist at the Harvard School of Business also served once as a professor of economics at Lovanium University in the Congo. He assisted in the training of business executives in Africa.

Counties receive auto plate fees

The state auditor's office has announced the first distribution of the 1974 motor vehicle registration fees. A total of $49,932,707 was distributed to Ohio's counties, cities, townships and villages.

The bulk of the license tax, $40,445,492 was divided between the 88 counties, with the municipal governments receiving 34 per cent and the county governments receiving 47 per cent.

Ferguson said that the state makes three distributions of license plate money each year, the first in the early summer, one in the fall, and the third following the close of the licensing year.

An additional $9,738,962 in piggy-back ($5) license plate fees was distributed. Fayette County received $41,951 of this money.

Other nearby counties which have the piggy-back tax are Greene, $161,044; Clinton, $48,048; and Madison, $39,157.

EPA claims 1972 autos polluters

DETROIT (AP) — After eight years of tangling with the federal government over safety-related defects, auto companies now are under attack on a new front involving antipollution violations.

The Environmental Protection Agency entered the auto recall business in earnest Tuesday when it announced that up to 1.4 million cars built in 1972 may be exceeding allowable exhaust pollution levels.

EPA said tests of 1972 General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Volkswagen cars found many failed to meet limits on hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions. The agency gave the companies 10 days to respond to the test results before recalls are ordered.

Until recently, the National Highway Traffic Safety Admnistration had been the sole agency monitoring recall campaigns.

Since then, the auto companies have recalled—voluntarily or under government mandate—millions of cars a year at a cost in the tens of millions of dollars.

The EPA was granted similar recall powers two years ago under the Clean Air Act, which authorized the agency to test cars in actual use to ensure they meet federal pollution levels for up to 50,000 miles.

Charles W. Colson disbarred by court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, a former White House aide, has been disbarred by the U.S. District Court here because of his guilty plea to obstruction of justice in trying to smear Daniel Ellsberg.

The order was signed Tuesday by three judges of the District of Columbia court.

Colson also is licensed to practice law in Virginia and Massachusetts, but disbarment in one court jurisdiction usually results in complete disbarment.

Nixon visit

But a senior official in the President's party told newsmen during the trip across the Atlantic it was "impossible" for a pact limiting offensive nuclear weapons to emerge from this round of Nixon-Brezhnev talks.

The official said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may have to make a later trip to Moscow to keep the momentum going. But he also left open the possiblity that Nixon and Brezhnev would narrow their differences sufficiently to enable them to draw up treaty guidelines for their delegations at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Geneva.

The first Nixon-Brezhnev summit in 1972 produced an interim agreement limiting some offensive nuclear weapons for five years and ending some defense systems permanently. One of the principal differences between the two governments in the current round involves what consideration to give warheads with multiple missiles.

Nixon and Brezhnev also are expected to sign a 10-year agreement providing for cooperation in science, technology and economics. The Soviet Union has similar agreements with France and West Germany, and the draft that has been drawn up is reported to overlap other Soviet-American agreements signed in the past two years.

Card of Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my many friends for their cards, prayers, flowers, gifts and visits, during my stay in Mt. Carmel Hospital and since my return home, each was deeply appreciated. My heartfelt thanks to all.

Opinion And Comment

Drinking at record high

No perceptive observer of American society can fail to conclude that excessive use of alcohol warrants serious concern. It could not be otherwise in a country where drinking is involved in half the highway deaths, where there are reportedly some nine million alcoholics, where responsible health officials have called drinking the nation's number one health problem.

The view of alcohol use as a grave social concern is bolstered further by results of the latest in a series of Gallup polls on the question. The proportion of adults who drink now stands at the highest point since the polls began 35 years ago. Sixty-eight per cent said yes to the question whether they "have occasion to use alcoholic beverages such as liquor, wine or beer."

Happily, the pollsters also find a widespread view that excessive drinking poses a serious threat to society, and that new approaches should be made to dealing with the problem. That conclusion, too, seems inescapable.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Kissinger and wiretaps

WASHINGTON — The accusatory finger points, the voice is stern. You did it, you people in the press, you built up Henry Kissinger twice lifesize and you can hardly blame him for responding with an ego matching the adulation you gave him.

Hailed as Super K, the miracle worker, on his return from 32 days of shuttle diplomacy in the Middle East, the secretary of state fell inadvertently into the trap of his involvement in wiretaps. Colleagues in the State Department had cautioned him that at the press conference he held on his return the concentration would be on his role in tapping the phones of colleagues and reporters. Kissinger believed to the contrary that he would be asked about his diplomatic triumph.

THE HOSTILE quizzing opened up the whole wiretap affair which had begun to die down. A little earlier, Kissinger had appeared before Sen. Edmund Muskie's Foreign Relations subcommittee to be asked the blunt question whether he had initiated the taps. He replied no. Muskie today believes that while he may have tidied up his responses he was telling the truth.

Then came the secretary's unfortunate Salzburg press conference threatening to resign if his name is not cleared. This revived the competition of leaks and counterleaks. Only a thorough, careful hearing by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee can put the whole messy business in perspective.

In the view of this observer, the praise of Kissinger was not so much overblown as oversimplified. While the disengagement of the Syrian-Israeli forces continuing to fight on the Golan Heights was essential, since the alternative was a renewed and greatly expanded war, this was only the capstone of his achievement.

More important by far was the creation of a new relationship of confidence among the moderate Arab states and in turn between the moderates and Israel. This grew largely out of the secretary's friendship with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. Sadat's restraining influence on President Hafez al-Assad of Syria was an important element in the military disengagement.

Kissinger encouraged the cooperation now beginning to show tangible results. The shah of Iran has initiated with the moderate Arab states a series of agreements providing substantial aid. The agreement signed with Egypt calls for $870 million in a complex of loans, grants, technical assistance and the training of personnel. Syria under a similar arrangement is to get $150 million, Morocco $30 million.

This will come to be sure out of the soaring price of Iran's oil. The shah triggered this upsurge and he is known to have turned down a recent suggestion from King Feisal of Saudi Arabia that the price which is having such disastrous consequences around the world, and especially in the underdeveloped world, but cut back.

All this is tentative and fragile. The millions cheering the President in Egypt were anticipating American assistance that can help the Egyptians move out of the mire of poverty they have endured for centuries. This was the Nixon rhetoric as he moved through the Middle East - progress toward the industrialization and the standard of living prevailing in the West.

NO ONE here believes Kissinger will resign. His role in the Middle East is so important, not to mention his relationship with the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China.

But the Senate hearing is likely to be an ordeal for a highly sensitive man. The pressure will be on to call witnesses for the opposition who want to use the wiretap issue to get Kissinger out of office. Punishing the wiretapper, the opponents give little thought to who might succeed him and what could happen to the policy of detente and peace in the Middle East.

The accolade of miracle worker is a disservice. Kissinger is a diplomat of remarkable ability. His success came out of unending patience and perseverance; a mental and physical endurance contest beyond the call of duty. With a little common sense, time can heal the unfortunate aspects of this controversy and Kissinger can carry on as before.

$1 million damage seen in Lebanon

By The Associated Press

Flood-ravaged Lebanon struggled through a third night without power as city officials predicted damage could approach $1 million from what a veteran policeman called "the worst flood I've seen here in 40 years."

Power was expected to be restored today to the Warren County community of 8,000.

The city was hit by torrential downpours twice Saturday, causing two normally-quiet creeks to spill over their banks. More than seven inches of rain was measured during a 15-hour period.

Workmen continued cleaning up mud and debris today.

High winds that accompanied the storm were blamed for the death of a 7-year-old girl in Blanchester, about 20 miles southeast in Clinton County.

The victim was Pamela Hodge. She died of injuries when her family's mobile home was overturned by high wind gusts.

City officials in Franklin and Lebanon have asked Gov. John J. Gilligan to declare Warren County disaster areas.

Franklin, with a population of 10,000, suffered damage to 104 homes when part of Clear Creek Levee washed out.

Lebanon Police Capt. Nick Toller described the waters that hit his city "the worst flood I've seen here in 40 years. I've talked to some people older than I am and they can't remember a worse one."

Ed Schwaberow, Lebanon administrative assistant, said state officials reviewed the damage Monday.

Schwaberow said business inventories would make up the bulk of losses.

Eight state parks were affected by the storms, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources reported.

Strouds Run State Park has been closed and is not expected to open for several days, according to the department.

23 OSU students to tour China

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-three students at Ohio State University will leave Friday for a tour of the People's Republic of China. The five-week tour will emphasize comparative social welfare systems, with visits to social welfare agencies, communes and public assistance offices.

The students are from the university's School of Social Work.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Last Tuesday I attended Rotary as a guest of one of my member friends at which time I listened to an address by Dr. Sweet of the Department of Economic and Community Development, (DECD). The DECD is a cabinet level agency in Governor Gilligan's administrative complex.

Dr. Sweet spoke on the state planning area set-up but did not have time to deal specifically as to where Fayette County stands and how we will be affected.

Fayette County, along with Franklin, Delaware, Fairfield, Licking, Madison, Pickaway and Union comprise planning area six.

In the very beginning (about 17 months ago) your representative requested in writing that Fayette should not be a part of planning area six but a part of area seven instead (if we had to part of something). This was because we have vastly more in common with the counties to the south of us than we have with Franklin.

The chief hangup in the attempt to organize has been the allocation of voting strength. In the beginning, Franklin suggested it be allocated on the basis population - one man one vote. This sounds "catchy" until we start reflecting on the fact that this would leave us with 2.4 per cent of the voting strength and Franklin with almost 71.0 per cent. All this in a situation which is not of our own choosing or liking.

Under this plan, with Franklin having 71.0 per cent and the other seven counties collectively inheriting the remaining 29.0 per cent, you can easily see why your representative pointed out it would hardly be worth while for anyone except Franklin to attend a meeting. We've been assured they are "good fellows" and would not impose upon us. We pointed out we are "good fellows" too and we could not impose on Franklin if we were granted weighted voting rights or veto provisions.

With this background, I will simply state to you that since Jan., 1973 many plans have been submitted (Fayette submitted one) in an attempt to arrive at a satisfactory distribution of voting strength. Chairman Dorrian even appointed a special committee which came up with a plan everyone thought could very well be "it."

Guess what happened. At our last meeting Mayor Moody, representing the mayors of Franklin county, stated that after much thought and deliberation had concluded that the special committee's report was unacceptable and they were insisting on the one man one vote principle. Precisely where we were 17 months ago.

In all fairness, I should point out the mayors did consent to a veto provision which could be invoked by any representative of any affected unit of government. Sounds fine until you read further and find out it takes a ¾ vote to sustain said veto.

This means all seven smaller counties would have to vote solidly to support said veto and would have to have five votes from Franklin county delegation in addition.

If there is a groundswell of support in favor of this latest proposal of Franklin, let me know.

J. Herbert Perrill
Fayette County Commissioner

Under the above proposal the voting percentages would be: Madison 2.4, Delaware 3.9, Fairfield 6.3, Franklin 70.9, Licking 9.2, Pickaway 3.4, Union 2.0, and Fayette 2.4.)

Gadget combats 'cafe coronary'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health is promoting a $6 plastic gadget it says could cure the sixth leading cause of death in the nation—the "cafe coronary."

"It's ranked as the sixth leading cause of death in our country," said Tom Magoto, director of the department's accident prevention and product safety program.

"That means this would exceed aircraft accidents, firearms, lightning, snake and insect bites," he said. "We're trying to make the food operators aware of what the problem is."

The cafe coronary is actually food asphyxiation, caused by a person literally biting off more than he can chew. The food lodges in the throat, blocking the air passage.

"Symptoms of food asphyxiation are so often mistaken to be that of a coronary victim, but they're very different," he said.

"The victim of choking is unable to breath, talk or cough. He turns blue in the face and collapses.

"This is fast, four to five minutes," and the person is dead, Magoto said. In contrast, he said, a coronary victim can breathe and is conscious.

The culprit usually is a chunk of steak, with the average size that of a pack of cigarettes, Magoto said.

"Backslapping is a waste of time ordinarily," he said. "It may cause it to be more deeply imbedded, unless you can get the victim upside down, upended. If you're dealing with an adult, this can be quite an obstacle."

He said mouth-to-mouth resuscitation also is generally unsuccessful.

"The real remedy is retrieving the food, with fingers if necessary," he said. "This is difficult to do because of the size of the fingers or hand."

That's the reason for the choke saver, he said. The device is a nine-inch pair of curved plastic tweezers.

"It's a real wicked looking bird," Magoto said. But he said it can save lives.

"I'm not a physician, of course, but perhaps misuse could scratch or hurt the throat," Magoto said when asked about hazards. "But that would be less than a person choking to death.

"We're making a general recommendation, that we think food operators should supply at least one of these, very accessible, at the ready," he said.

He said field workers for the health department are carrying the devices and spreading the word to restaurant operators. So far, he said, it appears few restaurants know of the devices or even of cafe coronaries.

"There are some people, just a few, that were familiar with the information," he said. "The great majority of the people probably aren't even aware of these problems."

If husband won't see counselor, go alone

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I'm actually writing a letter to Dear Abby! Wow, what a corny trip! I know you're not "God," but you say a lot in a few words and your answers make sense, so here goes:

I'm a 34-year-old married woman with two kids and a million problems. The biggest is my marriage. It's going downhill fast.

My husband and I fight all the time. We've got money problems, in-law problems, he says I'm a lousy housekeeper and he's right, and I say he spends too much time with "the boys" and not enough time with me and the kids. (He's a sports freak.) We can't even discuss our problems without ending up in a fight. The only thing we've got going for us is sex. That's terrific, but you can't stay in bed all the time.

Don't tell me we need "counseling." He'd never go. And I can't afford a shrink, so forget that.

MISERABLE

DEAR MIS: The answer I have for you, you won't like. You need professional counseling. (Friends are a waste of time. They tell you only what they think you want to hear.) You say your husband won't go? Well, go alone. If you learn how to handle your husband, you will know more than you know now. And with luck, you can get him to go later.

If you need a shrink and can't afford one, your Family Service or Welfare Department can provide that at a price you CAN afford. Now get going, and let me hear from you in 30 days.

DEAR ABBY: I was a very happily married woman until I went to this mind reader. She told me that my husband was on drugs and also that he was unfaithful to me.

I asked my husband about this and he denied it. I want to believe my husband because we have two kids, and I don't want to break up our marriage.

Abby, why would that mind reader say something like that if it wasn't true?

I don't know what to believe. Can you help me?

MESSED UP MIND

DEAR MESSED UP: I'd believe my husband. I would also stay away from "mind readers."

DEAR ABBY: Tell me something. Do I have the right to complain?

We've been married for 14 years, and for the last ten years my husband has taken a 10-day skiing vacation without me.

I couldn't go because I had no one to leave the kids with. I took one vacation without my husband five years ago. I went to Florida for a week to visit my folks, and I took my kids with me. Some vacation!

My husband says: "Just because YOU have to stay home doesn't mean I have to."

Rah, rah, for women's lib!

ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: You made your first mistake when you stayed home with the kids while hubby took to the slopes. They're his kids too, aren't they? The squeaking wheel gets the grease, so give him three choices: (1) The whole family takes a vacation together-kids included. (2) You and hubby vacation together and farm the kids out. (3) You and hubby vacation together, and hire somebody to stay with the kids.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, June 26, the 177th day of 1974. There are 188 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, delegates of 50 nations, meeting in San Francisco, signed the United Nations Charter.

On this date —

In 1541, the Spanish conqueror, Francisco Pizarro, was killed in Lima, Peru.

In 1549, the 17 provinces of The Netherlands were declared independent of the Holy Roman Empire.

In 1844, President John Tyler married Julia Gardiner in a secret wedding in New York.

In 1935, compulsory labor service was introduced in Nazi Germany.

In 1944, Finland announced it was at war with the Soviet Union — for the second time in two years.

In 1944, Allied forces captured Cherbourg, France from the Nazis.

Ten years ago: The Roman Catholic Church and the Spanish government said they had reached basic agreement on proposed legislation to grant legal recognition and certain rights to Spain's protestants.

Five years ago: There were serious outbreaks of racial violence in Omaha, Neb.; Cairo, Ill.; and Kokomo, Ind.

One year ago: The U.S. House of Representatives passed a bill barring the use of funds for American bombing operations in Cambodia and Laos.

Today's birthdays: Opera tenor Richard Crooks is 74. Engineer William Lear is 72.

Bay Village eligible for flood insurance

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Flood Insurers Association said Monday the City of Bay Village in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, is eligible for low-cost, federally subsidized flood insurance after meeting standards set by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Fair skies cover much of nation

By The Associated Press

A storm system that dumped torrential rains on the Florida Peninsula weakened as it moved out to open sea today, but showers lingered along much of the Eastern Seaboard.

With only isolated exceptions, the rest of the nation basked in sunshine.

A disturbance building off the Mexican coast threatened to grow into the season's first tropical storm. Winds of 30 to 35 miles per hour were reported Tuesday night, just below the threshold for a tropical storm.

Florida received only scattered thundershowers overnight, including nearly an inch of rain at Miami. Tuesday, a storm system drenched the state, dumping 11.03 inches in Homosassa and 10.5 inches in Hernando, both along the Gulf coast.

Clouds and some rainfall were concentrated over the northern and Middle Atlantic coast, stretching as far inland as the eastern Great Lakes and Ohio Valley.

Cooler-than-normal temperatures prevailed from the Atlantic Coast to the northern and central Plains, with most locations in the 50s during the night.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 99 at Blythe, Calif., to 41 at Marquette County Airport, Mich.

The heaviest normal newborn child recorded in modern times was a boy weighing 24 pounds 4 ounces, born on June 3, 1961, to Mrs. Saadet Cor of Ceyhan, southern Turkey.

Ufologists insist better saucer study needed

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Earth — the "little blue planet third from the sun" — is being visited by extraterrestrial beings and has been for centuries, beings who take samples that include the living, "ufologists" say.

The ufologists—a coined word from UFO, unidentified flying object, and the suffix "ology" that means "the study of"— come from such diverse fields as quality control management in a Quincy, Ill., manufacturing plant, free-lance writing in New York City, and psychiatry in Montclair, N.J.

Eight addressed about 400 participants in last weekend's UFO Symposium centered on "a scientific assault on the UFO enigma," sponsored by the Midwest UFO Network, Inc. (MUFON).

MUFON's director, Walter H. Andrus Jr. of Quincy, Ill., described the nonprofit organization founded in 1969 as "people seriously interested in resolving the mysteries of the UFO phenomenon by combining their mutual talents, research and investigative efforts.

"Overwhelming data is available to confirm the existence of the phenomenon known as unidentified flying objects," Andrus said.

Dr. Berthold E. Schwarz, a Montclair, N.J., psychiatrist and consultant to the Brain Wave Laboratory, Essex County Hospital Center, Cedar Grove, N.J., called it "strange and regrettable that despite the millions of people who have supposedly seen UFOs, and the many who have had close encounters with them, or who might have had various highly intriguing UFO—induced biological effects and, for some, alleged experiences with entities or creatures, so few of these people-credible contactees-have been studied and reported upon by physicians."

The UFO researchers, including the Rev. Barry H. Downing, pastor of Northminister Presbyterian Church in Endwell, N.Y., and author of "The Bible and Flying Saucers," cited such Biblical incidents as the Israelites' crossing the Red Sea and Ezekial's wheel within a wheel as instances involving UFOs.

Others cited cave paintings of saucer-shaped or domed objects and related drawings as being representations of vehicles and visitors from space.

They said there are hundreds of sighting reports each year in the United States and hundreds more worldwide, that Russia has been visited many times, that landings have left traces in 700 cases from 35 countries. From the reports by those who study UFOs emerges a composite of recurrent themes:

—Of landings that leave physical traces, typically baked-appearing soil, landing gear indentations, and circular ground patterns;

—Of people who tell of having seen the UFO craft and discovering much later they can't account for half an hour or more of their time during the incident;

—Of subsequent discovery of memory blocks apparently imposed by the aliens after treating the Earthlings like laboratory specimens;

—Of recurrent headaches, nausea, sleeplessness, nightmares and such physiological symptoms as skin punctures and welts along nerve paths;

—And of severe ridicule by the communities in which those persons reside, ruining lives and health.

To a man, apparently, the researchers contend that now is the time for serious, open, indepth and open-minded investigation of the phenomena reportedly experienced by about 15 million Americans thus far, according to a November 1973 Gallup poll they often cite.

Again to a man, apparently, the researchers said they accept the proposition that the UFO are real, that some are extraterrestrial, and that some alien-to-Earthling contact apparently is real.

Proof? Well, that's another matter, they said. They agreed with the need for proof and said they'd like nothing better than the money, interest and expertise to seek it. They insist it's there to be found.

Marjorie Fish of Oak Harbor, a former elementary school teacher, reported spending six years painstakingly searching astronomical catalogs and other reference material in an attempt to match a star map drawn by a Portsmouth, N.H., woman, Betty Hill, after Mrs. Hill's reported two-hour examination aboard an alien UFO. The map was based on a star model Mrs. Hill said the aliens showed her while examining her late husband.

Now Miss Fish said she has succeeded in matching the map with reality but only by using data which first became available on Earth five years after the map was drawn.

The map, Miss Fish said, "could only have been drawn after contact with extraterrestrials."

"I stay away from the word proof," says Stanton Friedman, a Pedando Beach, Calif., nuclear physicist who now makes his living lecturing on UFOs. "But Marjorie's work is one instance in which I can use it. Marjorie would rank as one of the two most objective people I've known."

Another typical facet among the researchers' comments is that their own attitudes were disbelieving until, as Ted Phillips of Sedalia, Mo., put it, "I got into the investigations myself and I talked to the people.

"The people are the key; they are the evidence," the Missouri state highway inspector said in an interview. "You can't help but believe that something really happened to them when you talk to them."

Equally recurrent is the insistence by those who make the study is that the government is receiving and hiding key, frequent and significant reports.

Mindszenty opens Kentucky visit

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who carried on a long war against Communism by going into 15 years of self-imposed exile, arrived here Tuesday as part of a 20-city American visit.

The 82-year-old cardinal was to hold a news conference today.

He marked his arrival by officiating at a Solemn Pontifical Concelebrated High Mass Tuesday night in the Cathedral Basilica of the Assumption in Covington.

Bloomingburg resident is wed

MR. AND MRS. JAMES N. WICKERSHAM

The wedding of Miss Regina Ann Grim of Bloomingburg and James Nathan Wickersham of 155 Orange Ave., Fairhope, Ala., formerly of Westfield, N.J., took place in Fairhope in Trinity Presbyterian Church. The Rev. C.W. Owens officiated.

The new Wickersham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Grim Jr. of Bloomingburg. She was graduated from Miami Trace High School and Rio Grande College, Rio Grande, with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. She was given in marriage by David Fogg of Columbus, and Mrs. P.D. East of Fairhope was her only attendant.

Mr. Wickersham, the son of Mrs. N.R. Wickersham Jr., now of Fairhope, and the late Mr. Wickersham, was graduated from Westfield High School, Kemper Military College in Missouri, and Rio Grande College with a bachelor of science degree in biology. His brother, Stephen Wickersham of Basking Ridge, N.J., served as best man.

Mrs. H. Fred Monley of Fairhope, formerly also of Westfield, entertained at a pre-nuptial dinner as did Mrs. John W. Campbell Jr., formerly of Mountainside, N.J. A reception followed the ceremony given by the groom's mother at her home.

Out of town guests in addition to Mr. Fogg and Stephen Wickersham included David Denny of Columbus and S. Douglas McKnight of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bridal couple is on a motor trip.

WHS Class of 1924 meet for 50th reunion

The Washington High School Class of 1924 held it's 50th anniversary reunion at the LaFayette Inn on Saturday, June 22.

During the Social Hour which preceded the Buffet Supper in the Pioneer Room, the classmates and guests visited and reminisced about happy times together — either around the punch table or while viewing nostalgic schoolday exhibits. Duane Neal, the class president, had an unbelievable collection of sourvenirs, pictures and memorabilia. Vonna Bernice Hicks Adrian brought a prepared poster of early school day pictures. Berdina Chrisenberry Judge showed many of her beautiful paintings which she has done within the last ten years. There was even the taking of classmate pictures by Harold Coil, now a professional photographer. Some group pictures, planned for after the supper hour, were impossible because of the two hour electrical blackout.

Miss Verna Williams gave the Invocation before the 44 in attendance served themselves from the bountiful and delicious offerings at the buffet table.

Duane Neal, the Master of Ceremonies, introduced former teachers who were guests: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson of Washington C.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moorehead of New Concord, who later shared interesting experiences during the "50 years in Review" session. Miss Geraldine Craig reviewed the class history — with 62 graduating seniors from a freshmen class of 100. Virginia Ellies Hume read the class poem, which she had written in 1924.

The class motto was: "Build for Character and not for Fame." The table decorations carried out the Class colors (turquoise and honey) with streamers and gold 50 numerals. The yellow roses, the class flower, from the lovely table bouquets were given as favors.

Miss Verna Williams was in charge of the music. She presented the Cecilian Double Trio, of which she is a member and one of five former graduates of WHS. Mrs. Don Schwaigert arranged and accompained the trio in a medley of three tunes: When I Grow too Old to Dream, Whispering, and Margie. The members and guests then joined in a sing-a-long of selected tunes of the "Twenties" and closed with the High School Alma Mater, with Mrs. Glenn Smith playing the violin.

The class president led the "Do you remember?" session. Many experiences, most interesting and often hilarious were related. During the "Now it can be told" session, each class member shared the highlights of his or her life over the 50 year span.

A candle-lighting In Memoriam service was conducted by Duane Neal assisted by Geraldine Craig. Concluding the observance, Gwendolyn Wolfe Smith, played a violin solo, "How Great Thou Art", accompanied by Mrs. Schwaigert.

From the class of 62 members, there are now 17 deceased: Gwendolyn Baughn Crites, Vivian Baughn, Estel Boyer, Wilma Dale Browning, Clara Davis, Thelma Davis, Preston Dray, Paul Harris, Donald Jones, Opher Loveless, Celora Overstake, Alberta Roby Beasley, Ollie Rogers Moats, Mary Roush, Clara Belle Terry, Caryl Williams, and Eugene Wilson.

Attending the reunion were 24 members with their husbands, wives or guests: Janet Barger Rush and husband Fred, from Waynesville; Kathryn Barnes Painter from Georgetown; Jennie Louise Callendar King and husband Willard from Chillicothe; Norine Chaney Noble from Chillicothe; Harold Coil and wife Sadie Belle from Sterling Heights, Michigan; Geraldine Craig, Kent; and Her sister Edith Elliot of London; Warren Creamer and his wife Mary, from Orient; Berdina Crisenberry Judge and husband Eddie, from Salem; Virginia Ellis Hume, London; Raymond Flee, Dayton; Florence Lightle Haines and daughter Linda Erwin from Dayton; Vonna Bernice Hicks Adrian and husband Arthur, from Cleveland Heights; Louis Quann of Springfield, Ill., and guest Helene C. Beatty; Amy Roush Stewart and husband Robert of Monroe; Dan Stuckey and wife Martha of Sheridan, Ind.; Alvin Wilson and wife Phyllis, Dayton; Duane Neal and wife, Ann of Dayton; and Gwendolyn Wolfe Smith and husband Glenn, Chillicothe.

Those attending from the Washington C.H. community were: Donald Dray and wife Isabelle, Alfred Hagler and wife Jean, Hazel Eckle Leadbetter, Evelyn Sodders Arnold, Verna P. Williams and Lida Grace Wissler. Those living in the community and unable to attend: Dorothy Anne Jones, Thelma Lauderback Roush, Edward McRoan, Ethel A. Sheridan Dewees; Ernestine Thornton Chichester, Evelyn Hyer Bernard, Nel Mark Crook, Wilby McCoy and Pauline Coil Haines.

Miss Lida Grace Wissler read portions of the letters of regret received from Harold and Frances Martin Rodecker of Bethesda, Md.; Violet Parks Steffy (Chester) of Sharon, Pa.; Ethel M. Sheridan Dehart, Aurora, Ill.; Forrest W. Smith, Columbus, Ohio; and Kenneth Sollars, Fostoria; and Hilda Lee Coil Rine (Russell) Shawnee Mission, Kans.

No word was received from Helen Boyer Smith, Marjorie Hayworth, Matilda Stevenson or Elwood Engle, possibly due to incorrect addresses.

Young pianist in recital

Miss Cassandra Delay, piano student of Mary Richter Snyder, was presented in an invitational recital Sunday afternoon at her teacher's home on East Market Street.

The program began with Dance of the Blessed Spirits (Melody) from Gluck's opera, "Orpheus", arranged for two pianos with Mrs. Snyder at the second piano. The first half of Miss Delay's recital included J.S. Bach's Two Part Invention in F Major, Mozart's Fantasie in D Minor, Song Without Words (Tarantella) by Mendelssohn and Waltz in B Major by Brahms.

Following a short intermission, Casandra played Prelude in C Minor by Chopin, Clair de Lune by Debussy and Granados' Spanish Dance (Minueto). The recital concluded with Miss Delay's and Mrs. Snyder's performance of a two piano arrangement of Waltz from "Serenade for Strings" by Tchaikowsky. Refreshments were served to the guests after the program.

Casandra has just completed her sophomore year at the Miami Trace High School. The parents of this promising young musician are Mr. and Mrs. John Delay of Mount Sterling.

Pleasant View Ladies Aid meets

Mrs. Thelma Yenger was hostess to the Pleasant View Ladies Aid and Mrs. Ray Bentley gave devotions by reading from the book of Hebrews and the poem "Worship and Light."

Wedding in Logan is announced here

Miss Vicki Jo Bellar and Charles Stephen Dalton were united in marriage in Immanuel United Methodist Church in Logan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elston E. Bellar of Logan, formerly of Washington C.H., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dalton, also of Logan.

The Rev. Conrad O. Diehm officiated at the vows solemnizing the double ring ceremony.

The altar was centered with an arrangement of white pompoms, pink roses and carnations. A pair of seven-branch candelabra holding glowing white cathedral candles were lighted by Terry Kline and Jim Dalton. Pews were marked with pink satin bows.

Mrs. Mabel Prather offered a program of nuptial music preceding the wedding ceremony.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of silk peau de esoie. A band of pearl studded lace extended from the neckline accenting the front of the controlled skirt. The windswept train of pink silk organza edged in pink Chantilly lace cascaded down the sides and encircled the hemline that fell from the matching French bow which added a beautiful detail. A double silk peau de soie and pink satin headpiece secured her bouffant veil of pink nylon bridal illusion of fingertip length. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of pink sweetheart roses, white carnations and pink baby breath overlay. The bouquet was completed with pink and white satin bridal streamers.

Mrs. Terry Kline, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor, and Miss Kathy Bellar, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. They wore Persian pink empire gowns with ruffled neckline and cuffs. Each wore a pink picture hat trimmed with lace-edged tiers of pink Chantilly lace and finished with a small corsage. Each carried a nosegay of pink daisies, white carnations, cornflowers and pink and white streamers.

Miss Leah Ann Wyckoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wyckoff, served as the flower girl. She wore a floor-length miniature version of the gowns woren by the attendants. Her hairpiece was a small corsage with satin pink and white streamers and she carried a pink lace flower basket of petals.

Gary Dalton of Columbus, served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Terry Kline, and Jim Dalton, cousin of the groom.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES DALTON

Mrs. Bellar chose for her daughter's wedding a formal length gown of pink doubleknit with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweet-heart roses.

Mrs. Dalton, mother of the groom, wore a formal length gown of nile green chiffon over matching taffeta and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

A reception took place at the Junior Fair Building. The bride's table held a three tier wedding cake topped with two doves and roses separated by white columns. The base of the cake was encircled with leather leaf and roses. Silver candelabra and pink tapers completed the setting.

A floral center piece centered the buffet table. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Robert White and Miss Tanya Johnson. Miss Mary Ann Kemper presided at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip, the new Mr. and Mrs. Dalton are residing in their new home at Rt. 2, Lake Logan Rd., Logan.

The bride, a graduate of Washington Senior High School and Steele Data Processing (now National Scanning Service), is employed by the Metalbestos Systems as a junior buyer.

Her husband, a graduate of Logan High School and attended Marietta College and Ohio University, is employed as a supervisor at the Logan Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party was held at the Java House, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dalton as the hosts.

Miss Aills' wedding plans are complete

Miss Jeri Sue Aills has announced final plans for her marriage to Danny Bogard. The open church wedding will be an event of 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the House of Prayer with the Rev. Glenn Williams officiating.

Miss Elaine Stookey, pianist, Mrs. Irene Smith, organist, and Mrs. Shirley Slavens, vocalist, will present the music.

Miss Aills has asked her sister, Miss Teri Lynn Aills to be maid of honor, and Miss Debbie Bogard to be bridesmaid. Jodie Pratt will be the flower girl and Lori Butcher and Robbie Pratt the Bible bearers.

Robert Pratt will serve as best man. Seating the wedding guests will be Gary Aills, Phillip Burdge, Kenneth Shingler, Merrill Butcher and Mark Aills, the junior usher.

Hostesses for the reception to follow in the church dining hall will be Mrs. Belinda Pratt, Mrs. Patty Shingler, Miss Eileen Harper, Mrs. Pearl Provost, Mrs. Meade Butcher and Mrs. Jenny Thornton.

Miss Aills is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Aills, 724 Carolyn Rd. Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Bogard, 816 E. Paint St. are the parents of the prospective groom.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Music Row. The name evokes a bucolic boulevard of country balladiers, tobacco-chewing tunesmiths, good ol' boys who came here barefoot, with no other visible means of support than a dream, and who currently drive Cadillacs.

Now Music Row, 1974, encompasses about five blocks. It's still down-home, still tree-lined, but its music and loot therefrom no longer is pure country. It's also pop, soul and jingles.

Jingles? Yeah, those 30-and 60-second radio or TV ditties that urge you to fly United, drink Miller beer, shave with Gillette and hopefully keep on truckin' in a GMC model. All were recorded here.

And though Nashville's jungle works still is small by New York or Los Angeles standards, it's growing. One union official claims work here is up "at least 100 per cent from three years ago."

He's Paul Wilder, secretary of the local American Federation of Radio and Television Artists — AFTRA — office.

Wilder, a lean, tanned man, says when he joined the local eight years ago it only had 43 members. Now it has 600, he says, and 50 per cent of them regularly announce on or sing in jingles here.

He partly attributes the growth to a local fee, set in 1970, that was so rock-bottom "we almoft gave it away. But it's also due to the wealth of talent we have, the 'sound' they get.

"Our problem was, how do you get major ad agencies to at least come see what we have here? And the answer was the local rate."

He said it only applies to commercials aired here. The far higher rate for commercials destined for national or major market broadcast is the same as in Los Angeles and New York.

"But at least it got our foot in the door," he said.

The American Federation of Musicians local, which claims 2,300 members, says at least 500 to 600 of them regularly do jingle dates under a local and national fee plan similar to that of AFTRA.

It estimates the city has 50 jingle production firms, but Music Row veterans say only about four or five of these get most of the nationally or regionally aired jingle trade.

Show biz honors 'Blonde Bombshell'

NEW YORK (AP) — Show biz gave one of its inside "loveins" for a beloved old-timer, the housekeeper-cook of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic rectory in Portsmouth, R.I.

And the housekeeper-cook— onetime Hollywood "Blonde Bombshell" Betty Hutton— kissed show biz friends Monday night and told them she loved them all, then vowed to go back to Portsmouth and her housekeeping duties as soon as possible.

"I'll never leave that place," she said in a glare of spotlights at the Empire State Building's Riverboat Restaurant in white chiffon, feathers and a warm glow from all the kisses of other old-timers.

"I've been offered open-end contracts," she added. "But this is going to be my life."

Told that the Rev. Peter McGuire, who befriended her six months ago, had described her as a marvelous and inventive cook and expressed the hope she would continue in her job at the rectory, Betty said she had no idea of leaving.

"I've found something I can do well, and I intend to keep on doing it," she said. "I have a townful of people who love me. We go boating, we have a wonderful time. It's marvelous."

But when George Jessel came up and started talking about old times, he left Betty practically in tears. And when Eddie Bracken called from Hollywood, and she took the call onstage, the voice that said "Oh, I'm proud to hear from you" was the voice of the Betty Hutton who bounced through a dozen Hollywood musicals and became the pin-up girl of thousands of World War II GIs.

She told Bracken, "When you stopped making movies with me, things went down the tube."

Things had gone far down the tube for Betty Hutton when she ran into Father McGuire and, "broken, down and out, without a dime to my name," she accepted his offer of a job in the rectory.

House approves bill to increase veterans' benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to provide funds for 15 to 18 per cent cost-of-living increases in benefits to some 2.2 million disabled veterans.

The $179-million bill, adopted unanimously Monday, also would appropriate funds for a new program to put Veterans Administration representatives on all college campuses where there are 500 or more veterans enrolled under the GI Bill.

The bulk of the money appropriated to the VA, $100 million, would go to pay for the cost-of-living benefit hikes, to be retroactive to May 1. VA officials estimate the retroactive increases will amount to an average payment of $36 to each disabled veteran.

Ella Doss named to state panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan has appointed Ella Doss of Cleveland, a past president of the Ohio Association for Teachers of the Retarded, to a vacancy on the state Mental Health and Mental Retardation Advisory Council.

Mrs. Doss was named Monday to succeed Rodney M. Love, who resigned.

The first use of lenses to form a telescope is attributed to Roger Bacon of England, who died in 1292.

Woman hurt in city crash

A Fayette County woman has been admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital following injuries suffered in an accident at 6:52 p.m. Tuesday.

Karen Lynn Wheeler, 25, of 1062 Lewis Rd., had been driving west on Circle Avenue when she went off the right side of the road and struck a tree, just past the Main Street intersection.

Hospital officials stated her injuries amounted to a right hip and leg injury, a possible head injury and a lacerated chin. She was taken to the hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, but her present condition was not known.

Police, who are investigating the accident, stated no attempt to stop was made by Ms. Wheeler and her car was demolished.

City police were summoned to the scene of four other accidents Tuesday.

3:49 p.m. — A van driven by Robert E. Blackmore, 38, of 6358 Snowhill Rd., struck an illegally parked car owned by Carolyn J. Mallow, 33, of 1116 Washington Ave. Her car had been parked on E. Market St., in front of the Post Office, but not within the lane markings. Damage was slight to both vehicles.

3 p.m. — A rear-end collison resulted on Willard Street, near Washington Senior High School, due to wet pavement.

A car driven by Dorothy Ann Smith, 39, Sabina, struck a car driven by Linda S. Varney, 16, of 2366 Palmer Rd., doing slight damage to both vehicles. Ms. Smith was charged by police with not maintaining an assured clear distance ahead.

11:12 a.m. — A car driven by Gertrude M. Butler, 54, of 711 S. Main St., backed into a car driven by Elda S. Blessing, 73, Cincinnati, on Main Street, near the Court Street intersection.

Ms. Butler was cited by police for backing without safety. The Butler auto was slightly damaged and the Blessing car, moderately damaged.

8:37 a.m. — A car driven by Nancy D. Hodge, 17, Jeffersonville, pulled from a parking space on East Street and struck a vehicle driven by John H. Coker, 24, Louisville, Ky., while the Coker vehicle was slowing for a red light at the intersection of Main and East streets.

Damage was slight to the Hodge car and moderate to the Coker vehicle.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated an accident at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Prater was charged by investigating deputy Robert Russell, with driving while intoxicated and reckless operation.

He was reported as showing visible signs of injury, but was not treated. Prater's car was moderately damaged.

A minor accident occurred at 12:53 p.m. Tuesday, in the Mac Tool parking lot, S. Fayette St., between cars driven by Tony W. Redman, 17, of 236 Bell Ave., and George E. Salyers, 36, Rt. 2, Sheriff's Sgt. John L. Emrick reported.

Homemakers contest set here Thursday

Members of the 4-H and Future Homemakers of America clubs will demonstrate their skills in a preliminary homemaking contest at the Dayton Power and Light Co. auditorium Thursday.

Finalist from the preliminary contest will present their demonstrations at the county fair the last full week in July.

Fourteen girls will compete in the junior division competition which begins at 9:30 a.m. The girls, ages 9-12, will cover topics ranging from sewing on a button to altering a pattern.

The senior division competition will begin at 1 p.m. and will include girls from 13 through 18 years of age. Their demonstrations will cover a variety of topics, including bread-making and wood refinishing.

Demonstrations and illustrated talks play an important part in 4-H and FHA activities. Many parents, advisors and members feel that demonstrations are the best way to teach project work. Contestants gain poise and confidence by appearing as a group.

The public is invited to attend.

Realtors hear 4 candidates

Four political candidates were guest speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Fayette County Board of Realtors Monday at the Terrace Lounge.

Appearing at the meeting were Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, of Washington C.H., and Robert McEwen, both candidates for a seat in the Ohio House of Representatives this autumn; and Robert J. Mace and J.W. (Boots) Sears, county commissioner candidates.

Each candidate gave a few remarks and also responded to questions from the group.

No surplus for state, officials say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gilligan Administration officials are sticking by claims there will be no major budget surplus at the end of the fiscal year June 30.

Budget and Management Director John B. Olsen said Tuesday he sees "no reason" to change his earlier forecast of no surplus, based on figures supplied him by the revenue-collecting Department of Taxation.

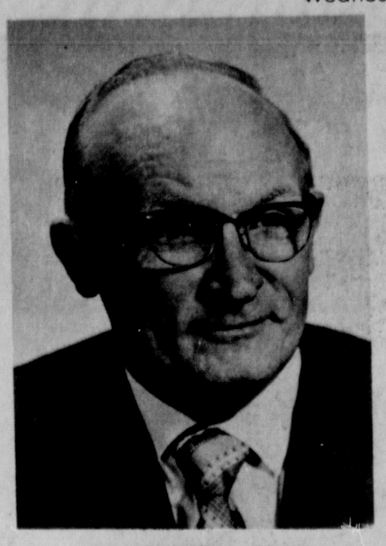
Tax Commissioner Robert J. Kosydar, who heads that department, is on vacation, but an aide said June 6 predictions still stand — a $34.6 million short fall for the month of June, and $15.9 million short of estimates for the fiscal year.

Stan Spaulding, chief of communications for the department, said final figures for the fiscal year won't be available for "three or four working days" after the first of the month.

With the July 4 holiday involved, they may not be available until July 8, he added.

That's the day for the next meeting of a Senate-House conference committee seeking to work out differences on a supplemental appropriations bill.

Republicans on the six-member panel maintain the state will wind up the fiscal year with $74 million or more in extra cash, and at least one key Democrat — interested in more money for education — is listening closely.



MILBOURNE L. FLEE

Flee appointed acting manager of plant here

Robert Hall, president of the Visador Co., today announced that Milbourne L. (Pete) Flee has been named acting manager of the Coffman Stair Co. operation in Washington C.H. following the resignation of Carl Garrett.

Garrett had served as general manager of the both the Washington C.H. and Logan operations of the Coffman Stair Co. since 1967. Hall said Garrett's resignation was accepted with regret.

Flee, 913 Briar Ave., previously served as office manager at the Coffman Stair Co. operation here. He is a member of the Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees and a former member of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, serving as the board's president twice.

The Coffman Stair Co. is the Ohio Division of the Visador Co., of Jasper, Tex. The sales and administration office is located at 306 Highland Avenue, along with the window grille production. The window grille plant has 42 employes on the payroll.

Tom Rambo is the window grille production manager. Hall said Burnice Davis has been appointed as acting manager of the Logan operation. Stair parts are produced at Logan with 260 employes on the payroll.

Permit transfer sought by Kroger

The Kroger Co. has filed an application with the Ohio Department of Liquor Control to transfer its C-2 liquor permit from the Main Street location of its present location to the Clinton Avenue address of its new building.

The store wants to continue to sell high-powered beer and wine for carry-out as it does presently.

One jailed, 3 acquitted in Municipal Court cases

A Springfield man was sentenced to 30 days in jail and three other persons were found not guilty of the charges levied against them in Municipal Court hearings Tuesday.

Charles W. Townsend, 49, of Springfield, pleaded guilty to the third of three charges filed against him by city police as a result of a scuffle with Police Specialist William Robinson on June 18. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for assaulting the police officer.

The officer had been summoned to the Court House Cab Co., following an argument between Townsend and a cab driver. Townsend threatened the cab dispatcher in Robinson's presence and was told that he was under arrest. He then refused to enter the cruiser and began fighting with Robinson.

Charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest were heard last week. Townsend had been fined $300 and sentenced to 30 days in jail on those charges.

NOT GUILTY verdicts were delivered by acting Judge John P. Case in three cases which had been filed on private warrants.

After hearing from a number of witnesses and weighing all the testimony, acting Judge John P. Case found that charges of disorderly conduct and assault filed against Cynthia A. Collie, 22, of 1022 John St., had not been proven beyond a reasonable doubt. He found the defendant not guilty and dismissed the case, ordering the defendant to pay the court costs.

Glenna Haithcock, 19, of 610 McLean St., Mrs. Collie's sister, had been charged with disorderly conduct in connection with the same incident. She too was found not guilty and the case was dismissed at her cost.

The two had allegedly gone to the home of an area resident and created a disturbance, but courtroom testimony did not clearly indicate that responsibility for the disturbance rested with the defendants.

A charge of assault filed against Jacquelyn L. King, 28, of 112 E. Paint St., was dismissed and the defendant was ordered to pay the court costs after she was found not quilty.

David A. Frye, 32, of the Washington Hotel, forfeited $100 bond on a charge of intoxication.

A $25-million convention center under construction in Kansas City will more than double the city's current $30-million annual convention business volume by 1976, says Mayor Charles Wheeler.

Officers check heart attack victim; stolen car recovery

A Washington C.H. man suffered an apparent heart attack and was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital, city police reported today.

Homer Morrow, 78, of 414 E. Market St., was taken to the hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, after complaining of chest pains Tuesday.

His condition was not immediately known.

Police also reported the recovery of a stolen car belonging to Daniel Armbrust, Wagner Court.

The car was taken from the front of his residence where it had been parked sometime between Saturday and 5 p.m. Tuesday. It was recovered by Police Sgt. Charles Long, one block away, at the end of Colonial Court at 1:24 a.m. Wednesday.

No damage had been done to the auto.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an attempted gasoline theft and a successful tool theft.

A padlock on a gas tank owned by Edna Hahn, 15334 Robinson Rd., was broken off sometime between 6 p.m. Sunday and 3:20 p.m. Tuesday, but no gasoline was taken.

Thieves did abscound with a set of wrenches valued at $35, which were in a tool box sitting on a tractor parked in the Hahn barn. Investigation is continuing.

Donald Nixon claims harassment

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — F. Donald Nixon, brother of the President, says the Watergate affair and "harassment" by Senate investigators have damaged his health and left him nearly broke.

Breaking a long, self-imposed silence, he said the family was standing firm against those who were trying "to bury" the President.

Nixon, 59, made his remarks in an interview with the Los Angeles Times published Wednesday.

He spoke critically of leaks from congressional committees and said the leaks had made Watergate reporting "all onesided."

Nixon attributed the Watergate break-in to "political amateurism" and said it might not have occurred but for a "protective wall" set up around the President by top White House aides.

He also said he had asked the Secret Service to undertake surveillance of his family but had not been told when the agency began a tap of his phone.

Nixon said the President could not telephone him without creating problems. He revealed a handwritten letter from the President on White House stationery which said that a call during current investigations "would raise unfounded but inevitable questions and implications.

"I want you to know that I am enormously proud the way all of the Nixon family have stood up with such dignity through a vicious ordeal," the President wrote in the June 8 letter. "You have our respect and our love."

The President's younger brother said adverse publicity about the Nixon family had affected his work, which involved sales. He said he had been forced to quit a consulting job with a food processing firm last January and had taken early retirement as vice president of a worldwide hotel and restaurant concern.

"Real frankly, for the last full year, I could not be very effective," he said. He said his income, which was $140,000 in 1973, had dipped to a projected $36,000 this year.

He said his home is heavily mortgaged and he has accrued thousands of dollars of debts, including legal fees, to defend himself. Senate investigators last April tried to link the $100,000 campaign contribution entrusted to C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo to a purchase of 10,000 shares of stock by Nixon in a firm that builds modular homes.

Principals meet held in Columbus

Principal Curtis E. Fleisher, of Miami Trace High School is attending the annual summer conference of the Ohio Association of Secondary School Principals in Columbus. The meeting is being held on the Ohio State University campus June 24-26.

The program features Dr. Bruce Cooper, University of Pennsylvania, with a keynote address on "Alternatives to Secondary Education". Later sessions covered new concepts in career education, junior high and middle school alternatives and a report from the National Commission on Reform of Secondary Education.

Arnold R. Pinkney, president of the Cleveland Board of Education, addressed the banquet session on "Public School Problems and Solutions." In the closing session Glenn A. Olds, president of Kent State University, will discuss, "Trends in Secondary School Education."

Approximately 150 secondary school principals and assistants are attending the annual in-service refresher training sessions. Richard Vale, principal of Ford Junior High School, Berea, was installed as the OASSP President for 1974-75.

Slow down drugs given too freely?

CHICAGO (AP) — About twice as many children are being given drugs for hyperactivity as should be, says an Ohio researcher.

He says the drugs are administered for the benefit of teachers and parents who simply want to control unruly children.

The researcher, Dr. Herbert E. Rie, told said Tuesday at the American Medical Association's annual meeting children who have not been thoroughly examined are being labeled hyperactive.

The diagnosis, and prescription of drugs, is being made on the basis of parents' and teachers' reports and superficial examination, he claimed.

Rie, professor of pediatrics and psychology at Ohio State University, told newsmen later that about 4 per cent of children are deemed hyperactive, while probably only 2 per cent actually are, based on thorough neurological and psychological examinations.

A child's agitated behavior may grow out of environmental and not neurological conditions, he said.

"It is my impression that the physician often relies upon parental or school complaints as the primary basis for his diagnosis of hyperactivity," Rie said. "Kids whom people don't tolerate for many reasons are given this label.".

Stimulant medications, which have the effect of making children more tranquil, have been considered to make children more attentive and thereby enable them to learn more.

But Rie said just because they're quiet doesn't mean they're learning any more. Studies at Ohio State have shown learning is not increased, he added.

Rie said that paradoxically, underachieving children who are disruptive receive attention and special help, but after they are drugged into submission they are ignored because they are quiet.

He said hyperactivity may camouflage a child's other problems and treating this behavior alone may be inadequate. He said children should be evaluated for learning difficulties or emotional problems so that these problems might be treated if they are the cause of the child's difficulties.

Rip Rhodes financial reporting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eugene P. O'Grady, campaign manager for Democratic Gov. John Gilligan, said Tuesday the campaign financial reports filed by Republican gubernatorial candidate James A. Rhodes were "mind-boggling."

O'Grady said in a statement the reports filed by the former governor's two campaign committees were "an outrageous circumvention of the spirit of campaign financing reform."

"Today, the people want to know where a candidate gets his money and they have a right to such information and he (Rhodes) is just thumbing his nose at them," he said.

O'Grady said he was "absolutely aghast" at the Rhodes filing which listed $158,864 as blanket income from ticket sales under $25.

"At $25 a ticket, that's more than 6,300 undisclosed contributors," he said.

"That listing and the transfer of funds and loans and employes' salaries between the two fund-raising committees makes the report mind-boggling," he said.

New officers installed

Sagar 'Lion of the Year'

Gene Sagar, 116 Gardner Court, was named "Lion of the Year" during the regular semi-monthly dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Lions Club Tuesday night in the Country Club.

The selection of Sagar for the coveted award highlighted the meeting, in which new officers and directors for the 1974-75 year were officially installed and a number of other awards were doled out.

SAGAR, a past president of the Washington C.H. Lions Club, was named the winner of the award because of the humorous entertainment and frivolity he constantly provides at each meeting in serving in the capacity of the club's tail twister. He was named as the top tail twister in the district this year.

It was the second presentation of the award. John Breiner, a privileged member of the club, won the first "Lion of the Year" award in 1971-1972. Serving of the selection committee for the award were James Polk, George W. (Bud) Naylor, Bart Mahoney and Wesley Cox.

Lion District Governor Richard W. Turner, of Gallipolis, served as the installing officer. Turner explained the duties of each office to the individual officers. The new officers will take over in July.

Ralph Cook succeeds David Looker as club president. Other officers are Richard W. Coates, first vice president; Jesse L. Persinger Jr., second vice president; Naylor, third vice president; Sagar, tail twister; Benjamin J. Roby, secretary; William Lucas, assistant secretary; Polk, treasurer; Harold H. Thompson, assistant treasurer, and David Boswell, Lion tamer.

Looker, as immediate past president, automatically becomes a member of the board of directors. Other directors are Paul V. Johnson, Howard W. McDonald, Larry Lehman and Cox.

Cook took over the gavel from Looker during routine ceremonies. The new club president announced that only one regular meeting would be held in July. Club members will be selling harness race, demolition derby and tractor pull programs at the Fayette County Fair, Cook said. In the past, the Lions have sold only harness race programs at the Fair. He also said only one meeting would be held in August since a stag party would be held during that month at Rocky Fork Lake. Cook also said the light bulb sale would be held in September.

The new president presented Looker with a past president's pin and an engraved gold plaque with a mounted gavel and a portable AM-FM radio.

Looker presented pins to Cox, the club's retiring secretary, and Wiley Witherspoon, the retiring treasurer. He also presented certificates to seven special project chairmen. Receiving the awards were Coates and Cox, co-chairmen of the race program project; Witherspoon, chairman of the light bulb sales project; Johnson and Lehman, co-chairmen of the annual variety show; Clarence Hackett, chairman of the gum ball machine project, and R. B. (Bud) Tharp, club bulletin editor.

COX PRESENTED chevrons to nine members, marking their long memberships in the club. They were Coates, 10 years; Bart Mahoney, 15 years; Richard R. Willis, 20 years; Breiner, 25 years; Andrew Loudner, 35 years, and J. Roush Burton, Fred Enslen, L.F. (Skeet) Everhart and Tharp, all 40 years.

The 79 members attending the meeting also learned that membership fees are due in July. Members were also urged to assist in completing the Babe Ruth League ticket drive. The Lions Club contributed $500 toward the support of the youth baseball program this year.

Club member Elmer Reed presented slides of the club's annual variety show held in April.

City Council to consider 2 pieces of legislation

Two pieces of legislation appear on the agenda for members of Washington C. H. City Council at their regular semi-monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford said Council members will place on second reading an ordinance to accept the application for the annexation of an 0.94-acre tract of land in Union Township into Washington C. H.

A RESOLUTION confirming the appointment of Dana Hyer to the Washington C. H. Zoning Board of Appeals to fill the unexpired term of Carl Elberfeld will also be considered by Council members.

Wolford said the city has received two notices of application dealing with liquor permits which will be reviewed by Council Wednesday night.

The Kroger Co., 548 Clinton Ave., has applied for the transfer of a C-2 liquor permit, and Washington Beverage Centers, Inc., doing business as the Sagar Dairy Depot, 1302 Washington Ave., has submitted an application for a new C-2 permit.

McGuire-McGuire marriage brings reception confusion

ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — After Marianne McGuire weds July 6 she won't have to worry about changing the name on her credit cards or driver's license, and it's not because of a breakthrough on the women's liberation front.

Marianne, 22, is marrying another McGuire, Roger.

Last name introductions shouldn't present a problem for family and friends at the marriage and a banquet to follow, but first name introductions will be something else.

Ten of the 15 persons in the bridal party are named McGuire, and the invited guest list is one McGuire after another.

James E. McGuire and his wife, Rosemary, parents of Marianne, have seven children. James R. McGuire and his wife, Margaret Mary, parents of Roger, have six children.

In addition, there are several duplications of first names across both families.

Roger's brother Kevin and Marianne's brother Kevin are both 19 and members of the bridal party. Roger has a sister who has the same name as his bride, and his bride has a sister with the same name as Roger's mother.

Confusing?

"When you begin to get into nieces and nephews, it really gets ridiculous," said James E. McGuire.

He said he enjoyed a few chuckles over mailing wedding invitations which read: "James E. McGuire and James R. McGuire request your presence at the marriage of their children, Marianne Therese and Roger Stephen ...."

"I'm sure a lot of people thought it was a misprint," he said.

And as for his future son-in-law, McGuire says, "What more can you want? He's of good moral fiber, good character and —he has a good name."

Friday deadline slated for OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Applications for fall quarter freshman and sophomore classes at Ohio State University Columbus campus will not be accepted after Friday, administrators have announced.

OSU President Harold L. Enarson, said Monday the university had planned to accept only 7,500 new freshmen. He said as of June 21, 11,825 applications were on file.

Said Enarson: "We operate under a state statute limiting our enrollment, and it would be unfair to our students to admit more persons than our resources will allow us to provide with a quality program of instruction."

Lion gets loose at Kings Island

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— Kings Island officials theorize a lion that escaped from the first of two restraining compounds Tuesday night may have leaped on a monorail track and "tightroped" its way along the track to a degree of freedom.

The lion presented no threat to visitors at the amusement park, officials said.

The animal was detected before it could find a way out of the outer fence built to foil such escapes.

The lion is part of the park's Lion Country Safari.

Crosby new president

Grover turns over gavel during Rotary Club meet

Washington C.H. Rotary Club president Phil Grover officially turned the gavel over to Paul Crosby during the club's regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

The installation of Crosby as the new Rotary Club president highlighted a number of traditional routines staged by club members during the meeting.

Grover reviewed the club's year of activities and compared goals he established when installed as president last July with what was actually accomplished during the year.

The retiring club president said in a considerable number of cases he felt the club reached its goals, but he also mentioned some which could have been improved.

Grover expressed his appreciation to club members for their cooperation throughout the year. He singled out members of the board of directors and presented each of them with key chains with the Rotary emblem. He also thanked Mrs. Ralph Yerian, the club pianist, and Elton Rhoad, who opens each meeting with a thought for the day.

THE RETIRING club president presented Crosby with a fancy timer so that he will know when to close the meetings and a ball point pen set for his assistance as vice president.

Fred L. Domenico, the 1973-74 immediate past president, presented a plaque and engraved gavel to Grover.

Other club officers are Bill Williams, vice president; Dr. George Pommert, secretary; Jack Alkire, treasurer; Ronald Ratliff, Gingersnap editor; David Ogan, assistant Gingersnap editor, and James Hanawalt, sergeant-at-arms. Grover will continue to serve on the board as immediate past president.

Following tradition, Judge Rollo M. Marchant gave the charge to nine new club members. During the ceremony Judge Marchant paid a special tribute to the late Ray Maddux, who devised the charge a number of years ago while he was a member of the club.

New members this year are Dwight Morner, Phil Mosley, Glenn McCoy, James Dunn, Jack Cartwright, Steve Yambor, Glenn Hemsworth, the Rev. Mark Dove and Robert Simpson.

Visiting Rotarians were Don Goodwin, president of the Blanchester Rotary Club, Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Ottie Hockman, Gene Garrison and George Gerhardt, all of Mount Sterling.

CHANGING OF THE GUARD — Paul Crosby, left, accepts the gavel from retiring Washington C.H. Rotary Club president Phil Grover during ceremonies held at the club's regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club. Crosby, who served as the club's vice president during the past year, was elevated to the presidency during the meeting. Grover will continue to serve on the Rotary Club's board of directors as immediate past president.

Escapee nabbed for 2nd time

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old prisoner at the Cincinnati Community Corrections Institute faces new charges after escaping from custody twice in 12 hours.

Police said Chalmer Jones escaped the workhouse bakery Monday night, but was captured quickly along Interstate 75.

Shortly after appearing before court Tuesday morning, he escaped again. He was apprehended two blocks away.

Kissinger to meet with Pope Paul VI

ROME (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger probably will meet with Pope Paul VI during a two-day visit to Italy beginning July 5, the foreign ministry has announced. The announcement was made Tuesday. Officials said Kissinger was making the visit to Italy at the request of Italian Foreign Minister Aldo Moro.

County CAC receives summer program grant

COLUMBUS—Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan today announced the award of $48,586 in federal manpower revenue sharing funds to the Fayette County Community Action Commission for summer youth program.

The grant is one of the first to be awarded under the recently enacted Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA).

The funds will provide salaries for disadvantaged youth ages 14-22 participating in work experience programs as well as funds for work-related services such as medical examinations, transportation to work sites and counseling. The Community Action Commission will operate programs in Fayette County.

The grant is one of 27 grants totaling more than $3.4 million which will provide summer youth programs in 62 "balance-of-state" counties in Ohio.

Under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, units of government or combinations of units of government may become "prime sponsors" and request manpower revenue sharing funds. Units of government choosing not to become "prime sponsors" are part of the "balance-of-state" area with the state as the "prime sponsor." The state then contracts with the areas to deliver manpower services. There are 64 counties in the "balance-of-state."

The grants for summer youth programs represent at least 95 per cent of the amount of funds counties received last summer for youth programs. The amount of the grant was determined under a formula devised by the Manpower Development Division of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Celina power plant set for experiment

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A municipal power plant in Celina apparently will be the site of a federal government experiment with a pollution-free method of burning high-sulfur coal, the first such project ever conducted outside of Russia.

The technique, called magneto hydrodynamics, reportedly would eliminate sulfur dioxide emissions, the target of stricter anti-pollution standards for utilities.

The Celina plant has been deactivated because the use of low-sulfur coal to generate electricity has become uneconomical, according to Gerrold Degler, senior engineer at Dayton's Systems Research Laboratories, one of several firms planning to bid for the contract for the pilot project.

Degler said only a small five-megawatt system is planned at Celina. It would be merely experimental and not put into actual use, he explained.

"The objective would be to optimize all the various components in MHD generation and prove how they work together as an integrated system," he said.

Degler said it probably will be another 10 years before the system is put to widespread commercial use.

Systems Research has been developing the magneto hydrodynamics power generation technique for five years under a contract with the air propulsion laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, according to Degler.

He said the system increases power emissions by 50 per cent for every ton of coal burned.

An element such as potassium is injected to make combustion gases electrically conductive, he said. The potassium combines with the sulfur as potassium sulfate and precipitates out, he explained.

Then they are separated and the potassium can be recycled and the sulfur sold.

Degler said this project is just the first step in a national development program for the technique. Next will come a 50-megawatt pilot plant and then a 300-megawatt demonstration plant, he said.

Degler predicted that the federal government will spend up to $300 million on the program in the next decade.

He said the Interior Department's Office of Coal Research is expected to call for bids on the five-megawatt project in the next couple of months.

Sandusky man faces sentence for murder

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Roy Smith, 27, of Sandusky, was convicted of second-degree murder Tuesday and sentenced to serve 15 years to life in prison.

An Erie County jury found Smith guilty of the January 1973 shooting death of David Bales, 35, a Bloomington, Ind., photographer, at a Sandusky shopping center parking lot.

Jury indictment waived by woman

A former office employe of the Buckeye Mart Store in the Washington Square Shopping Center has waived her right to indictment by the grand jury and has consented to prosecution on a bill of information on a charge of embezzlement.

Dianne Jackson, 25, of 624 Gibbs Ave., waived indictment in a hearing in Fayette County Common Pleas Court in concurrance with her attorney, Robert Renshaw, of Springfield.

She is charged with embezzling money, merchandise and money orders from the Buckeye Mart Store during her employment.

Columbus man sues WFL Chicago team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Byron C. McCane of Columbus filed a $12 million damage suit in federal court against the Chicago Fire of the World Football League, claiming his reputation was injured when the team canceled his contract.

McCane said he agreed early this year to a $10,500 annual contract to play for the team and expected to report to training camp this month. But the team notified him in May, McCane said, that his contract had been canceled.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, JUNE 27

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Planetary influences only mildly auspicious. Pursue a cautious but flexible course. View things in their true perspective — not as you would like them to be.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Don't overtax yourself now. No matter how busy, MAKE some time for a quiet review of your present status. A new appraisal needed.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Make the most of any good ideas you have and, if need be, enlist the help of others in putting them across. Favorable Mercury influences!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Brace yourself for some opposition. Prepared, you can cope with it more easily, even outwit it.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Adjustments, revisions, unexpected situations will be the order of the day. Take all in stride and channel energies judicially. Some news from afar in the p.m.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Personal matters may trouble you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Expect some obstacles, even setbacks, as you aim toward cherished goals. Consistent effort eventually makes its own "breaks." If calm, you can handle unexpected situations astutely.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Be careful of the way in which you make your moves, whom you include in your plans — and confidences. Wrong decisions could snarl your success pattern.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Not all that transpires will please you, but some of the situations you don't like will actually prove fortunate in the long run. So-o-o? Adapt!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Step lightly with measured gait. There may be a few delicate spots, perhaps a detour you can take. Just don't blindly crash through ANY situation.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Many problems which have been bothering you may be resolved now. Good deeds of the past may also pay off. It should be a very happy day.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Direct your enthusiasm for worthy causes into progressive channels. You may have to revise previous plans, however. Especially favored now: travel, outdoor interests.

YOU BORN TODAY are conservative, philosophical and extremely practical, with a deep respect for tradition, heritage and culture. Despite a strong leaning toward the scientific, you are also interested in music and art — and may take up either as an avocation. You are a born homebody but must learn to curb over-possessiveness with those near and dear to you. You are outstandingly articulate in speech and could make a good go of politics, statesmanship or diplomacy. Writing would also be an excellent outlet for your talents. Other fields in which you could succeed: teaching, medicine, archeology. Try to bolster your self-confidence. A tendency to doubt your abilities could prove a hindrance to success.

Tangled custody fight continues

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Three boys at the center of a two-state struggle for custody by their parents have been surrendered to Florida after officials agreed not to prosecute their father for child stealing.

John S. Slater, 33, of Oakley, Ohio, near Cincinnati, turned over his three sons, ages 8, 10, and 11, Monday to the Leon County Juvenile Court which placed them in the county's emergency shelter pending a custody hearing July 15.

The youngsters are the subject of a dispute between Slater and his first wife, Judith Ann Slater Holland, 28, of Tallahassee.

Florida law prohibits publication of the children's names.

Slater and his second wife, Pauline, voluntarily brought the children to Tallahassee to turn them over to Florida authorities as part of an agreement reached in an extradition hearing in Ohio.

At Monday's hearing, Asst. State Atty. Frank Amatea said Florida would not prosecute Slater for taking the children from Mrs. Holland in Tallahassee last December.

The state had begun extradition proceedings against Slater, but dropped them when he agreed to bring the children to Tallahassee.

Under an agreement reached in an Ohio court, the children were to be placed in a neutral setting pending outcome of the dispute, and Leon County Circuit Judge James Joanos was to withdraw from the case.

But Ken Davis, Slater's Tallahassee attorney, asked Joanos Monday to stay on the case.

A settlement of the custody dispute — which has brought accusations of child stealing from both sides — is expected July 15 in the hearing before Joanos.

The three boys were living with Mrs. Holland and her husband, James W. Holland III, 26, a sophomore at Florida State University last December, when Slater drove down from Ohio and took the boys home with him.

Slater was awarded custody of their five children — four boys and a daughter — when they were divorced in 1970. He took the children to Cincinnati but allowed them to visit his ex-wife in 1971.

Slater said he didn't see the children again until May, 1973, when he found them in Florida and took them back to Cincinnati.

Slater said his former wife picked the three boys up from a Cincinnati street in Nov., 1973, and brought them to Florida on Dec. 4. Mrs. Holland was granted temporary custody of the children.

On Dec. 17 Slater came to Tallahassee, got the children and returned to Cincinnati.

The state of Florida issued a warrant for his arrest and began extradition proceedings.

Hearing scheduled on discrimination

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A hearing has been scheduled July 5 on a federal court suit claiming the right of girls to play in Cincinnati's Knothole Club baseball league.

Pauletta Ann Sprague and her mother, Sophie Hines, contend in the suit filed Monday that the 10-year-old was barred from playing because of her sex.

4 in ag hall of fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie has announced that four persons, two living and two dead, have been selected for induction in the Ohio Agriculture Hall of Fame this year.

Induction ceremonies will be held Aug. 23 at the State Fairgrounds.

The living recipients are Lewis C. Chadwick of Columbus, a retired professor of horticulture at Ohio State University, and Earl W. McMunn of Dublin, former editor of the Ohio Farmer magazine and past president of the American Agriculture Editors Association.

To be honored posthumously are John A. Davis of Hamilton, a dairy farmer who was both president and a director of the Cooperative Pure Milk Association of Cincinnati, and Douglas R. Stanfield of Westerville, who was executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation for 13 years.

Astros nipped 3-2

Slumping Reds lead win

HOUSTON (AP) — All the Cincinnati Redleg slumpers united in the Astrodome Tuesday night against the Houston Astros.

Jack Billingham hadn't won a game since May 25. Johnny Bench was 0-for-24. Cesar Geronimo was 0-11. Dan Driessen had missed five days with an injury.

So Billingham beat the Astros 3-2 in a game where Bench, Driessen and Geronimo each provided run-scoring hits in a decisive seventh inning.

A run-scoring single by Astros catcher Milt May in the fourth and Cesar Cedeno's solo homer in the ninth were the only damaging blows the Astros managed against Billingham, who increased his record to 7-6.

"I haven't had good speed most of this year," Billingham said. "It's a strange feeling never to have had an arm injury and then suddenly not be able to throw. I had a good curve in the first three or four innings and then it flattened out and dropped down."

Billingham, who suffered a tendon pull early in the season dueled Houston's Larry Dierker through 6½ innings until the Reds slumpers all broke out at once in the top of the seventh.

Geronimo led off with a homer over the rightfield fence and Joe Morgan followed with his second walk of the game. Bench then drove him home with a double and Briessen scored Bench with a single.

"I guess I felt like it was coming," said Dierker. "You go along pitching zeros with everything going just right. Then when it breaks loose it all happens at once."

Dierker, now 5-4, was going for his fourth straight victory, all close decisions.

"I can't remember when Larry has had a comfortable lead," Houston Manager Preston Gomez said. "It seems we can't get Larry any runs."

Billingham left the game in the bottom of the ninth after serving up the homer to Cedeno and a followup single to Bob Watson. Clay Carroll finished the game extending his scoreless inning streak to 12.

The wind was just right for Steve Renko. The sudden breezes that Larry Dierker felt were caused by the baseballs whizzing past him.

"Renko is a great breaking ball pitcher when the wind is blowing from right field to left as it was tonight," said Montreal Manager Gene Mauch after Renko hurled a one-hitter that gave the Expos a 5-0 victory over Philadelphia.

In Tuesday's other National League games, New York beat Chicago 5-1, San Diego defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1 and St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7.

"This has got to be my best game so far this season," understated Renko, who wound up with the third one-hitter of his six-year career in the majors. The other two came a month apart, against San Francisco and Philadelphia in 1971.

He gave up only a one-out sixth-inning single by Dave Cash, a pitch punched into right field. "He hit a curve ball," said Renko. "I jammed him with it. He didn't hit it that well."

Mets 5, Cubs 1

Jerry Koosman pitched a four-hitter and Ed Kranepool gave him the big hit he needed, a three-run homer in the third inning, to lead the Mets past the Cubs.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Dave Rader's error at the plate let San Diego's first run in the seventh inning, then Bobby Tolan singled home two more to send the Giants down to their 16th loss in 19 games.

Dodgers 2, Braves 1

Steve Garvey and Ron Cey singled home ninth-inning runs to shove Los Angeles over the Braves. The victory went to Mike Marshall, the hard-working reliever who has won the Dodgers' last four triumphs to boost his record to 8-3.

Cards 8, Pirates 7

Ken Reitz singled in the eighth inning, Mike Tyson doubled him home, then Lou Brock singled Tyson in with the winner, overcoming a four-run Pittsburgh burst in the top of the inning and pushing the Cards not only past the Pirates but past Philadelphia as well—and into first place in the East by one slim percentage point.

Old champs head Western field

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — A new course and a couple of old champions are the key attractions in the $200,000 Western Open golf tournament.

Billy Casper, 43, and Arnold Palmer, 44, are the old masters heading the 144-man field for Thursday's start of this, one of the oldest, most venerable of the tour stops.

The new course is the 7,002-yard, par-71 ultratough layout at Butler National Golf Club in the Chicago suburbs which is the pros are tackling for the first time.

It will be the permanent site for the Western, which has skipped from place to place since its inception in 1899.

"From what I've seen," Casper said after an abbreviated practice round over the wooded, hilly layout, "this is the second toughest course I've ever played."

The toughest was Winged Foot, site of the U.S. Open two weeks ago. A seven-over-par score won there. The winner was over par last week in the American Golf Classic at Akron, Ohio, and this could be the third in a row in plus-par figures.

"An over-par score very easily could win here," said Casper, a four-time Western winner and the defending champion in the 72-hole chase for the $40,000 first prize.

Perhaps the most cogent comment came from tour veteran Butch Baird after his first practice round.

"I lost four balls, my hat and my dignity," Baird said.

Palmer usually plays the tough courses very well and could find the strengths of Butler National to his advantage in his efforts to break a long, winless string. His best showing of the year was in the Masters. He challenged for the Open title at Winged Foot and had a 69, best score of the day, in the final round at Akron last week.

"That helped a little," he said. "It's getting a little better."

Ticket sales booming for WFL's premier

Buying a World Football League season ticket is a little like buying a pigskin in a poke.

But with the July 10 starting date for the new league drawing nearer, the prospect that fans will end up holding an empty bag grows less.

And as the league gains credence, it also gains sales.

The Honolulu Hawaiians say they have sold nearly 7,000 season tickets and hope to boost the figure to 12,000-15,000.

The big sales boost could be the WFL's first appearance on television.

"Fans just want to see that we're for real," said Stu Zanville, the Hawaiians' administrative director. "They want to make sure we really exist before putting out any money."

Most of the 5,000 season tickets and about 80 per cent of the 16,000 tickets sold for the Detroit Wheels' first home game has come in the past three weeks "since we announced our schedule," said Brian Rekiel, team promotion manager.

He said about 70 per cent of season tickets have been sold to companies in blocks of four.

The Chicago Fire is stoking its publicity flame even before the season gets underway, in hopes of reaching 20,000 season ticket holders to fill the 55,700-seat Soldier Field.

"We're close to leading the league in ticket sales," said owner Tom Origer, who said he has spent between $1 million and $1.25 million so far in hopes of keeping losses to around $500,000. "We've done a pretty good job of organizing all the way around, so I think we'll lose maybe only half of the $1 million most of the other clubs may lose this season."

The Houston Texans also have hired a sales force. The result has been more than 4,000 season tickets and a "super" reception, say team officials.

Larry Hatfield, president of the California Sun, reports he is "pleasantly surprised" by the 17,511 season tickets sold through June 18, while officials of the Memphis Southmen report they are pleased by the 5,000 season tickets sold in four weeks.

The Jacksonville Sharks have had to cope with some of the league's early traumas; when the Florida Blazers moved to Orlando from Virginia, the Sharks refunded money to 5,000 persons of the 18,000 who had bought tickets to see the Sharks.

Owner Fran Monaco says Sharks ticket sales have reapproached 18,000. They will play in the 70,000-seat Gator Bowl.

Meanwhile, the Blazers have sold about 1,500 season tickets so far for the 27,912-seat Tangerine Bowl.

The New York Stars have sold 9,000-10,000 season tickets to fill the 21,857-seat Downing Stadium, and Birmingham reports about 7,100 season tickets. Philadelphia and Memphis have sold about 5,000, while the Portland Storm has passed the 4,000 mark in season ticket sales.

Ken Norton tops Kirkman

SEATTLE (AP) — Ken Norton, the fifth-ranked heavyweight who had tired Boone Kirkman flat on his back at the end of the seventh round, said part of his strategy was to get the Renton, Wash., fighter early.

The first couple of rounds I just wanted to see what he was going to do—let him burn up his energy," said Norton, who was awarded an eight-round technical knockout when Kirkman was unable to answer the bell Tuesday night.

The 10th-ranked Kirkman agreed that he just ran out of steam. "I felt strong the first couple of rounds," he said, "but then the gas gave out. I might have overtrained. I just blew it."

"He wasn't fast enough," said Norton of his shorter, lighter and older opponent. "He was easy to hit. I knew I could get to him anytime."

NFL talks to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Football League owners and players meet at the bargaining table again today in an effort to get some movement in their contract talks, something they haven't been able to do since the players' union made its demands last March 16.

After a six-hour, often-heated session Tuesday, federal mediator James Scearce said he was trying to be optimistic, "but there are tremendous differences between the parties."

No compromise was reached during the meeting on any of the 63 demands made by the NFL Players Association, an indication there will be a strike next Monday.

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining agent, said: "We're still optimistic that we can avoid trouble before it really counts—and that's early in July."

The San Diego Chargers open their training camp July 3, first of the 26 NFL teams to call their players together. The first game scheduled is the July 26 nationally televised exhibition between the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins and the College All-Stars in Chicago.

Tuesday's meeting between the two parties was the first since talks broke down June 13 in New York and was called by Scearce. Another is scheduled for Thursday. The mediator said he would like to keep the two sides together through the weekend if there is any hope for resolution.

Thompson said the owners brought to Tuesday's meeting several new offers in the areas of insurance and pensions.

Bill Curry of Houston, union president, described the offers as "a 50 per cent decrease from what we got in 1970," considering inflation and other economic factors.

There was no discussion of the so-called "freedom issues," including the reserve and option clauses, the crux of the 63 items the union has demanded of management, although there were indications they might come up today.

Cuellar banished in Orioles' loss

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Like American League batters, umpire Russ Goetz had trouble handling Oriole pitcher Mike Cuellar. But unlike the hitters, Goetz knocked him out of a game.

It wasn't easy.

Cuellar, the screwball-throwing lefthander, was gunning for his 10th straight victory when he ran into his own wildness and then the long arm of the law.

Cuellar walked Jim Northrup to force in Detroit's second run in the third inning. Only Cuellar didn't see it the same way home plate umpire Goetz did.

"I told him he couldn't see nothing," said Cuellar.

Goetz told Cuellar he couldn't see the game anymore—at least as an active participant. He booted Cuellar out of the game.

Or so he thought.

The next inning, the banished Cuellar still hadn't vanished. He came out to pitch. It seems his manager, Earl Weaver— also tossed out of the game— wasn't willing to give Cuellar the night off.

As it turned out, the Tigers' Mickey Lolich gave all the Orioles the night off. The durable Detroit left-hander struck out nine and limited the Orioles to seven hits in pitching his 11th straight complete game, a 2-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Texas Rangers dropped the Minnesota Twins 7-3; the Chicago White Sox outlasted the Kansas City Royals 10-9 in 12 innings, and the Oakland A's whipped the California Angels 6-1. The Cleveland Indians-New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Brewers-Boston Red Sox games were rained out.

After Goetz threatened to forfeit the game when Weaver sent Cuellar back out to pitch, Goetz and the third base umpire finally convinced Cuellar to leave.

Rangers 7, Twins 3

Rookie Mike Hargrove singled home the go-ahead run in the fourth inning and doubled home another in a three-run sixth to give Ferguson Jenkins and Texas a victory.

White Sox 10, Royals 9, 12 innings

Bill Melton slugged a home run in a four-run sixth inning, then broke a tie with a runscoring grounder in the 12th, giving Chicago its victory over Kansas City.

A's 6, Angels 1

Jim "Catfish" Hunter scattered nine hits to gain his 10th victory of the season.

Chris Evert begins quest at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chris Evert, the 19-year-old No. 2 seed from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., bids for one of 32 spots in the women's singles at Wimbledon today on a recipe of at least 10 hours sleep a night.

That's the strategy for victory of Miss Evert's mother, Colette, as this fiesta of tennis enters its third day with many of the world's top players complaining of "too much" and "too little."

The stars say they are tired from an exhausting schedule of too much tennis and too little practice on fast grass courts.

Despite the groans, there have been no major surprises. Billie Jean King, defending champion and top seed seeking a sixth title, opened the women's events Tuesday with a smooth 6-1, 6-1 victory Kathy May, 18, of California.

In the men's singles, veteran Ken Rosewall of Australia and Tom Gorman of Seattle are safely through to the third round.

Referee Mike Gibson said he hoped to get all remaining 10 men's seeds and five women's seeds through their secondround matches by the time play finished today.

"My girls must have rest," insisted Mrs. Evert, chaperoning daughters Chris, who has won the Italian and French championships so far this year, and 16-year-old Jeanne. "Ideally, it's at least 10 hours a night for a championship like Wimbledon, a good 10 hours."

Tug-of-war slated

Washington Court House Jaycees will be sponsoring a tug-of-war contest at the Annual Jaycees Fourth of July Celebration, which will be held at the Fayette County Fairgrounds. The winning five-man team will receive a cash prize of $200.

Any team wishing to enter must contact Dale Butler, 335-5424, or John Thomas, 335-0222, by July 3. The entry fee is $25 per team.

Fish resources are limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Far from having a limitless resource in the sea, the world is nearing the limit of its fishery possibilities, says Dr. Robert M. White, chief of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. To provide enough fish now and to insure conservation for the future, he asserts, there must be cooperation on the state, federal and international levels.

Corn planting still delayed due to rains

WASHINGTON (AP) — A familiar pattern of delayed planting in the Corn Belt persists, with 5 per cent of the acreage remaining to be planted in Illinois and Indiana, says the Agriculture Department.

Most corn has emerged in Iowa but heavy rains and erosion have cut into stands in parts of the state, the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather report. It followed a special report on Monday showing the 1974 corn crop nationally will be down nearly 300 million bushels from earlier indications.

Moreover, the weather report said, corn development varies widely throughout the Midwest, from newly emerged seedlings to plants seven inches high in Michigan and Indiana; 15 inches in Ohio; and up to three feet in southern Nebraska.

Farmers began catching up rapidly on soybean planting last week, the report said, with about 81 per cent of the crop planted in the Corn Belt, compared with 85 per cent last year on June 23 and 93 per cent normally.

The wheat harvest gained last week and moved ahead of normal in much of the southern Great Plains. The report said the Texas harvest was 86 per cent finished by last weekend, about double the progress of last year. Oklahoma farmers were winding up, and in Kansas 35 per cent of the crop was cut by last Sunday.

Cotton farmers in Texas moved to 94 per cent completion in planting their 1974 crop last week, behind a year-earlier pace of 99 per cent, the report said.

Opening lead - queen of diamonds.

So far as winning is concerned, there is no difference between making a contract on its merits, because you have the necessary values, and making a contract because your opponents err.

It is certainly common knowledge that declarer makes a lot of hands as a result of defensive errors. Naturally, anything he can do to induce such an error is a step in the right direction.

West leads a diamond against four spades. Declarer sees four losers — a heart, two diamonds and a club — and must try to salvage one of them.

If the defenders could see South's hand, they would surely stop the contract. But since declarer's assets and liabilities are normally concealed from the prying eyes of the defenders, declarer can often trade upon this advantage.

South's best method of play is to win the diamond and return a low heart. East follows low and the jack loses to the ace. The defenders thereupon cash two diamonds and switch to a club.

Declarer wins with the king, draws trumps ending in dummy, and plays the queen of hearts. This traps East's king and South disposes of his club loser on one of dummy's hearts.

The only way East can foil declarer is by playing the king when the three of hearts is led from dummy at trick two. However, going up with the king of hearts is a whole lot easier when you see all four hands than when you see only the East hand and dummy. The plain unvarnished fact is that not many players would rise to the occasion and, in any case, nothing is lost by putting East to the test.

Note that declarer makes his move as soon as possible — without drawing trumps and without giving the defense an inkling of what he is up to.

Medal of honor winners cited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Six Congressional Medal of Honor winners from Ohio have been honored with the Brevet Colonel Citation.

Gov. John J. Gilligan presented the citations Monday to Melvin Mayfield of St. Louisville, Forrest E. Everhart of Zanesville, Almond E. Fisher of Mentor, Frank Herda of Brunswick Hills, Ronald E. Rosser of Crooksville and Gordon E. Roberts of Dayton.

The citation is an honorary title which has not been awarded in Ohio since the end of the Civil War.

Gilligan at the same time proclaimed June 24 Congressional Medal of Honor and Unity Day in Ohio.

The first fleet of motorized taxis in the United States made its debut in 1907.

Long-Acting Drugs...

Is there any advantage in using the long-acting capsules and pills that are now so extensively advertised?

Miss G.L., N.Y.

Dear Miss L.:

Long-acting drugs have an important value. They must not be considered commercial gimmicks to capture the buyer's attention.

Many drugs bought by prescription or over-the-counter are rapidly excreted in the urine. Thus it is necessary to take the drugs at regular intervals to maintain an effective level in the blood stream.

A long period of sleep reduces the effective level. This is why the pharmaceutical industry has developed excellent methods of coating drugs for release at regular intervals. This assures continued action.

Many antibiotics, cortisone and other drugs are injected into the body in a special oily substance to maintain a constant flow into the blood stream. This, in essence, is a variation of the idea of the long-acting, coated drugs.

Are there any diseases that can be carried from a dog to a child? Our children are constantly kissing them.

Mrs. L.S., Ohio

Dear Mrs. S.:

Children should be discouraged from kissing dogs and cats and other domesticated animals. There are a number of parasitic infections in these animals that can be transmitted to humans. One parasite, the nematode, resides in animals and can be passed directly to children.

The nematode from the intestinal tract of a dog can contaminate the soil where children can ingest it. Fungus infections and molds can also be present around the lips and chins of animals.

There are other safer ways for children and adults to demonstrate affection for pets.

Drills studded with hundreds of coarse diamonds are preferred for boring oil wells, because the bits do not have to be drawn up thousands of feet for frequent replacement.

Scene from 1964 flood here

Dredging project here was money well spent

A project completed nearly six years ago is probably primarily responsible for preventing thousands of dollars in flood damages in Washington C.H. over the weekend as the city experienced one of its heaviest rainfalls.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., completed a channel improvement project on Paint Creek through Washington C.H. during the summer of 1968 and the creek dredging work salvaged the city from possible large monetary losses when a heavy band of thunderstorms swooped through here last weekend.

City Manager Dan Wolford is confident that the 1968 creek dredging project by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers was well worth its $105,000 price tag.

The city has also spent approximately $225,000 for new storm sewer construction since 1965 in an attempt to ease flooding conditions.

Official Washington C.H. weather observer Coyt A. Stookey measured a total of 3.77 inches of precipitation here over a 48-hour period last weekend, but other amateur weather watchers gauged as much as 5.4 inches.

Regardless, the rainfall is believed to be the most since the 1968 flood here. Paint Creek never overflowed its banks during the heavy thundershowers last weekend.

City officials admit there were a few spots along city streets where the storm sewers were unable to carry the heavy load, but to their knowledge, there were no large monetary losses here as the result of the deluge of rain.

Some streets were temporarily blocked and the only street that was closed for any length of time was Oakland Avenue in the area of Cherry Hill Elementary school.

Paint Creek poured over its banks and flooded streets in May of 1968 when Washington C.H. received its heaviest rainfall in 20 years. Rainfall figures topped 7.3 inches in a 36-hour period. Of that total, 4.73 inches were recorded in a 24-hour period.

Flood loss in Fayette County was estimated at $3.7 million in a four-day span. The estimate included $1.5 million in a 21-car derailment on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, north of Bloomingburg, and a $2 million crop loss.

Interestingly, the May rainfall was a staggering 13.22-inch total.

In March of 1964, Fayette County streams overflowed their banks, flooding many homes, sending water over virtually every road in the county and forcing all schools to close. Many homes were also evacuated.

The county received seven inches of rain in two days during the 1964 flood.

According to figures compiled by the former City Manager Jack Whitmer, a monetary loss of $202,242 was suffered in the 1964 flood. The loss included damage to 10 industries at $158,125; damages to 79 residences at $28,612, and $31,505 to 41 parcels of rural real estate totaling 2,272 acres.

Records kept at the City Office Building also disclose a loss of $109,800 from a 1959 flood.

There's no question about the value of the 1968 creek dredging project, but city street department workers and youths employed by the city under state and federally-funded summer job programs have also been instrumental in preventing flood conditions.

Each summer the workers have been clearing the debris from banks of Paint Creek through Washington C.H. In years past the debris along the creek banks was largely responsible for flooding.

Nixon inks NATO paper

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — President Nixon paused today in his journey to the Moscow summit to join America's chief European allies in the ceremonial signing of the new Atlantic Alliance declaration.

The signing ceremony lasted about 15 minutes as the representatives of the alliance's 15 members fixed their signatures in rapid succession to the document. The Dutch secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Joseph M. A. H. Luns, made a brief speech in French and English, before the meeting adjourned for picture taking.

France's new president, Valery Giscard d'Estaing was absent and sent Premier Jacques Chirac. It was the first appearance of a French premier at NATO headquarters since President Charles de Gaulle expelled the alliance's military headquarters from France.

"Without the alliance, it is doubtful that detente with the Soviet Union would have begun, and without a continuing strong alliance, it is doubtful if the detente would continue," Nixon said on his arrival Tuesday night in the Belgian capital.

The declaration approved last week at the spring meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization formalizes a pledge that the United States will consult NATO'S 14 other members before staking out new policies.

After the signing by Nixon and heads of the other allied governments, the American President was to brief his allies about his Moscow trip at a closed session and then hold individual conferences with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Italian Premier Mariano Rumor.

Nixon in his arrival remarks said his presence at NATO headquarters between his visits to the Middle East and Moscow "symbolizes the central role that the Atlantic Alliance plays in pursuing our goal of a lasting peace in the world."

The President and Mrs. Nixon remain in Brussels until Thursday, when they fly to the Soviet capital for the third annual meeting between Nixon and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The Soviet-American summit is expected to produce a partial ban on underground nuclear weapon tests and an agreement in principle to further restrain fast-moving nuclear arms

Jury selection opens in Ehrlichman's case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jury selection begins today in the trial of former White House domestic affairs chief John D. Ehrlichman and three others accused of illegally attempting to gather psychiatric information about Daniel Ellsberg.

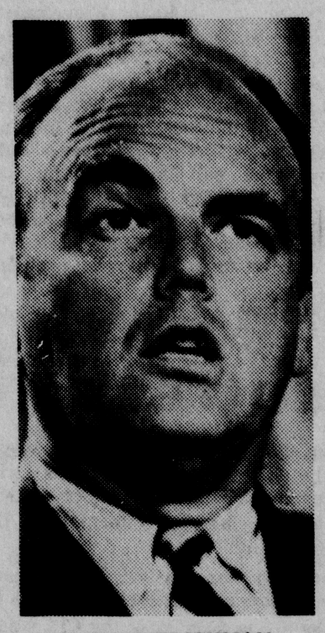
The case stems from the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist by the so-called White House plumbers. Ellsberg had leaked the Pentagon Papers to the media.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell has said the question before the jury in the trial will be simple: Did the defendants plot to violate the Fourth Amendment rights of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis Fielding of Beverly Hills, Calif.?

The Fourth Amendment of the Constitution prohibits searches by government agents without a properly-issued warrant.

Answering pretrial arguments that the break-in was justified as a special case to preserve national security, Gesell said:

"Whatever accommodation is required between the guarantees of the Fourth Amendment and the conduct of foreign affairs, it cannot justify a casual, ill-defined assignment to White House aides and part-time employes granting them an uncontrolled discretion to select, enter and search the homes and offices of innocent American citizens without a warrant."



JOHN EHRLICHMAN

Thus, Gesell has ruled out a defense based on the origins and motives of the plumbers, a special White House investigative unit established to plug news leaks.

Nonetheless, the principal defendant still is Ehrlichman, who, in August 1971, approved a covert operation against Fielding "if it is not traceable."

The second defendant is G. Gordon Liddy, 43, the silent man of the Watergate scandals, who is under multiyear jail sentences for the original Watergate break-in and contempt charges for refusal to testify before a grand jury.

The others are Bernard L. Barker, 57, and Eugenio R. Martinez, 51, members of the anti-Castro Cuban community of Miami. According to Dr. Fielding they were spotted by Spanish-speaking cleaning people in his modern office building in downtown Beverly Hills during the early morning hours the day of the break-in.

The burglars found nothing useful.

The four plumbers defendants are charged specifically with plotting the break-in "without legal process, probable cause, search warrant or other lawful authority." The maximum penalty for the single conspiracy indictment is 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

In addition, the 49-year-old Ehrlichman, a successful Seattle lawyer before joining the administration, is charged with one count of lying to the FBI and three counts of making false statements before a federal grand jury. He is liable for 30 years in jail sentences and $50,000 in fines.

President Nixon has acknowledged approving creation of the plumbers within a week of publication of the Pentagon Papers, a highly-classified study of the origins of the Vietnam War, in part written by Ellsberg in his role as a Pentagon analyst.

Almost simultaneously, Ellsberg was identified as the source of the Pentagon Papers leak and Nixon ordered the plumbers to find out all they could "about Mr. Ellsberg and his motives."

Nixon named Ehrlichman "for supervision of this group" and Egil Krogh, Ehrlichman's assistant, was chosen chief plumber. Others added were David R. Young, formerly a member of Henry A. Kissinger's staff; Liddy, and E. Howard Hunt Jr., who was taken on as a White House consultant. Hunt had been a career employe of the CIA's clandestine operations section.

A principal witness, especially in the prosecution's case against Ehrlichman, will be Charles W. Colson, who turned over $5,000 in political contributions to Liddy, money that allegedly went to finance the operation.

Colson, originally indicted for the Fielding break-in, pleaded guilty to another felony charge in the Ellsberg case, and has been sentenced to one to three years in prison.

Panel to make data public

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has voted to make public most of the evidence it has received in secret impeachment hearings during the past seven weeks.

When the material will be released remains unclear but some members say all evidence relating to the Watergate cover-up, including the committee's versions of White House tapes, could be made public in a few days.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who will have the right to edit the material before it is released, said Tuesday he hoped the entire record of more than 7,000 pages would be available for public scrutiny when the committee starts debating proposed articles of impeachment, now scheduled for July 15.

"This is information on which one can make an evaluation," said Rodino. "It should come to the attention of the public."

The 22-16 vote came on a motion by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah.

Most of the evidence to be released consists of factual statements bearing on the conduct of President Nixon and his aides without any interpretation or conclusions.

However, it also includes the evidence that led the Watergate grand jury to vote 19 to 0 to name Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up. And it includes transcripts of presidential conversations far more complete than the edited versions released by the White House.

In other Watergate developments:

—Former top Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman and three others go on trial today in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—The Senate Watergate committee is reported ready to release a report written by Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., on possible CIA involvement in the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

—A legal consultant to the Watergate committee proposed that Congress limit a president's use of executive privilege and define exactly what he can do in the name of national security.

The House Judiciary Committee resolution excludes from the evidence to be released material relating to the secret bombing of Cambodia that the Defense Department has refused to declassify.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who led the fight against releasing the evidence now, said it would infringe on the rights of Watergate defendants awaiting trial and also could hurt Nixon.

Coffee Break . .

AN APPEAL was issued to members of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club Tuesday to assist in reconditioning Wilson Field for the Little League baseball program after the heavy weekend rainfall, but all Rotarians who were planning to man shovels, rakes and other equipment for the chore can now resort back to their previous plans. . .

Rotarian Don Kirk, president of the Washington C. H. Little League Association, learned Tuesday afternoon that workers from the city street department will be handling the repair chores on the infield at Wilson Field. . . .

City Manager Dan Wolford said the city street workers have volunteered their services to restore the diamond with city equipment. . . .All the work is being done after their regular duty hours. . .

The several tons of fill dirt needed for the project is being supplied by the city. . . .Wolford said the dirt is being taken from behind the city's sewage treatment plant where new lagoons are being dug. . . .

The city manager said the dirt will be mixed with sand which should improve the playing surface. . .

Rotarians were originally scheduled for diamond revamping chores at 1 p.m. Saturday. . .

Inmates plead guilty in Ross County trial

Two Lucasville inmates pleaded guilty to kidnapping and escape and similar charges were dismissed against another following a surprise development in Ross County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Both Donald Nickerson, 45, Vandalia, and David Pilkington, 29, Olmstead, pleaded guilty to the five charges against them, after the other inmate, Robert Laws, 27, Columbus, testified that the two had forced him to participate in the escape under threat of his life. The charges against Laws were dismissed.

Nickerson and Pilkington told the court that they had planned the escape for several months and had threatened Laws' life if he did not participate.

JUDGE J. DONALD Ratcliff sentenced the two to 2 to 5 years for escape from custody, 5 to 15 years for kidnapping former Franklin County Sheriff's deputy Milton Cramer and Mrs. Irene Birchwell, and 4 to 25 years for aggravated burglary. The sentences are to run concurrently. Both men are presently serving life sentences for murder.

The trio was arrested by Washington C.H. police officers and Fayette County Sheriff's deputies following a bizarre escape attempt on March 27.

They overpowered former deputy Cramer who was transporting them from the prison to Columbus, and threatened to set fire to him. They commandeered his car and drove to a farm house on U.S. 35 near Ater's Lake where they handcuffed Cramer, Mrs. Birchwell, her daughter-in-law and a two-year-old boy.

They then stole a station wagon and sedan from the Birchwell home and headed toward Fayette County.

Nickerson and Pilkington were captured by Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks following a high-speed chase and eventual collision on the Old Chillicothe Road, just east of Washington C.H.

Laws, who was riding with Doyle W. Manning, 35, Indianapolis, Ind., was apprehended in a garage in the downtown area. Manning was fatally wounded in an exchange of gunfire with police.

Ohio Bell plans rate boost bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which received a $98 million rate increase last August, is gearing up to ask for another one before the end of the year.

Fred Eckley, president of Ohio Bell, Tuesday asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to begin the preliminary evaluation of plants and property necessary in rate cases.

John Ledingham, a PUCO spokesman, said such evaluations usually are made after the formal request is filed for an increase but said he imagined the PUCO would go ahead in advance.

"It sounds like a good idea," he said. "It will speed up any decision."

Ohio Bell waited two years after its last request — for $166 million — was granted, although reduced to $98 million.

Eckley, in a statement, noted that Ohio Bell officials said when the last increase was granted that it soon would be back for another.

"We want the commission and our customers to know that a request for telephone prices is in the planning stage and that in the months ahead we will work hard to explain to the public why we need more money," he said.

"The prices we pay for everything are going out of sight, so the company faces two choices — higher prices or poorer service," he added.

Eckley said he didn't know at this time how much of an increase would be sought.

NFO faces fraud suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has sued the National Farmer Organization, which it contends is broke and lied to its members when it borrowed more than $7 million from them.

The farmers group was charged with fraud, false statements and failure to disclose information about its financial condition.

The suit filed in Des Moines, Iowa, and announced in Washington, came one day after the farm organization's board, in an emergency meeting, unanimously approved a resolution denying any fraud and requesting that the commission make a more thorough investigation.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley has suggested in a newsletter to members that the commission's probe is part of a government effort to ruin the group. Staley pointed out that the NFO was listed among White House "enemies" in Watergate testimony by ousted presidential counsel John W. Dean III.

An SEC spokesman denied on Tuesday that the suit is related to the enemies list. "The charges speak for themselves," he said.

The suit charges that the farm organization is in the red and can't pay its bills.

NFO, which markets a broad range of commodities for its members, has had trouble collecting the $75-a-year dues it asks of its members, and recently launched a drive to collect delinquent dues, estimated by sources close to the farm organization at $12 million or more.

Staley sent a letter to members June 13, marked "confidential for members only—not to be released to the press."

In it, he said the SEC investigation is the biggest problem to confront the farm group in its 18-year history.

Vinyl-chloride-cancer link brings call for safeguards

WASHINGTON (AP) — A medical study has produced new evidence suggesting a high incidence of death from a rare liver cancer among factory employes working with vinyl chloride, a chemical widely used in the plastics industry.

A study of vinyl chloride workers at the Goodyear plant in Niagara Falls, N.Y., found that three of 24 deaths were due to the cancer angiosarcoma.

Dr. Irving J. Selikoff, director of the Environmental Sciences Laboratory of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine, cited the study. He emphasized the critical importance of reducing the amount of vinyl chloride workers are exposed to, to a "no detectable level" as proposed by the Labor Department.

Selikoff was among dozens of witnesses Tuesday at a hearing on the Labor Department's proposed standards for regulating its use.

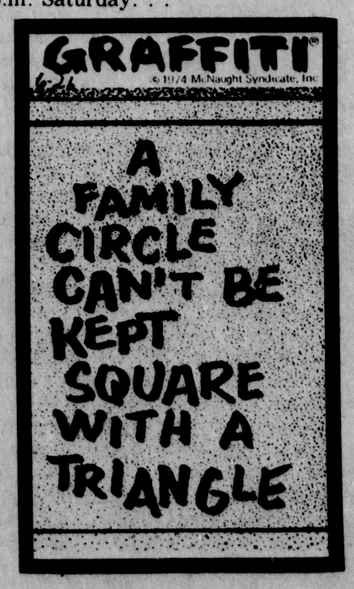
Representatives of the Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., a trade association, argued that the medical evidence was too inconclusive to require banning worker exposure to the chemical. They said the proposed regulations were impossible to achieve and would force the industry to close scores of plants with the loss of as many as 2.2 million jobs.

"The proposed permanent standard is not technologically feasible and, if adopted, would shut down the industry," warned Anton Vittone, president of the B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co.

Blanchester man dies of injuries

BLANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — William H. Benningfield of Blanchester has died of injuries suffered in a two-vehicle wreck at the intersection of Ohio 350 and U.S. 68 in southern Clinton County, the highway patrol reports.

The wreck was Tuesday.



Deaths, Funerals

MRS. TRACIE B. MASON — Services for Mrs. Tracie Brown Mason, 74, of 633 E. Paint St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home with the Rev. Leon Cook officiating. Mrs. Mason, a resident of Washington C.H. for the past 56 years, died Saturday.

Two hymns were sung by Mrs. Wanda Greathouse and Phillip Greathouse. Steve Greathouse was the pianist. Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Robert Yarger, Forrest Haines, Wayne Haines, Larry Brown, Walter Lee Brown and Larry Baker.

LAWRENCE M. THOMAS — Private services for Lawrence M. Thomas, 59, of Bellbrook, were held Tuesday afternoon in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. David Harper officiating. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse played the organ. Mr. Thomas died Saturday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Woodlawn Cemetery, Bowersville, were David and Charles Harner; Russell, Carroll and Roger Sanderson; Charles Worley and James Goodbar.

Pentagon fears technology leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some key Pentagon officials are concerned that sharing certain U.S. technology with Russia under the detente policy could impair national security.

This concern smoldered as President Nixon prepared for his coming Moscow visit, during which new and broadened agreements are expected in furtherance of detente.

Officials are worried mostly about the transfer of critical advanced computer technology, which has military as well as civilian application. The Russians are said to trail the United States in important aspects of this technology.

Also bothering defense officials is the possibility that the Russians might be helped to gain ground in the field of micro-electronics.

So far, officials said, government safeguards are working adequately.

But there have been conflicts among the State, Commerce and Defense departments, which look at the question from differing viewpoints, Pentagon officials said. The State Department is anxious to promote detente, the Commerce Department wants to open up the Russian market for U.S. business, and the Defense Department considers itself the guardian of national security.

"We are not in opposition to detente," said one senior Pentagon official. "But we must pursue detente within the bounds of national security."

In a rare speech, Vice Adm. Vincent de Poix, director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, several weeks ago sounded what he called "a small note of caution."

"Detente is intended to, and certainly does, facilitate technological research and development exchange and contacts through cooperative agreement, the increased availability of credits and relaxed export controls," de Poix said.

"But it is not intended to do so at the expense of our national security. While exchange at the level of basic research poses no problem in this regard, this becomes more uncertain as one moves up the scale of weapons sophistication

The threat of more heavy rains over flood-troubled parts of southern Ohio has eased, although occasional showers and thundershowers remained in forecasts for the area today.

A flash flood watch was in effect for southern Ohio Tuesday night, but was cancelled about 11 p.m. The heavy rains failed to materialize and showers generally measured less than a quarter of an inch, the National Weather Service reported.

Occasional showers or thundershowers were forecast to continue today over southern Ohio, although skies should clear tonight.

Temperatures were expected to remain below normal today with highs ranging from the upper 60s in northern Ohio to the low 70s in the southwest.

Warmer weather is forecast for the end of the week with highs in the 70s across the state Thursday and in the 80s by the weekend. Lows tonight will range from the upper 40s to low 50s.

Dry weather is forecast Thursday and Friday, providing a break for cleanup workers at Franklin and Lebanon, where weekend flooding caused extensive damage.

Fair Friday and showers Saturday or Sunday. Highs in the 80s. Lows in the upper 50s and the 60s.

Stock list slips back

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped back a bit today, cutting short the technical rally that produced a sharp gain on Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction a short while after the opening, and losers and gainers were about even on the New York Stock Exchange. Analysts said it appeared the continued rise of interest rates was helping to choke off the bargain-hunting that had sparked Tuesday's rebound.

Several banks joined today in raising their prime lending rates from 11½ to 11¾ per cent, and there were predictions that a 12 per cent rate on loans to large corporations might be in the offing soon.

Today's prices on the Big Board included A. H. Robins, up ⅛ at 17¾; Perkin-Elmer, unchanged at 30⅝; International Telephone, down ¼ at 19¾, and Raytheon, up ⅜ at 33.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average registered a 12.52-point rise to 828.85 as the market posted its first clear-cut advance in more than two weeks.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 9-5 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 11.92 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .58 to 81.04.

Ohio grain outlook optimistic

By The Associated Press

Some uncertainty may have been removed from Ohio grain markets with a new federal crop outlook forecasting record corn and wheat harvests.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in Columbus also had optimistic reports for Ohio this week.

Gary Bovard reported 75 per cent of the Ohio winter wheat crop has turned and 65 per cent is ripe and reported "in good condition."

Spokesman at Shaw Elevators in London said many central Ohio terminals are short of storage space because farmers have been reluctant to sell surpluses from last year's harvest.

C. William Swank of Landmark Farm Bureau Cooperative, a 70-elevator central Ohio operation, said the elevators may start emptying, however, with the latest USDA outlook.

Stormy weather in the western U.S. and similar soybean planting problems in Illinois yielded enough uncertainty to keep bidding so low early this week that the Chicago Board of Trade posted no reports for Tuesday.

One Landmark grain watcher said farmers took a "wait and see" attitude in line with that uncertainty.

And elevator operators say the Buckeye farmer who sold more than half of last year's soybean crop long before the market topped out at an unprecedented $11 a bushel likely was waiting for it to happen again.

But Swank said they may have been overly pessimistic on hearing reports from the west and from Illinois soybean farmers.

The USDA's special report Tuesday indicates a drop from the early Nixon administration grain-conscious predictions. But the forecast is still for a record 6.4 billion bushels of corn and 12.1 billion bushels of wheat.

Futures from Chicago dropped Tuesday 17 cents on wheat, 18 cents on soybeans and 8 cents on corn, and may renew speculation.

Swank said that development followed a six-day increase in wheat to the 20-cent daily limit. While farmers were hedging their bets, he said speculators were carefully limiting investments.

State Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie said the ups-and-downs, even to the price limits, are not unusual at this time of year, when crops are still unpredictable.

But he said farmers have suffered so many losses in cattle and hogs that they are looking for assurances somewhere.

Twisters seen in Central Ohio

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes were sighted in Franklin and Licking counties today, the National Weather Service reported.

Touchdowns were reported in Pataskala and in extreme southeastern Franklin County, the weather service said.

A tornado warning was issued for eastern Franklin, Fairfield and Licking counties today.

CIA seeking law to guard secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency is seeking legislation authorizing criminal penalties against government employes who make intelligence secrets public, official sources say.

William E. Colby, director of the spy agency, has proposed amendments to the National Security Act of 1947, which also would clarify the government's ability to enjoin news media from disclosing material that might compromise the sources and methods of intelligence gathering, the sources said.

The criminal penalties, however, would not apply to the newsmen, the sources said. "This is not aimed at the media but at people who decide on their own to disclose classified information. This would not allow the director to go after recipients of the information," one source said.

But the criminal provisions would apply to employes of firms with government contracts that gave them access to classified information, the sources said.

However, one source emphasized that before any prosecution could be brought, the director of the CIA would have to show to a judge that the classification was reasonable.

The sources stressed that Colby's proposal was being considered within the Nixon administration. No final decisions on its provisions or even on whether to make the recommendations formally to Congress have been made yet, they said.

One source said that under existing law it was a close question whether the government could obtain criminal penalties for those who leak government secrets.

4-year-old boy regains life after 100-1 odds

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — The 4-year-old boy's heart and breathing had stopped and doctors working to revive him estimated his chances for survival were "no more than one to two in 100."

But on Tuesday, one week after he accidentally shot himself, William Horton asked a Harbor General Hospital nurse, "When can I go home?"

The .25 caliber bullet pierced William's aorta, ripped through his intestines in seven different places and lodged in his back.

Dr. Michael Peter, a senior resident in surgery who helped save the boy, told a news conference that a gunshot wound which penetrates the aorta is usually fatal. The aorta is the artery through which blood flows from the heart into the body.

Peter said the chances of a person surviving the injury "would be certainly no more than one to two in 100 and quite likely much less."

He said William's survival "represented a lot of good luck along with good care."

Peter said William's brain lacked oxygen for about 15 to 20 minutes, possibly "as long as 25 minutes," and this condition for longer than eight minutes can result in permanent brain damage. Children seem to tolerate this condition for longer periods than adults, he said.

"He has responded to questions and his memory is good," Peter said. "We feel certain there is no damage and he should recover completely."

The boy's mother, Beatrice Horton, 36, of Carson, Calif., said of her son's accident, "... I'll tell you one thing, I never want to have another gun in my possession like that again."

She said she had her automatic handgun in her purse the day of the accident because she was carrying about $500 with which she planned to purchase a minimotorbike for William.

She said she drove into a service station and left the car briefly.

"What he did, apparently, was reach inside my purse and hit the safety and the trigger all at the same time," Mrs. Horton said.

The boy was rushed to the hospital about one mile away, but appeared to be dead, doctors said—there was no heartbeat, no pulse, no spontaneous respiration. William's abdomen had filled with blood.

Doctors stopped the blood flow, administered cardiac massage and William's heartbeat began again. In three hours of surgery, doctors cut out the injured portion of the aorta, sewed the two remaining ends together and then repaired the seven holes in the intestines.

Mayors seek federal cash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's continued commitment to the New Federalism concept of sharing federal powers and dollars with the cities faces a challenge from the nation's mayors.

The U.S. Conference of Mayors, dominated by Democrats, was expected to adopt a resolution today declaring that the promises of the New Federalism haven't yet been fulfilled.

The measure, with companion proposals, calls on the administration and Congress to follow through with acceptable amounts of federal aid for second-step New Federalism programs such as mass transit and housing.

The measure also demands that Congress enforce its pledge to challenge Nixon on future impoundment of appropriated funds for urban programs.

Mayor Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee said he thought the President had undercut the New Federalism by impoundment of urban programs funds Congress appropriated.

"The burglary of the budget is much more serious than the burglary of the Democratic national headquarters," said Maier, president of the newly formed National Conference of Democratic Mayors.

The five-day conference, with about 350 mayors on hand, concludes with today's business session and the expected election of San Francisco's Joseph L. Alioto as the new conference president.

The overriding theme has been that the first step of the New Federalism, general revenue sharing, has been good in concept but that inflation has offset its promise by eating into city budgets.

The mayors are asking for early reenactment of general revenue sharing, at least a year before the current program expires at the end of 1976.

Marijuana haul in Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Drug Enforcement Administration says U.S. and Mexican authorities have carried out the biggest single seizure of marijuana in history, netting 42 tons of the weed in Mexicali, Mexico.

Announcing the joint operation Tuesday, DEA Administrator John Bartels Jr. estimated the marijuana's U.S. street sale value at $22.8 million.

He said Mexican police were holding seven men for questioning and that additional arrests were expected.

About 2½ tons of marijuana was found inside each of two tanker trucks stopped at the border while they were en route from Mexicali to California, with the rest discovered at a Mexicali warehouse in "a huge secret cavern beneath the concrete floor," the DEA said.

Mexicali is on the California-Mexico border, a sister city of Calexico, Calif.

According to authorities, the tanker trucks would transport tar and asphalt into the Mexicali area and return to the United States loaded with marijuana.

Gas prices stay stable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Automobile Association reports that for a fifth straight week, the average price of regular gasoline across the nation has remained stable at 56 cents a gallon.

The AAA also said Tuesday that according to spot checks of 5,556 stations in all states except Alaska, the average price of premium gasoline has stayed at 60 cents a gallon for two weeks in a row.

Slight improvement was reported in the availability of gasoline on evenings and weekends, although the AAA said the proportion of stations completely out of gas increased from 0.2 per cent a week ago to 0.6 per cent this week.

Hawaii had the highest average prices—61 cents for regular and 64 cents for premium. Michigan and Illinois averaged second highest in regular fuel prices at 59 cents while Vermont was second in premium prices at 63 cents.

Ohio jobless rate increases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 220,000 Ohioans were out of work in May, the state Bureau of Employment Services reported today.

That was 4.6 per cent of the state's civilian labor force, the OBES said, a slight increase from the 4.2 per cent unemployment level of the same month last year.

But, said the bureau, the unemployment rate has been on the decline for several months.

Vice president quits at Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The first black vice president of the University of Cincinnati has resigned.

Dr. Charles E. Johnson said he planned to accept a job with an international management consulting firm in the East.

Johnson has held the UC post for two years.

The former economist at the Harvard School of Business also served once as a professor of economics at Lovanium University in the Congo. He assisted in the training of business executives in Africa.

5 still at large in hospital escape

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jefferson County Police said five of seven patients who escaped Tuesday from the state's forensic medicine section on the Central State Hospital grounds remained at large early today.

Two Eastern Kentuckians and five men from the Louisville area escaped from the maximum security Grauman Building operated by the Forensic Medicine branch of the state Bureau for Health Services.

Dr. Francisco Montero, director of the Grauman Building, said none had been convicted of the crimes with which they are charged.

He said they had been confined in the forensic medicine section for evaluation and treatment of their mental condition and determination of whether they are able to stand trial.

County police said they captured Sidney Espie, 18, of Louisville later Tuesday near LaGrange and returned him to the Grauman Building. Espie was facing charges of armed robbery and malicious cutting and wounding.

City police said they were holding a second patient, George Arens, 22, who was arrested Tuesday night in Louisville. He was facing charges of armed robbery and storehouse breaking.

Police identified the men still at large, and the charges against them, as:

Bernard Eugene Smith, 26, of Ashland, armed robbery and being an habitual criminal; Billy Edgar Hall, 26, of Pikeville, armed robbery, rape and arson; Edward Griffin, 31, of Louisville, charges not available; Othea Lee Tungett, 29, of Louisville, storehouse breaking, and Steven Bronger, 26, of Louisville, armed robbery and malicious cutting and wounding.

"None of the men is psychotic at this time," Dr. Montero said.

To escape, he said, the seven had to get through a door in the Grauman Building that was supposed to be locked, walk across a yard and climb an electrified fence more than 10 feet high.

Montero said the fence has only a slight electric charge: "It only gives a tingling sensation. Evidently the electricity is not enough to knock them down."

Counties receive auto plate fees

The state auditor's office has announced the first distribution of the 1974 motor vehicle registration fees. A total of $49,932,707 was distributed to Ohio's counties, cities, townships and villages.

The bulk of the license tax, $40,445,492 was divided between the 88 counties, with the municipal governments receiving 34 per cent and the county governments receiving 47 per cent.

Ferguson said that the state makes three distributions of license plate money each year, the first in the early summer, one in the fall, and the third following the close of the licensing year.

An additional $9,738,962 in piggy-back ($5) license plate fees was distributed. Fayette County received $41,961 of this money.

Other nearby counties which have the piggy-back tax are Greene, $161,044; Clinton, $48,048; and Madison, $39,157.

EPA claims 1972 autos polluters

DETROIT (AP) — After eight years of tangling with the federal government over safety-related defects, auto companies now are under attack on a new front involving antipollution violations.

The Environmental Protection Agency entered the auto recall business in earnest Tuesday when it announced that up to 1.4 million cars built in 1972 may be exceeding allowable exhaust pollution levels.

EPA said tests of 1972 General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Volkswagen cars found many failed to meet limits on hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions. The agency gave the companies 10 days to respond to the test results before recalls are ordered.

Until recently, the National Highway Traffic Safety Admnistration had been the sole agency monitoring recall campaigns.

Since then, the auto companies have recalled—voluntarily or under government mandate—millions of cars a year at a cost in the tens of millions of dollars.

The EPA was granted similar recall powers two years ago under the Clean Air Act, which authorized the agency to test cars in actual use to ensure they meet federal pollution levels for up to 50,000 miles.

Charles W. Colson disbarred by court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, a former White House aide, has been disbarred by the U.S. District Court here because of his guilty plea to obstruction of justice in trying to smear Daniel Ellsberg.

The order was signed Tuesday by three judges of the District of Columbia court.

Colson also is licensed to practice law in Virginia and Massachusetts, but disbarment in one court jurisdiction usually results in complete disbarment.

Nixon visit

technology.

But a senior official in the President's party told newsmen during the trip across the Atlantic it was "impossible" for a pact limiting offensive nuclear weapons to emerge from this round of Nixon-Brezhnev talks.

The official said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger may have to make a later trip to Moscow to keep the momentum going. But he also left open the possiblity that Nixon and Brezhnev would narrow their differences sufficiently to enable them to draw up treaty guidelines for their delegations at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Geneva.

The first Nixon-Brezhnev summit in 1972 produced an interim agreement limiting some offensive nuclear weapons for five years and ending some defense systems permanently. One of the principal differences between the two governments in the current round involves what consideration to give warheads with multiple missiles.

Nixon and Brezhnev also are expected to sign a 10-year agreement providing for cooperation in science, technology and economics. The Soviet Union has similar agreements with France and West Germany, and the draft that has been drawn up is reported to overlap other Soviet-American agreements signed in the past two years.

Drinking at record high

No perceptive observer of American society can fail to conclude that excessive use of alcohol warrants serious concern. It could not be otherwise in a country where drinking is involved in half the highway deaths, where there are reportedly some nine million alcoholics, where responsible health officials have called drinking the nation's number one health problem.

The view of alcohol use as a grave social concern is bolstered further by results of the latest in a series of Gallup polls on the question. The proportion of adults who drink now stands at the highest point since the polls began 35 years ago. Sixty-eight per cent said yes to the question whether they "have occasion to use alcoholic beverages such as liquor, wine or beer."

Happily, the pollsters also find a widespread view that excessive drinking poses a serious threat to society, and that new approaches should be made to dealing with the problem. That conclusion, too, seems inescapable.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Kissinger and wiretaps

WASHINGTON — The accusatory finger points, the voice is stern. You did it, you people in the press, you built up Henry Kissinger twice lifesize and you can hardly blame him for responding with an ego matching the adulation you gave him.

Hailed as Super K, the miracle worker, on his return from 32 days of shuttle diplomacy in the Middle East, the secretary of state fell inadvertently into the trap of his involvement in wiretaps. Colleagues in the State Department had cautioned him that at the press conference he held on his return the concentration would be on his role in tapping the phones of colleagues and reporters. Kissinger believed to the contrary that he would be asked about his diplomatic triumph.

THE HOSTILE quizzing opened up the whole wiretap affair which had begun to die down. A little earlier, Kissinger had appeared before Sen. Edmund Muskie's Foreign Relations subcommittee to be asked the blunt question whether he had initiated the taps. He replied no. Muskie today believes that while he may have tidied up his responses he was telling the truth.

Then came the secretary's unfortunate Salzburg press conference threatening to resign if his name is not cleared. This revived the competition of leaks and counterleaks. Only a thorough, careful hearing by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee can put the whole messy business in perspective.

In the view of this observer, the praise of Kissinger was not so much overblown as oversimplified. While the disengagement of the Syrian-Israeli forces continuing to fight on the Golan Heights was essential, since the alternative was a renewed and greatly expanded war, this was only the capstone of his achievement.

More important by far was the creation of a new relationship of confidence among the moderate Arab states and in turn between the moderates and Israel. This grew largely out of the secretary's friendship with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. Sadat's restraining influence on President Hafez al-Assad of Syria was an important element in the military disengagement.

Kissinger encouraged the cooperation now beginning to show tangible results. The shah of Iran has initiated with the moderate Arab states a series of agreements providing substantial aid. The agreement signed with Egypt calls for $870 million in a complex of loans, grants, technical assistance and the training of personnel. Syria under a similar arrangement is to get $150 million, Morocco $30 million.

This will come to be sure out of the soaring price of Iran's oil. The shah triggered this upsurge and he is known to have turned down a recent suggestion from King Feisal of Saudi Arabia that the price which is having such disastrous consequences around the world, and especially in the underdeveloped world, but cut back.

All this is tentative and fragile. The millions cheering the President in Egypt were anticipating American assistance that can help the Egyptians move out of the mire of poverty they have endured for centuries. This was the Nixon rhetoric as he moved through the Middle East - progress toward the industrialization and the standard of living prevailing in the West.

NO ONE here believes Kissinger will resign. His role in the Middle East is so important, not to mention his relationship with the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China.

But the Senate hearing is likely to be an ordeal for a highly sensitive man. The pressure will be on to call witnesses for the opposition who want to use the wiretap issue to get Kissinger out of office. Punishing the wiretapper, the opponents give little thought to who might succeed him and what could happen to the policy of detente and peace in the Middle East.

The accolade of miracle worker is a disservice. Kissinger is a diplomat of remarkable ability. His success came out of unending patience and perseverance; a mental and physical endurance contest beyond the call of duty. With a little common sense, time can heal the unfortunate aspects of this controversy and Kissinger can carry on as before.

$1 million damage seen in Lebanon

By The Associated Press

Flood-ravaged Lebanon struggled through a third night without power as city officials predicted damage could approach $1 million from what a veteran policeman called "the worst flood I've seen here in 40 years."

Power was expected to be restored today to the Warren County community of 8,000.

The city was hit by torrential downpours twice Saturday, causing two normally-quiet creeks to spill over their banks. More than seven inches of rain was measured during a 15-hour period.

Workmen continued cleaning up mud and debris today.

High winds that accompanied the storm were blamed for the death of a 7-year-old girl in Blanchester, about 20 miles southeast in Clinton County.

The victim was Pamela Hodge. She died of injuries when her family's mobile home was overturned by high wind gusts.

City officials in Franklin and Lebanon have asked Gov. John J. Gilligan to declare Warren County disaster areas.

Franklin, with a population of 10,000, suffered damage to 104 homes when part of Clear Creek Levee washed out.

Lebanon Police Capt. Nick Toller described the waters that hit his city "the worst flood I've seen here in 40 years. I've talked to some people older than I am and they can't remember a worse one."

Ed Schwaberow, Lebanon administrative assistant, said state officials reviewed the damage Monday.

Schwaberow said business inventories would make up the bulk of losses.

Eight state parks were affected by the storms, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources reported.

Strouds Run State Park has been closed and is not expected to open for several days, according to the department.

23 OSU students to tour China

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-three students at Ohio State University will leave Friday for a tour of the People's Republic of China. The five-week tour will emphasize comparative social welfare systems, with visits to social welfare agencies, communes and public assistance offices.

The students are from the university's School of Social Work.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Last Tuesday I attended Rotary as a guest of one of my member friends at which time I listened to an address by Dr. Sweet of the Department of Economic and Community Development, (DECD). The DECD is a cabinet level agency in Governor Gilligan's administrative complex.

Dr. Sweet spoke on the state planning area set-up but did not have time to deal specifically as to where Fayette County stands and how we will be affected.

Fayette County, along with Franklin, Delaware, Fairfield, Licking, Madison, Pickaway and Union comprise planning area six.

In the very beginning (about 17 months ago) your representative requested in writing that Fayette should not be a part of planning area six but a part of area seven instead (if we had to part of something). This was because we have vastly more in common with the counties to the south of us than we have with Franklin.

The chief hangup in the attempt to organize has been the allocation of voting strength. In the beginning, Franklin suggested it be allocated on the basis population - one man one vote. This sounds "catchy" until we start reflecting on the fact that this would leave us with 2.4 per cent of the voting strength and Franklin with almost 71.0 per cent. All this in a situation which is not of our own choosing or liking.

Under this plan, with Franklin having 71.0 per cent and the other seven counties collectively inheriting the remaining 29.0 per cent, you can easily see why your representative pointed out it would hardly be worth while for anyone except Franklin to attend a meeting. We've been assured they are "good fellows" and would not impose upon us. We pointed out we are "good fellows" too and we could not impose on Franklin if we were granted weighted voting rights or veto provisions.

With this background, I will simply state to you that since Jan., 1973 many plans have been submitted (Fayette submitted one) in an attempt to arrive at a satisfactory distribution of voting strength. Chairman Dorrian even appointed a special committee which came up with a plan everyone thought could very well be "it."

Guess what happened. At our last meeting Mayor Moody, representing the mayors of Franklin county, stated that after much thought and deliberation had concluded that the special committee's report was unacceptable and they were insisting on the one man one vote principle. Precisely where we were 17 months ago.

In all fairness, I should point out the mayors did consent to a veto provision which could be invoked by any representative of any affected unit of government. Sounds fine until you read further and find out it takes a ¾ vote to sustain said veto.

This means all seven smaller counties would have to vote solidly to support said veto and would have to have five votes from Franklin county delegation in addition.

If there is a groundswell of support in favor of this latest proposal of Franklin, let me know.

J. Herbert Perrill
Fayette County Commissioner

Under the above proposal the voting percentages would be: Madison 2.4, Delaware 3.9, Fairfield 6.3, Franklin 70.9, Licking 9.2, Pickaway 3.4, Union 2.0, and Fayette 2.4.)

Gadget combats 'cafe coronary'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health is promoting a $6 plastic gadget it says could cure the sixth leading cause of death in the nation—the "cafe coronary."

"It's ranked as the sixth leading cause of death in our country," said Tom Magoto, director of the department's accident prevention and product safety program.

"That means this would exceed aircraft accidents, firearms, lightning, snake and insect bites," he said. "We're trying to make the food operators aware of what the problem is."

The cafe coronary is actually food asphyxiation, caused by a person literally biting off more than he can chew. The food lodges in the throat, blocking the air passage.

"Symptoms of food asphyxiation are so often mistaken to be that of a coronary victim, but they're very different," he said.

"The victim of choking is unable to breath, talk or cough. He turns blue in the face and collapses.

"This is fast, four to five minutes," and the person is dead, Magoto said. In contrast, he said, a coronary victim can breathe and is conscious.

The culprit usually is a chunk of steak, with the average size that of a pack of cigarettes, Magoto said.

"Backslapping is a waste of time ordinarily," he said. "It may cause it to be more deeply imbedded, unless you can get the victim upside down, upended. If you're dealing with an adult, this can be quite an obstacle."

He said mouth-to-mouth resuscitation also is generally unsuccessful.

"The real remedy is retrieving the food, with fingers if necessary," he said. "This is difficult to do because of the size of the fingers or hand."

That's the reason for the choke saver, he said. The device is a nine-inch pair of curved plastic tweezers.

"It's a real wicked looking bird," Magoto said. But he said it can save lives.

"I'm not a physician, of course, but perhaps misuse could scratch or hurt the throat," Magoto said when asked about hazards. "But that would be less than a person choking to death.

"We're making a general recommendation, that we think food operators should supply at least one of these, very accessible, at the ready," he said.

He said field workers for the health department are carrying the devices and spreading the word to restaurant operators. So far, he said, it appears few restaurants know of the devices or even of cafe coronaries.

"There are some people, just a few, that were familiar with the information," he said. "The great majority of the people probably aren't even aware of these problems."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

If husband won't see counselor, go alone

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I'm actually writing a letter to Dear Abby! Wow, what a corny trip! I know you're not "God," but you say a lot in a few words and your answers make sense, so here goes:

I'm a 34-year-old married woman with two kids and a million problems. The biggest is my marriage. It's going downhill fast.

My husband and I fight all the time. We've got money problems, in-law problems, he says I'm a lousy housekeeper and he's right, and I say he spends too much time with "the boys" and not enough time with me and the kids. (He's a sports freak.) We can't even discuss our problems without ending up in a fight. The only thing we've got going for us is sex. That's terrific, but you can't stay in bed all the time.

Don't tell me we need "counseling." He'd never go. And I can't afford a shrink, so forget that.

MISERABLE

DEAR MIS: The answer I have for you, you won't like. You need professional counseling. (Friends are a waste of time. They tell you only what they think you want to hear.) You say your husband won't go? Well, go alone. If you learn how to handle your husband, you will know more than you know now. And with luck, you can get him to go later.

If you need a shrink and can't afford one, your Family Service or Welfare Department can provide that at a price you CAN afford. Now get going, and let me hear from you in 30 days.

DEAR ABBY: I was a very happily married woman until I went to this mind reader. She told me that my husband was on drugs and also that he was unfaithful to me.

I asked my husband about this and he denied it. I want to believe my husband because we have two kids, and I don't want to break up our marriage.

Abby, why would that mind reader say something like that if it wasn't true?

I don't know what to believe. Can you help me?

MESSED UP MIND

DEAR MESSED UP: I'd believe my husband. I would also stay away from "mind readers."

DEAR ABBY: Tell me something. Do I have the right to complain?

We've been married for 14 years, and for the last ten years my husband has taken a 10-day skiing vacation without me.

I couldn't go because I had no one to leave the kids with. I took one vacation without my husband five years ago. I went to Florida for a week to visit my folks, and I took my kids with me. Some vacation!

My husband says: "Just because YOU have to stay home doesn't mean I have to."

Rah, rah, for women's lib!

ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: You made your first mistake when you stayed home with the kids while hubby took to the slopes. They're his kids too, aren't they? The squeaking wheel gets the grease, so give him three choices: (1) The whole family takes a vacation together-kids included. (2) You and hubby vacation together and farm the kids out. (3) You and hubby vacation together, and hire somebody to stay with the kids.

Fair skies cover much of nation

By The Associated Press

A storm system that dumped torrential rains on the Florida Peninsula weakened as it moved out to open sea today, but showers lingered along much of the Eastern Seaboard.

With only isolated exceptions, the rest of the nation basked in sunshine.

A disturbance building off the Mexican coast threatened to grow into the season's first tropical storm. Winds of 30 to 35 miles per hour were reported Tuesday night, just below the threshold for a tropical storm.

Florida received only scattered thundershowers overnight, including nearly an inch of rain at Miami. Tuesday, a storm system drenched the state, dumping 11.03 inches in Homosassa and 10.5 inches in Hernando, both along the Gulf coast.

Clouds and some rainfall were concentrated over the northern and Middle Atlantic coast, stretching as far inland as the eastern Great Lakes and Ohio Valley.

Cooler-than-normal temperatures prevailed from the Atlantic Coast to the northern and central Plains, with most locations in the 50s during the night.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 99 at Blythe, Calif., to 41 at Marquette County Airport, Mich.

The heaviest normal newborn child recorded in modern times was a boy weighing 24 pounds 4 ounces, born on June 3, 1961, to Mrs. Saadet Cor of Ceyhan, southern Turkey.

Ufologists insist better saucer study needed

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Earth — the "little blue planet third from the sun" — is being visited by extraterrestrial beings and has been for centuries, beings who take samples that include the living, "ufologists" say.

The ufologists—a coined word from UFO, unidentified flying object, and the suffix "ology" that means "the study of"— come from such diverse fields as quality control management in a Quincy, Ill., manufacturing plant, free-lance writing in New York City, and psychiatry in Montclair, N.J.

Eight addressed about 400 participants in last weekend's UFO Symposium centered on "a scientific assault on the UFO enigma," sponsored by the Midwest UFO Network, Inc. (MUFON).

MUFON's director, Walter H. Andrus Jr. of Quincy, Ill., described the nonprofit organization founded in 1969 as "people seriously interested in resolving the mysteries of the UFO phenomenon by combining their mutual talents, research and investigative efforts.

"Overwhelming data is available to confirm the existence of the phenomenon known as unidentified flying objects," Andrus said.

Dr. Berthold E. Schwarz, a Montclair, N.J., psychiatrist and consultant to the Brain Wave Laboratory, Essex County Hospital Center, Cedar Grove, N.J., called it "strange and regrettable that despite the millions of people who have supposedly seen UFOs, and the many who have had close encounters with them, or who might have had various highly intriguing UFO—induced biological effects and, for some, alleged experiences with entities or creatures, so few of these people-credible contactees-have been studied and reported upon by physicians."

The UFO researchers, including the Rev. Barry H. Downing, pastor of Northminister Presbyterian Church in Endwell, N.Y., and author of "The Bible and Flying Saucers," cited such Biblical incidents as the Israelites' crossing the Red Sea and Ezekial's wheel within a wheel as instances involving UFOs.

Others cited cave paintings of saucer-shaped or domed objects and related drawings as being representations of vehicles and visitors from space.

They said there are hundreds of sighting reports each year in the United States and hundreds more worldwide, that Russia has been visited many times, that landings have left traces in 700 cases from 35 countries. From the reports by those who study UFOs emerges a composite of recurrent themes:

—Of landings that leave physical traces, typically baked-appearing soil, landing gear indentations, and circular ground patterns;

—Of people who tell of having seen the UFO craft and discovering much later they can't account for half an hour or more of their time during the incident;

—Of subsequent discovery of memory blocks apparently imposed by the aliens after treating the Earthlings like laboratory specimens;

—Of recurrent headaches, nausea, sleeplessness, nightmares and such physiological symptoms as skin punctures and welts along nerve paths;

—And of severe ridicule by the communities in which those persons reside, ruining lives and health.

To a man, apparently, the researchers contend that now is the time for serious, open, indepth and open-minded investigation of the phenomena reportedly experienced by about 15 million Americans thus far, according to a November 1973 Gallup poll they often cite.

Again to a man, apparently, the researchers said they accept the proposition that the UFO are real, that some are extraterrestrial, and that some alien-to-Earthling contact apparently is real.

Proof? Well, that's another matter, they said. They agreed with the need for proof and said they'd like nothing better than the money, interest and expertise to seek it. They insist it's there to be found.

Marjorie Fish of Oak Harbor, a former elementary school teacher, reported spending six years painstakingly searching astronomical catalogs and other reference material in an attempt to match a star map drawn by a Portsmouth, N.H., woman, Betty Hill, after Mrs. Hill's reported two-hour examination aboard an alien UFO. The map was based on a star model Mrs. Hill said the aliens showed her while examining her late husband.

Now Miss Fish said she has succeeded in matching the map with reality but only by using data which first became available on Earth five years after the map was drawn.

The map, Miss Fish said, "could only have been drawn after contact with extraterrestrials."

"I stay away from the word proof," says Stanton Friedman, a Pedando Beach, Calif., nuclear physicist who now makes his living lecturing on UFOs. "But Marjorie's work is one instance in which I can use it. Marjorie would rank as one of the two most objective people I've known."

Another typical facet among the researchers' comments is that their own attitudes were disbelieving until, as Ted Phillips of Sedalia, Mo., put it, "I got into the investigations myself and I talked to the people.

"The people are the key; they are the evidence," the Missouri state highway inspector said in an interview. "You can't help but believe that something really happened to them when you talk to them."

Equally recurrent is the insistence by those who make the study is that the government is receiving and hiding key, frequent and significant reports.

Mindszenty opens Kentucky visit

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who carried on a long war against Communism by going into 15 years of self-imposed exile, arrived here Tuesday as part of a 20-city American visit.

The 82-year-old cardinal was to hold a news conference today.

He marked his arrival by officiating at a Solemn Pontifical Concelebrated High Mass Tuesday night in the Cathedral Basilica of the Assumption in Covington.

Bloomingburg resident is wed

MR. AND MRS. JAMES N. WICKERSHAM

The wedding of Miss Regina Ann Grim of Bloomingburg and James Nathan Wickersham of 155 Orange Ave., Fairhope, Ala., formerly of Westfield, N.J., took place in Fairhope in Trinity Presbyterian Church. The Rev. C.W. Owens officiated.

The new Wickersham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Grim Jr. of Bloomingburg. She was graduated from Miami Trace High School and Rio Grande College, Rio Grande, with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. She was given in marriage by David Fogg of Columbus, and Mrs. P.D. East of Fairhope was her only attendant.

Mr. Wickersham, the son of Mrs. N.R. Wickersham Jr., now of Fairhope, and the late Mr. Wickersham, was graduated from Westfield High School, Kemper Military College in Missouri, and Rio Grande College with a bachelor of science degree in biology. His brother, Stephen Wickersham of Basking Ridge, N.J., served as best man.

Mrs. H. Fred Monley of Fairhope, formerly also of Westfield, entertained at a pre-nuptial dinner as did Mrs. John W. Campbell Jr., formerly of Mountainside, N.J. A reception followed the ceremony given by the groom's mother at her home.

Out of town guests in addition to Mr. Fogg and Stephen Wickersham included David Denny of Columbus and S. Douglas McKnight of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bridal couple is on a motor trip.

WHS Class of 1924 meet for 50th reunion

The Washington High School Class of 1924 held it's 50th anniversary reunion at the LaFayette Inn on Saturday, June 22.

During the Social Hour which preceded the Buffet Supper in the Pioneer Room, the classmates and guests visited and reminisced about happy times together — either around the punch table or while viewing nostalgic schoolday exhibits. Duane Neal, the class president, had an unbelievable collection of sourvenirs, pictures and memorabilia. Vonna Bernice Hicks Adrian brought a prepared poster of early school day pictures. Berdina Chrisenberry Judge showed many of her beautiful paintings which she has done within the last ten years. There was even the taking of classmate pictures by Harold Coil, now a professional photographer. Some group pictures, planned for after the supper hour, were impossible because of the two hour electrical blackout.

Miss Verna Williams gave the Invocation before the 44 in attendance served themselves from the bountiful and delicious offerings at the buffet table.

Duane Neal, the Master of Ceremonies, introduced former teachers who were guests: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson of Washington C.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moorehead of New Concord, who later shared interesting experiences during the "50 years in Review" session. Miss Geraldine Craig reviewed the class history — with 62 graduating seniors from a freshmen class of 100. Virginia Ellies Hume read the class poem, which she had written in 1924.

The class motto was: "Build for Character and not for Fame." The table decorations carried out the Class colors (turquoise and honey) with streamers and gold 50 numerals. The yellow roses, the class flower, from the lovely table bouquets were given as favors.

Miss Verna Williams was in charge of the music. She presented the Cecilian Double Trio, of which she is a member and one of five former graduates of WHS. Mrs. Don Schwaigert arranged and accompained the trio in a medley of three tunes: When I Grow too Old to Dream, Whispering, and Margie. The members and guests then joined in a sing-a-long of selected tunes of the "Twenties" and closed with the High School Alma Mater, with Mrs. Glenn Smith playing the violin.

The class president led the "Do you remember?" session. Many experiences, most interesting and often hilarious were related. During the "Now it can be told" session, each class member shared the highlights of his or her life over the 50 year span.

A candle-lighting In Memoriam service was conducted by Duane Neal assisted by Geraldine Craig. Concluding the observance, Gwendolyn Wolfe Smith, played a violin solo, "How Great Thou Art", accompanied by Mrs. Schwaigert.

From the class of 62 members, there are now 17 deceased: Gwendolyn Baughn Crites, Vivian Baughn, Estel Boyer, Wilma Dale Browning, Clara Davis, Thelma Davis, Preston Dray, Paul Harris, Donald Jones, Opher Loveless, Celora Overstake, Alberta Roby Beasley, Ollie Rogers Moats, Mary Roush, Clara Belle Terry, Caryl Williams, and Eugene Wilson.

Attending the reunion were 24 members with their husbands, wives or guests: Janet Barger Rush and husband Fred, from Waynesville; Kathryn Barnes Painter from Georgetown; Jennie Louise Callendar King and husband Willard from Chillicothe; Norine Chaney Noble from Chillicothe; Harold Coil and wife Sadie Belle from Sterling Heights, Michigan; Geraldine Craig, Kent; and Her sister Edith Elliot of London; Warren Creamer and his wife Mary, from Orient; Berdina Crisenberry Judge and husband Eddie, from Salem; Virginia Ellis Hume, London; Raymond Flee, Dayton; Florence Lightle Haines and daughter Linda Erwin from Dayton; Vonna Bernice Hicks Adrian and husband Arthur, from Cleveland Heights; Louis Quann of Springfield, Ill., and guest Helene C. Beatty; Amy Roush Stewart and husband Robert of Monroe; Dan Stuckey and wife Martha of Sheridan, Ind.; Alvin Wilson and wife Phyllis, Dayton; Duane Neal and wife, Ann of Dayton; and Gwendolyn Wolfe Smith and husband Glenn, Chillicothe.

Those attending from the Washington C.H. community were: Donald Dray and wife Isabelle, Alfred Hagler and wife Jean, Hazel Eckle Leadbetter, Evelyn Sodders Arnold, Verna P. Williams and Lida Grace Wissler. Those living in the community and unable to attend: Dorothy Anne Jones, Thelma Lauderback Roush, Edward McRoan, Ethel A. Sheridan Dewees; Ernestine Thornton Chichester, Evelyn Hyer Bernard, Nel Mark Crook, Wilby McCoy and Pauline Coil Haines.

Miss Lida Grace Wissler read portions of the letters of regret received from Harold and Frances Martin Rodecker of Bethesda, Md.; Violet Parks Steffy (Chester) of Sharon, Pa.; Ethel M. Sheridan Dehart, Aurora, Ill.; Forrest W. Smith, Columbus, Ohio; and Kenneth Sollars, Fostoria; and Hilda Lee Coil Rine (Russell) Shawnee Mission, Kans.

No word was received from Helen Boyer Smith, Marjorie Hayworth, Matilda Stevenson or Elwood Engle, possibly due to incorrect addresses.

Young pianist in recital

Miss Cassandra Delay, piano student of Mary Richter Snyder, was presented in an invitational recital Sunday afternoon at her teacher's home on East Market Street.

The program began with Dance of the Blessed Spirits (Melody) from Gluck's opera, "Orpheus", arranged for two pianos with Mrs. Snyder at the second piano. The first half of Miss Delay's recital included J.S. Bach's Two Part Invention in F Major, Mozart's Fantasie in D Minor, Song Without Words (Tarantella) by Mendelssohn and Waltz in B Major by Brahms.

Following a short intermission, Casandra played Prelude in C Minor by Chopin, Clair de Lune by Debussy and Granados' Spanish Dance (Minueto). The recital concluded with Miss Delay's and Mrs. Snyder's performance of a two piano arrangement of Waltz from "Serenade for Strings" by Tchaikowsky. Refreshments were served to the guests after the program.

Casandra has just completed her sophomore year at the Miami Trace High School. The parents of this promising young musician are Mr. and Mrs. John Delay of Mount Sterling.

Wedding in Logan is announced here

Miss Vicki Jo Bellar and Charles Stephen Dalton were united in marriage in Immanuel United Methodist Church in Logan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elston E. Bellar of Logan, formerly of Washington C.H., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dalton, also of Logan.

The Rev. Conrad O. Diehm officiated at the vows solemnizing the double ring ceremony.

The altar was centered with an arrangement of white pompoms, pink roses and carnations. A pair of seven-branch candelabra holding glowing white cathedral candles were lighted by Terry Kline and Jim Dalton. Pews were marked with pink satin bows.

Mrs. Mabel Prather offered a program of nuptial music preceding the wedding ceremony.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of silk peau de esoie. A band of pearl studded lace extended from the neckline accenting the front of the controlled skirt. The windswept train of pink silk organza edged in pink Chantilly lace cascaded down the sides and encircled the hemline that fell from the matching French bow which added a beautiful detail. A double silk peau de soie and pink satin headpiece secured her bouffant veil of pink nylon bridal illusion of fingertip length. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of pink sweetheart roses, white carnations and pink baby breath overlay. The bouquet was completed with pink and white satin bridal streamers.

Mrs. Terry Kline, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor, and Miss Kathy Bellar, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. They wore Persian pink empire gowns with ruffled neckline and cuffs. Each wore a pink picture hat trimmed with lace-edged tiers of pink Chantilly lace and finished with a small corsage. Each carried a nosegay of pink daisies, white carnations, cornflowers and pink and white streamers.

Miss Leah Ann Wyckoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wyckoff, served as the flower girl. She wore a floor-length miniature version of the gowns woren by the attendants. Her hairpiece was a small corsage with satin pink and white streamers and she carried a pink lace flower basket of petals.

Gary Dalton of Columbus, served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Terry Kline, and Jim Dalton, cousin of the groom.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES DALTON

Mrs. Bellar chose for her daughter's wedding a formal length gown of pink doubleknit with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweet-heart roses.

Mrs. Dalton, mother of the groom, wore a formal length gown of nile green chiffon over matching taffeta and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

A reception took place at the Junior Fair Building. The bride's table held a three tier wedding cake topped with two doves and roses separated by white columns. The base of the cake was encircled with leather leaf and roses. Silver candelabra and pink tapers completed the setting.

A floral center piece centered the buffet table. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Robert White and Miss Tanya Johnson. Miss Mary Ann Kemper presided at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip, the new Mr. and Mrs. Dalton are residing in their new home at Rt. 2, Lake Logan Rd., Logan.

The bride, a graduate of Washington Senior High School and Steele Data Processing (now National Scanning Service), is employed by the Metalbestos Systems as a junior buyer.

Her husband, a graduate of Logan High School and attended Marietta College and Ohio University, is employed as a supervisor at the Logan Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party was held at the Java House, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dalton as the hosts.

Miss Aills' wedding plans are complete

Miss Jeri Sue Aills has announced final plans for her marriage to Danny Bogard. The open church wedding will be an event of 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the House of Prayer with the Rev. Glenn Williams officiating.

Miss Elaine Stookey, pianist, Mrs. Irene Smith, organist, and Mrs. Shirley Slavens, vocalist, will present the music.

Miss Aills has asked her sister, Miss Teri Lynn Aills to be maid of honor, and Miss Debbie Bogard to be bridesmaid. Jodie Pratt will be the flower girl and Lori Butcher and Robbie Pratt the Bible bearers.

Robert Pratt will serve as best man. Seating the wedding guests will be Gary Aills, Phillip Burdge, Kenneth Shingler, Merrill Butcher and Mark Aills, the junior usher.

Hostesses for the reception to follow in the church dining hall will be Mrs. Belinda Pratt, Mrs. Patty Shingler, Miss Eileen Harper, Mrs. Pearl Provost, Mrs. Meade Butcher and Mrs. Jenny Thornton.

Miss Aills is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Aills, 724 Carolyn Rd. Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Bogard, 816 E. Paint St. are the parents of the prospective groom.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Music Row. The name evokes a bucolic boulevard of country balladiers, tobacco-chewing tunesmiths, good ol' boys who came here barefoot, with no other visible means of support than a dream, and who currently drive Cadillacs.

Now Music Row, 1974, encompasses about five blocks. It's still down-home, still tree-lined, but its music and loot therefrom no longer is pure country. It's also pop, soul and jingles.

Jingles? Yeah, those 30-and 60-second radio or TV ditties that urge you to fly United, drink Miller beer, shave with Gillette and hopefully keep on truckin' in a GMC model. All were recorded here.

And though Nashville's jungle works still is small by New York or Los Angeles standards, it's growing. One union official claims work here is up "at least 100 per cent from three years ago."

He's Paul Wilder, secretary of the local American Federation of Radio and Television Artists — AFTRA — office.

Wilder, a lean, tanned man, says when he joined the local eight years ago it only had 43 members. Now it has 600, he says, and 50 per cent of them regularly announce on or sing in jingles here.

He partly attributes the growth to a local fee, set in 1970, that was so rock-bottom "we almoft gave it away. But it's also due to the wealth of talent we have, the 'sound' they get.

"Our problem was, how do you get major ad agencies to at least come see what we have here? And the answer was the local rate."

He said it only applies to commercials aired here. The far higher rate for commercials destined for national or major market broadcast is the same as in Los Angeles and New York.

"But at least it got our foot in the door," he said.

The American Federation of Musicians local, which claims 2,300 members, says at least 500 to 600 of them regularly do jingle dates under a local and national fee plan similar to that of AFTRA.

It estimates the city has 50 jingle production firms, but Music Row veterans say only about four or five of these get most of the nationally or regionally aired jingle trade.

Show biz honors 'Blonde Bombshell'

NEW YORK (AP) — Show biz gave one of its inside "loveins" for a beloved old-timer, the housekeeper-cook of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic rectory in Portsmouth, R.I.

And the housekeeper-cook— onetime Hollywood "Blonde Bombshell" Betty Hutton— kissed show biz friends Monday night and told them she loved them all, then vowed to go back to Portsmouth and her housekeeping duties as soon as possible.

"I'll never leave that place," she said in a glare of spotlights at the Empire State Building's Riverboat Restaurant in white chiffon, feathers and a warm glow from all the kisses of other old-timers.

"I've been offered open-end contracts," she added. "But this is going to be my life."

Told that the Rev. Peter McGuire, who befriended her six months ago, had described her as a marvelous and inventive cook and expressed the hope she would continue in her job at the rectory, Betty said she had no idea of leaving.

"I've found something I can do well, and I intend to keep on doing it,"she said. "I have a townful of people who love me. We go boating, we have a wonderful time. It's marvelous."

But when George Jessel came up and started talking about old times, he left Betty practically in tears. And when Eddie Bracken called from Hollywood, and she took the call onstage, the voice that said "Oh, I'm proud to hear from you" was the voice of the Betty Hutton who bounced through a dozen Hollywood musicals and became the pin-up girl of thousands of World War II GIs.

She told Bracken, "When you stopped making movies with me, things went down the tube."

Things had gone far down the tube for Betty Hutton when she ran into Father McGuire and, "broken, down and out, without a dime to my name," she accepted his offer of a job in the rectory.

House approves bill to increase veterans' benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to provide funds for 15 to 18 per cent cost-of-living increases in benefits to some 2.2 million disabled veterans.

The $179-million bill, adopted unanimously Monday, also would appropriate funds for a new program to put Veterans Administration representatives on all college campuses where there are 500 or more veterans enrolled under the GI Bill.

The bulk of the money appropriated to the VA, $100 million, would go to pay for the cost-of-living benefit hikes, to be retroactive to May 1. VA officials estimate the retroactive increases will amount to an average payment of $36 to each disabled veteran.

Ella Doss named to state panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan has appointed Ella Doss of Cleveland, a past president of the Ohio Association for Teachers of the Retarded, to a vacancy on the state Mental Health and Mental Retardation Advisory Council.

Mrs. Doss was named Monday to succeed Rodney M. Love, who resigned.

The first use of lenses to form a telescope is attributed to Roger Bacon of England, who died in 1292.

Woman hurt in city crash

A Fayette County woman has been admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital following injuries suffered in an accident at 6:52 p.m. Tuesday.

Karen Lynn Wheeler, 25, of 1062 Lewis Rd., had been driving west on Circle Avenue when she went off the right side of the road and struck a tree, just past the Main Street intersection.

Hospital officials stated her injuries amounted to a right hip and leg injury, a possible head injury and a lacerated chin. She was taken to the hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, but her present condition was not known.

Police, who are investigating the accident, stated no attempt to stop was made by Ms. Wheeler and her car was demolished.

City police were summoned to the scene of four other accidents Tuesday.

3:49 p.m. — A van driven by Robert E. Blackmore, 38, of 6358 Snowhill Rd., struck an illegally parked car owned by Carolyn J. Mallow, 33, of 1116 Washington Ave. Her car had been parked on E. Market St., in front of the Post Office, but not within the lane markings. Damage was slight to both vehicles.

3 p.m. — A rear-end collison resulted on Willard Street, near Washington Senior High School, due to wet pavement.

A car driven by Dorothy Ann Smith, 39, Sabina, struck a car driven by Linda S. Varney, 16, of 2366 Palmer Rd., doing slight damage to both vehicles. Ms. Smith was charged by police with not maintaining an assured clear distance ahead.

11:12 a.m. — A car driven by Gertrude M. Butler, 54, of 711 S. Main St., backed into a car driven by Elda S. Blessing, 73, Cincinnati, on Main Street, near the Court Street intersection.

Ms. Butler was cited by police for backing without safety. The Butler auto was slightly damaged and the Blessing car, moderately damaged.

8:37 a.m. — A car driven by Nancy D. Hodge, 17, Jeffersonville, pulled from a parking space on East Street and struck a vehicle driven by John H. Coker, 24, Louisville, Ky., while the Coker vehicle was slowing for a red light at the intersection of Main and East streets.

Damage was slight to the Hodge car and moderate to the Coker vehicle.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated an accident at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Prater was charged by investigating deputy Robert Russell, with driving while intoxicated and reckless operation.

He was reported as showing visible signs of injury, but was not treated. Prater's car was moderately damaged.

A minor accident occurred at 12:53 p.m. Tuesday, in the Mac Tool parking lot, S. Fayette St., between cars driven by Tony W. Redman, 17, of 236 Bell Ave., and George E. Salyers, 36, Rt. 2, Sheriff's Sgt. John L. Emrick reported.

Homemakers contest set here Thursday

Members of the 4-H and Future Homemakers of America clubs will demonstrate their skills in a preliminary homemaking contest at the Dayton Power and Light Co. auditorium Thursday.

Finalist from the preliminary contest will present their demonstrations at the county fair the last full week in July.

Fourteen girls will compete in the junior division competition which begins at 9:30 a.m. The girls, ages 9-12, will cover topics ranging from sewing on a button to altering a pattern.

The senior division competition will begin at 1 p.m. and will include girls from 13 through 18 years of age. Their demonstrations will cover a variety of topics, including bread-making and wood refinishing.

Demonstrations and illustrated talks play an important part in 4-H and FHA activities. Many parents, advisors and members feel that demonstrations are the best way to teach project work. Contestants gain poise and confidence by appearing as a group.

The public is invited to attend.

Realtors hear 4 candidates

Four political candidates were guest speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Fayette County Board of Realtors Monday at the Terrace Lounge.

Appearing at the meeting were Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, of Washington C.H., and Robert McEwen, both candidates for a seat in the Ohio House of Representatives this autumn; and Robert J. Mace and J.W. (Boots) Sears, county commissioner candidates.

Each candidate gave a few remarks and also responded to questions from the group.

No surplus for state, officials say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gilligan Administration officials are sticking by claims there will be no major budget surplus at the end of the fiscal year June 30.

Budget and Management Director John B. Olsen said Tuesday he sees "no reason" to change his earlier forecast of no surplus, based on figures supplied him by the revenue-collecting Department of Taxation.

Tax Commissioner Robert J. Kosydar, who heads that department, is on vacation, but an aide said June 6 predictions still stand — a $34.6 million short fall for the month of June, and $15.9 million short of estimates for the fiscal year.

Stan Spaulding, chief of communications for the department, said final figures for the fiscal year won't be available for "three or four working days" after the first of the month.

With the July 4 holiday involved, they may not be available until July 8, he added.

That's the day for the next meeting of a Senate-House conference committee seeking to work out differences on a supplemental appropriations bill.

Republicans on the six-member panel maintain the state will wind up the fiscal year with $74 million or more in extra cash, and at least one key Democrat — interested in more money for education — is listening closely.

MILBOURNE L. FLEE

Flee appointed acting manager of plant here

Robert Hall, president of the Visador Co., today announced that Milbourne L. (Pete) Flee has been named acting manager of the Coffman Stair Co. operation in Washington C.H. following the resignation of Carl Garrett.

Garrett had served as general manager of the both the Washington C.H. and Logan operations of the Coffman Stair Co. since 1967. Hall said Garrett's resignation was accepted with regret.

Flee, 913 Briar Ave., previously served as office manager at the Coffman Stair Co. operation here. He is a member of the Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees and a former member of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, serving as the board's president twice.

The Coffman Stair Co. is the Ohio Division of the Visador Co., of Jasper, Tex. The sales and administration office is located at 306 Highland Avenue, along with the window grille production. The window grille plant has 42 employes on the payroll.

Tom Rambo is the window grille production manager. Hall said Burnice Davis has been appointed as acting manager of the Logan operation. Stair parts are produced at Logan with 260 employes on the payroll.

Permit transfer sought by Kroger

The Kroger Co. has filed an application with the Ohio Department of Liquor Control to transfer its C-2 liquor permit from the Main Street location of its present location to the Clinton Avenue address of its new building.

The store wants to continue to sell high-powered beer and wine for carry-out as it does presently.

One jailed, 3 acquitted in Municipal Court cases

A Springfield man was sentenced to 30 days in jail and three other persons were found not guilty of the charges levied against them in Municipal Court hearings Tuesday.

Charles W. Townsend, 49, of Springfield, pleaded guilty to the third of three charges filed against him by city police as a result of a scuffle with Police Specialist William Robinson on June 18. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for assaulting the police officer.

The officer had been summoned to the Court House Cab Co., following an argument between Townsend and a cab driver. Townsend threatened the cab dispatcher in Robinson's presence and was told that he was under arrest. He then refused to enter the cruiser and began fighting with Robinson.

Charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest were heard last week. Townsend had been fined $300 and sentenced to 30 days in jail on those charges.

NOT GUILTY verdicts were delivered by acting Judge John P. Case in three cases which had been filed on private warrants.

After hearing from a number of witnesses and weighing all the testimony, acting Judge John P. Case found that charges of disorderly conduct and assault filed against Cynthia A. Collie, 22, of 1022 John St., had not been proven beyond a reasonable doubt. He found the defendant not guilty and dismissed the case, ordering the defendant to pay the court costs.

Glenna Haithcock, 19, of 610 McLean St., Mrs. Collie's sister, had been charged with disorderly conduct in connection with the same incident. She too was found not guilty and the case was dismissed at her cost.

The two had allegedly gone to the home of an area resident and created a disturbance, but courtroom testimony did not clearly indicate that responsibility for the disturbance rested with the defendants.

A charge of assault filed against Jacquelyn L. King, 28, of 112 E. Paint St., was dismissed and the defendant was ordered to pay the court costs after she was found not quilty.

David A. Frye, 32, of the Washington Hotel, forfeited $100 bond on a charge of intoxication.

A $25-million convention center under construction in Kansas City will more than double the city's current $30-million annual convention business volume by 1976, says Mayor Charles Wheeler.

Officers check heart attack victim; stolen car recovery

A Washington C.H. man suffered an apparent heart attack and was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital, city police reported today.

Homer Morrow, 78, of 414 E. Market St., was taken to the hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, after complaining of chest pains Tuesday.

His condition was not immediately known.

Police also reported the recovery of a stolen car belonging to Daniel Armbrust, Wagner Court.

The car was taken from the front of his residence where it had been parked sometime between Saturday and 5 p.m. Tuesday. It was recovered by Police Sgt. Charles Long, one block away, at the end of Colonial Court at 1:24 a.m. Wednesday.

No damage had been done to the auto.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an attempted gasoline theft and a successful tool theft.

A padlock on a gas tank owned by Edna Hahn, 15334 Robinson Rd., was broken off sometime between 6 p.m. Sunday and 3:20 p.m. Tuesday, but no gasoline was taken.

Thieves did abscound with a set of wrenches valued at $35, which were in a tool box sitting on a tractor parked in the Hahn barn. Investigation is continuing.

Donald Nixon claims harassment

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — F. Donald Nixon, brother of the President, says the Watergate affair and "harassment" by Senate investigators have damaged his health and left him nearly broke.

Breaking a long, self-imposed silence, he said the family was standing firm against those who were trying "to bury" the President.

Nixon, 59, made his remarks in an interview with the Los Angeles Times published Wednesday.

He spoke critically of leaks from congressional committees and said the leaks had made Watergate reporting "all onesided."

Nixon attributed the Watergate break-in to "political amateurism" and said it might not have occurred but for a "protective wall" set up around the President by top White House aides.

He also said he had asked the Secret Service to undertake surveillance of his family but had not been told when the agency began a tap of his phone.

Nixon said the President could not telephone him without creating problems. He revealed a handwritten letter from the President on White House stationery which said that a call during current investigations "would raise unfounded but inevitable questions and implications.

"I want you to know that I am enormously proud the way all of the Nixon family have stood up with such dignity through a vicious ordeal," the President wrote in the June 8 letter. "You have our respect and our love."

The President's younger brother said adverse publicity about the Nixon family had affected his work, which involved sales. He said he had been forced to quit a consulting job with a food processing firm last January and had taken early retirement as vice president of a worldwide hotel and restaurant concern.

"Real frankly, for the last full year, I could not be very effective," he said. He said his income, which was $140,000 in 1973, had dipped to a projected $36,000 this year.

He said his home is heavily mortgaged and he has accrued thousands of dollars of debts, including legal fees, to defend himself. Senate investigators last April tried to link the $100,000 campaign contribution entrusted to C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo to a purchase of 10,000 shares of stock by Nixon in a firm that builds modular homes.

Principals meet held in Columbus

Principal Curtis E. Fleisher, of Miami Trace High School is attending the annual summer conference of the Ohio Association of Secondary School Principals in Columbus. The meeting is being held on the Ohio State University campus June 24-26.

The program features Dr. Bruce Cooper, University of Pennsylvania, with a keynote address on "Alternatives to Secondary Education". Later sessions covered new concepts in career education, junior high and middle school alternatives and a report from the National Commission on Reform of Secondary Education.

Arnold R. Pinkney, president of the Cleveland Board of Education, addressed the banquet session on "Public School Problems and Solutions." In the closing session Glenn A. Olds, president of Kent State University, will discuss, "Trends in Secondary School Education."

Approximately 150 secondary school principals and assistants are attending the annual in-service refresher training sessions. Richard Vale, principal of Ford Junior High School, Berea, was installed as the OASSP President for 1974-75.

Slow down drugs given too freely?

CHICAGO (AP) — About twice as many children are being given drugs for hyperactivity as should be, says an Ohio researcher.

He says the drugs are administered for the benefit of teachers and parents who simply want to control unruly children.

The researcher, Dr. Herbert E. Rie, told said Tuesday at the American Medical Association's annual meeting children who have not been thoroughly examined are being labeled hyperactive.

The diagnosis, and prescription of drugs, is being made on the basis of parents' and teachers' reports and superficial examination, he claimed.

Rie, professor of pediatrics and psychology at Ohio State University, told newsmen later that about 4 per cent of children are deemed hyperactive, while probably only 2 per cent actually are, based on thorough neurological and psychological examinations.

A child's agitated behavior may grow out of environmental and not neurological conditions, he said.

"It is my impression that the physician often relies upon parental or school complaints as the primary basis for his diagnosis of hyperactivity," Rie said. "Kids whom people don't tolerate for many reasons are given this label."

Stimulant medications, which have the effect of making children more tranquil, have been considered to make children more attentive and thereby enable them to learn more.

But Rie said just because they're quiet doesn't mean they're learning any more. Studies at Ohio State have shown learning is not increased, he added.

Rie said that paradoxically, underachieving children who are disruptive receive attention and special help, but after they are drugged into submission they are ignored because they are quiet.

He said hyperactivity may camouflage a child's other problems and treating this behavior alone may be inadequate. He said children should be evaluated for learning difficulties or emotional problems so that these problems might be treated if they are the cause of the child's difficulties.

Rip Rhodes financial reporting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eugene P. O'Grady, campaign manager for Democratic Gov. John Gilligan, said Tuesday the campaign financial reports filed by Republican gubernatorial candidate James A. Rhodes were "mind-boggling."

O'Grady said in a statement the reports filed by the former governor's two campaign committees were "an outrageous circumvention of the spirit of campaign financing reform."

"Today, the people want to know where a candidate gets his money and they have a right to such information and he (Rhodes) is just thumbing his nose at them," he said.

O'Grady said he was "absolutely aghast" at the Rhodes filing which listed $158,864 as blanket income from ticket sales under $25.

"At $25 a ticket, that's more than 6,300 undisclosed contributors," he said.

"That listing and the transfer of funds and loans and employes' salaries between the two fund-raising committees makes the report mind-boggling," he said.

Sagar 'Lion of the Year'

Gene Sagar, 116 Gardner Court, was named "Lion of the Year" during the regular semi-monthly dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Lions Club Tuesday night in the Country Club.

The selection of Sagar for the coveted award highlighted the meeting, in which new officers and directors for the 1974-75 year were officially installed and a number of other awards were doled out.

SAGAR, a past president of the Washington C.H. Lions Club, was named the winner of the award because of the humorous entertainment and frivolity he constantly provides at each meeting in serving in the capacity of the club's tail twister. He was named as the top tail twister in the district this year.

It was the second presentation of the award. John Breiner, a privileged member of the club, won the first "Lion of the Year" award in 1971-1972. Serving of the selection committee for the award were James Polk, George W. (Bud) Naylor, Bart Mahoney and Wesley Cox.

Lion District Governor Richard W. Turner, of Gallipolis, served as the installing officer. Turner explained the duties of each office to the individual officers. The new officers will take over in July.

Ralph Cook succeeds David Looker as club president. Other officers are Richard W. Coates, first vice president; Jesse L. Persinger Jr., second vice president; Naylor, third vice president; Sagar, tail twister; Benjamin J. Roby, secretary; William Lucas, assistant secretary; Polk, treasurer; Harold H. Thompson, assistant treasurer, and David Boswell, Lion tamer.

Looker, as immediate past president, automatically becomes a member of the board of directors. Other directors are Paul V. Johnson, Howard W. McDonald, Larry Lehman and Cox.

Cook took over the gavel from Looker during routine ceremonies. The new club president announced that only one regular meeting would be held in July. Club members will be selling harness race, demolition derby and tractor pull programs at the Fayette County Fair, Cook said. In the past, the Lions have sold only harness race programs at the Fair. He also said only one meeting would be held in August since a stag party would be held during that month at Rocky Fork Lake. Cook also said the light bulb sale would be held in September.

The new president presented Looker with a past president's pin and an engraved gold plaque with a mounted gavel and a portable AM-FM radio.

Looker presented pins to Cox, the club's retiring secretary, and Wiley Witherspoon, the retiring treasurer. He also presented certificates to seven special project chairmen. Receiving the awards were Coates and Cox, co-chairmen of the race program project; Witherspoon, chairman of the light bulb sales project; Johnson and Lehman, co-chairmen of the annual variety show; Clarence Hackett, chairman of the gum ball machine project, and R. B. (Bud) Tharp, club bulletin editor.

COX PRESENTED chevrons to nine members, marking their long memberships in the club. They were Coates, 10 years; Bart Mahoney, 15 years; Richard R. Willis, 20 years; Breiner, 25 years; Andrew Loudner, 35 years, and J. Roush Burton, Fred Enslen, L.F. (Skeet) Everhart and Tharp, all 40 years.

The 79 members attending the meeting also learned that membership fees are due in July. Members were also urged to assist in completing the Babe Ruth League ticket drive. The Lions Club contributed $500 toward the support of the youth baseball program this year.

Club member Elmer Reed presented slides of the club's annual variety show held in April.

City Council to consider 2 pieces of legislation

Two pieces of legislation appear on the agenda for members of Washington C. H. City Council at their regular semi-monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford said Council members will place on second reading an ordinance to accept the application for the annexation of an 0.94-acre tract of land in Union Township into Washington C. H.

A RESOLUTION confirming the appointment of Dana Hyer to the Washington C. H. Zoning Board of Appeals to fill the unexpired term of Carl Elberfeld will also be considered by Council members.

Wolford said the city has received two notices of application dealing with liquor permits which will be reviewed by Council Wednesday night.

The Kroger Co., 548 Clinton Ave., has applied for the transfer of a C-2 liquor permit, and Washington Beverage Centers, Inc., doing business as the Sagar Dairy Depot, 1302 Washington Ave., has submitted an application for a new C-2 permit.

McGuire-McGuire marriage brings reception confusion

ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — After Marianne McGuire weds July 6 she won't have to worry about changing the name on her credit cards or driver's license, and it's not because of a breakthrough on the women's liberation front.

Marianne, 22, is marrying another McGuire, Roger.

Last name introductions shouldn't present a problem for family and friends at the marriage and a banquet to follow, but first name introductions will be something else.

Ten of the 15 persons in the bridal party are named McGuire, and the invited guest list is one McGuire after another.

James E. McGuire and his wife, Rosemary, parents of Marianne, have seven children. James R. McGuire and his wife, Margaret Mary, parents of Roger, have six children.

In addition, there are several duplications of first names across both families.

Roger's brother Kevin and Marianne's brother Kevin are both 19 and members of the bridal party. Roger has a sister who has the same name as his bride, and his bride has a sister with the same name as Roger's mother.

Confusing?

"When you begin to get into nieces and nephews, it really gets ridiculous," said James E. McGuire.

He said he enjoyed a few chuckles over mailing wedding invitations which read: "James E. McGuire and James R. McGuire request your presence at the marriage of their children, Marianne, Therese and Roger Stephen ....."

"I'm sure a lot of people thought it was a misprint," he said.

And as for his future son-in-law, McGuire says, "What more can you want? He's of good moral fiber, good character and —he has a good name."

Friday deadline slated for OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Applications for fall quarter freshman and sophomore classes at Ohio State University Columbus campus will not be accepted after Friday, administrators have announced.

OSU President Harold L. Enarson, said Monday the university had planned to accept only 7,500 new freshmen. He said as of June 21, 11,825 applications were on file.

Said Enarson: "We operate under a state statute limiting our enrollment, and it would be unfair to our students to admit more persons than our resources will allow us to provide with a quality program of instruction."

Lion gets loose at Kings Island

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— Kings Island officials theorize a lion that escaped from the first of two restraining compounds Tuesday night may have leaped on a monorail track and "tightroped" its way along the track to a degree of freedom.

The lion presented no threat to visitors at the amusement park, officials said.

The animal was detected before it could find a way out of the outer fence built to foil such escapes.

The lion is part of the park's Lion Country Safari.

Crosby new president

Grover turns over gavel during Rotary Club meet

Washington C.H. Rotary Club president Phil Grover officially turned the gavel over to Paul Crosby during the club's regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

The installation of Crosby as the new Rotary Club president highlighted a number of traditional routines staged by club members during the meeting.

Grover reviewed the club's year of activities and compared goals he established when installed as president last July with what was actually accomplished during the year.

The retiring club president said in a considerable number of cases he felt the club reached its goals, but he also mentioned some which could have been improved.

Grover expressed his appreciation to club members for their cooperation throughout the year. He singled out members of the board of directors and presented each of them with key chains with the Rotary emblem. He also thanked Mrs. Ralph Yerian, the club pianist, and Elton Rhoad, who opens each meeting with a thought for the day.

THE RETIRING club president presented Crosby with a fancy timer so that he will know when to close the meetings and a ball point pen set for his assistance as vice president.

Fred L. Domenico, the 1973-74 immediate past president, presented a plaque and engraved gavel to Grover.

Other club officers are Bill Williams, vice president; Dr. George Pommert, secretary; Jack Alkire, treasurer; Ronald Ratliff, Gingersnap editor; David Ogan, assistant Gingersnap editor, and James Hanawalt, sergeant-at-arms. Grover will continue to serve on the board as immediate past president.

Following tradition, Judge Rollo M. Marchant gave the charge to nine new club members. During the ceremony Judge Marchant paid a special tribute to the late Ray Maddux, who devised the charge a number of years ago while he was a member of the club.

New members this year are Dwight Morner, Phil Mosley, Glenn McCoy, James Dunn, Jack Cartwright, Steve Yambor, Glenn Hemsworth, the Rev. Mark Dove and Robert Simpson.

Visiting Rotarians were Don Goodwin, president of the Blanchester Rotary Club, Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Ottie Hockman, Gene Garrison and George Gerhardt, all of Mount Sterling.

CHANGING OF THE GUARD — Paul Crosby, left, accepts the gavel from retiring Washington C.H. Rotary Club president Phil Grover during ceremonies held at the club's regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club. Crosby, who served as the club's vice president during the past year, was elevated to the presidency during the meeting. Grover will continue to serve on the Rotary Club's board of directors as immediate past president.

Escapee nabbed for 2nd time

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old prisoner at the Cincinnati Community Corrections Institute faces new charges after escaping from custody twice in 12 hours.

Police said Chalmer Jones escaped the workhouse bakery Monday night, but was captured quickly along Interstate 75.

Shortly after appearing before court Tuesday morning, he escaped again. He was apprehended two blocks away.

Kissinger to meet with Pope Paul VI

ROME (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger probably will meet with Pope Paul VI during a two-day visit to Italy beginning July 5, the foreign ministry has announced. The announcement was made Tuesday. Officials said Kissinger was making the visit to Italy at the request of Italian Foreign Minister Aldo Moro.

County CAC receives summer program grant

COLUMBUS—Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan today announced the award of $48,586 in federal manpower revenue sharing funds to the Fayette County Community Action Commission for summer youth program.

The grant is one of the first to be awarded under the recently enacted Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA).

The funds will provide salaries for disadvantaged youth ages 14-22 participating in work experience programs as well as funds for work-related services such as medical examinations, transportation to work sites and counseling. The Community Action Commission will operate programs in Fayette County.

The grant is one of 27 grants totaling more than $3.4 million which will provide summer youth programs in 62 "balance-of-state" counties in Ohio.

Under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, units of government or combinations of units of government may become "prime sponsors" and request manpower revenue sharing funds. Units of government choosing not to become "prime sponsors" are part of the "balance-of-state" area with the state as the "prime sponsor." The state then contracts with the areas to deliver manpower services. There are 64 counties in the "balance-of-state."

The grants for summer youth programs represent at least 95 per cent of the amount of funds counties received last summer for youth programs. The amount of the grant was determined under a formula devised by the Manpower Development Division of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Celina power plant set for experiment

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A municipal power plant in Celina apparently will be the site of a federal government experiment with a pollution-free method of burning high-sulfur coal, the first such project ever conducted outside of Russia.

The technique, called magneto hydrodynamics, reportedly would eliminate sulfur dioxide emissions, the target of stricter anti-pollution standards for utilities.

The Celina plant has been deactivated because the use of low-sulfur coal to generate electricity has become uneconomical, according to Gerrold Degler, senior engineer at Dayton's Systems Research Laboratories, one of several firms planning to bid for the contract for the pilot project.

Degler said only a small five-megawatt system is planned at Celina. It would be merely experimental and not put into actual use, he explained.

"The objective would be to optimize all the various components in MHD generation and prove how they work together as an integrated system," he said.

Degler said it probably will be another 10 years before the system is put to widespread commercial use.

Systems Research has been developing the magneto hydrodynamics power generation technique for five years under a contract with the air propulsion laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, according to Degler.

He said the system increases power emissions by 50 per cent for every ton of coal burned.

An element such as potassium is injected to make combustion gases electrically conductive, he said. The potassium combines with the sulfur as potassium sulfate and precipitates out, he explained.

Then they are separated and the potassium can be recycled and the sulfur sold.

Degler said this project is just the first step in a national development program for the technique. Next will come a 50-megawatt pilot plant and then a 300-megawatt demonstration plant, he said.

Degler predicted that the federal government will spend up to $300 million on the program in the next decade.

He said the Interior Department's Office of Coal Research is expected to call for bids on the five-megawatt project in the next couple of months.

Sandusky man faces sentence for murder

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Roy Smith, 27, of Sandusky, was convicted of second-degree murder Tuesday and sentenced to serve 15 years to life in prison.

An Erie County jury found Smith guilty of the January 1973 shooting death of David Bales, 35, a Bloomington, Ind., photographer, at a Sandusky shopping center parking lot.

Jury indictment waived by woman

A former office employe of the Buckeye Mart Store in the Washington Square Shopping Center has waived her right to indictment by the grand jury and has consented to prosecution on a bill of information on a charge of embezzlement.

Dianne Jackson, 25, of 624 Gibbs Ave., waived indictment in a hearing in Fayette County Common Pleas Court in concurrance with her attorney, Robert Renshaw, of Springfield.

She is charged with embezzling money, merchandise and money orders from the Buckeye Mart Store during her employment.

Columbus man sues WFL Chicago team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Byron C. McCane of Columbus filed a $12 million damage suit in federal court against the Chicago Fire of the World Football League, claiming his reputation was injured when the team canceled his contract.

McCane said he agreed early this year to a $10,500 annual contract to play for the team and expected to report to training camp this month. But the team notified him in May, McCane said, that his contract had been canceled.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, JUNE 27

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Planetary influences only mildly auspicious. Pursue a cautious but flexible course. View things in their true perspective — not as you would like them to be.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Don't overtax yourself now. No matter how busy, MAKE some time for a quiet review of your present status. A new appraisal needed.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Make the most of any good ideas you have and, if need be, enlist the help of others in putting them across. Favorable Mercury influences!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Brace yourself for some opposition. Prepared, you can cope with it more easily, even outwit it.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Adjustments, revisions, unexpected situations will be the order of the day. Take all in stride and channel energies judicially. Some news from afar in the p.m.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Personal matters may trouble you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Expect some obstacles, even setbacks, as you aim toward cherished goals. Consistent effort eventually makes its own "breaks." If calm, you can handle unexpected situations astutely.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Be careful of the way in which you make your moves, whom you include in your plans — and confidences. Wrong decisions could snarl your success pattern.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Not all that transpires will please you, but some of the situations you don't like will actually prove fortunate in the long run. So-o-o? Adapt!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Step lightly with measured gait. There may be a few delicate spots, perhaps a detour you can take. Just don't blindly crash through ANY situation.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Many problems which have been bothering you may be resolved now. Good deeds of the past may also pay off. It should be a very happy day.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Direct your enthusiasm for worthy causes into progressive channels. You may have to revise previous plans, however. Especially favored now: travel, outdoor interests.

YOU BORN TODAY are conservative, philosophical and extremely practical, with a deep respect for tradition, heritage and culture. Despite a strong leaning toward the scientific, you are also interested in music and art — and may take up either as an avocation. You are a born homebody but must learn to curb overpossessiveness with those near and dear to you. You are outstandingly articulate in speech and could make a good go of politics, statesmanship or diplomacy. Writing would also be an excellent outlet for your talents. Other fields in which you could succeed: teaching, medicine, archeology. Try to bolster your self-confidence. A tendency to doubt your abilities could prove a hindrance to success.

Tangled custody fight continues

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Three boys at the center of a two-state struggle for custody by their parents have been surrendered to Florida after officials agreed not to prosecute their father for child stealing.

John S. Slater, 33, of Oakley, Ohio, near Cincinnati, turned over his three sons, ages 8, 10, and 11, Monday to the Leon County Juvenile Court which placed them in the county's emergency shelter pending a custody hearing July 15.

The youngsters are the subject of a dispute between Slater and his first wife, Judith Ann Slater Holland, 28, of Tallahassee.

Florida law prohibits publication of the children's names.

Slater and his second wife, Pauline, voluntarily brought the children to Tallahassee to turn them over to Florida authorities as part of an agreement reached in an extradition hearing in Ohio.

At Monday's hearing, Asst. State Atty. Frank Amatea said Florida would not prosecute Slater for taking the children from Mrs. Holland in Tallahassee last December.

The state had begun extradition proceedings against Slater, but dropped them when he agreed to bring the children to Tallahassee.

Under an agreement reached in an Ohio court, the children were to be placed in a neutral setting pending outcome of the dispute, and Leon County Circuit Judge James Joanos was to withdraw from the case.

But Ken Davis, Slater's Tallahassee attorney, asked Joanos Monday to stay on the case.

A settlement of the custody dispute — which has brought accusations of child stealing from both sides — is expected July 15 in the hearing before Joanos.

The three boys were living with Mrs. Holland and her husband, James W. Holland III, 26, a sophomore at Florida State University last December, when Slater drove down from Ohio and took the boys home with him.

Slater was awarded custody of their five children — four boys and a daughter — when they were divorced in 1970. He took the children to Cincinnati but allowed them to visit his ex-wife in 1971.

Slater said he didn't see the children again until May, 1973, when he found them in Florida and took them back to Cincinnati.

Slater said his former wife picked the three boys up from a Cincinnati street in Nov., 1973, and brought them to Florida on Dec. 4. Mrs. Holland was granted temporary custody of the children.

On Dec. 17 Slater came to Tallahassee, got the children and returned to Cincinnati.

The state of Florida issued a warrant for his arrest and began extradition proceedings.

Hearing scheduled on discrimination

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A hearing has been scheduled July 5 on a federal court suit claiming the right of girls to play in Cincinnati's Knothole Club baseball league.

Pauletta Ann Sprague and her mother, Sophie Hines, contend in the suit filed Monday that the 10-year-old was barred from playing because of her sex.

4 in ag hall of fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie has announced that four persons, two living and two dead, have been selected for induction in the Ohio Agriculture Hall of Fame this year.

Induction ceremonies will be held Aug. 23 at the State Fairgrounds.

The living recipients are Lewis C. Chadwick of Columbus, a retired professor of horticulture at Ohio State University, and Earl W. McMunn of Dublin, former editor of the Ohio Farmer magazine and past president of the American Agriculture Editors Association.

To be honored posthumously are John A. Davis of Hamilton, a dairy farmer who was both president and a director of the Cooperative Pure Milk Association of Cincinnati, and Douglas R. Stanfield of Westerville, who was executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation for 13 years.

Astros nipped 3-2

Slumping Reds lead win

HOUSTON (AP) — All the Cincinnati Redleg slumpers united in the Astrodome Tuesday night against the Houston Astros.

Jack Billingham hadn't won a game since May 25. Johnny Bench was 0-for-24. Cesar Geronimo was 0-11. Dan Driessen had missed five days with an injury.

So Billingham beat the Astros 3-2 in a game where Bench, Driessen and Geronimo each provided run-scoring hits in a decisive seventh inning.

A run-scoring single by Astros catcher Milt May in the fourth and Cesar Cedeno's solo homer in the ninth were the only damaging blows the Astros managed against Billingham, who increased his record to 7-6.

"I haven't had good speed most of this year," Billingham said. "It's a strange feeling never to have had an arm injury and then suddenly not be able to throw. I had a good curve in the first three or four innings and then it flattened out and dropped down."

Billingham, who suffered a tendon pull early in the season dueled Houston's Larry Dierker through 6½ innings until the Reds slumpers all broke out at once in the top of the seventh.

Geronimo led off with a homer over the rightfield fence and Joe Morgan followed with his second walk of the game. Bench then drove him home with a double and Briessen scored Bench with a single.

"I guess I felt like it was coming," said Dierker. "You go along pitching zeros with everything going just right. Then when it breaks loose it all happens at once."

Dierker, now 5-4, was going for his fourth straight victory, all close decisions.

"I can't remember when Larry has had a comfortable lead," Houston Manager Preston Gomez said. "It seems we can't get Larry any runs."

Billingham left the game in the bottom of the ninth after serving up the homer to Cedeno and a followup single to Bob Watson. Clay Carroll finished the game extending his scoreless inning streak to 12.

The wind was just right for Steve Renko. The sudden breezes that Larry Dierker felt were caused by the baseballs whizzing past him.

"Renko is a great breaking ball pitcher when the wind is blowing from right field to left as it was tonight," said Montreal Manager Gene Mauch after Renko hurled a one-hitter that gave the Expos a 5-0 victory over Philadelphia.

In Tuesday's other National League games, New York beat Chicago 5-1, San Diego defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1 and St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7.

"This has got to be my best game so far this season," understated Renko, who wound up with the third one-hitter of his six-year career in the majors. The other two came a month apart, against San Francisco and Philadelphia in 1971.

He gave up only a one-out sixth-inning single by Dave Cash, a pitch punched into right field. "He hit a curve ball," said Renko. "I jammed him with it. He didn't hit it that well."

Mets 5, Cubs 1

Jerry Koosman pitched a four-hitter and Ed Kranepool gave him the big hit he needed, a three-run homer in the third inning, to lead the Mets past the Cubs.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Dave Rader's error at the plate let San Diego's first run in the seventh inning, then Bobby Tolan singled home two more to send the Giants down to their 16th loss in 19 games.

Dodgers 2, Braves 1

Steve Garvey and Ron Cey singled home ninth-inning runs to shove Los Angeles over the Braves. The victory went to Mike Marshall, the hard-working reliever who has won the Dodgers' last four triumphs to boost his record to 8-3.

Cards 8, Pirates 7

Ken Reitz singled in the eighth inning, Mike Tyson doubled him home, then Lou Brock singled Tyson in with the winner, overcoming a four-run Pittsburgh burst in the top of the inning and pushing the Cards not only past the Pirates but past Philadelphia as well—and into first place in the East by one slim percentage point.

Old champs head Western field

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — A new course and a couple of old champions are the key attractions in the $200,000 Western Open golf tournament.

Billy Casper, 43, and Arnold Palmer, 44, are the old masters heading the 144-man field for Thursday's start of this, one of the oldest, most venerable of the tour stops.

The new course is the 7,002-yard, par-71 ultratough layout at Butler National Golf Club in the Chicago suburbs which is the pros are tackling for the first time.

It will be the permanent site for the Western, which has skipped from place to place since its inception in 1899.

"From what I've seen," Casper said after an abbreviated practice round over the wooded, hilly layout, "this is the second toughest course I've ever played."

The toughest was Winged Foot, site of the U.S. Open two weeks ago. A seven-over-par score won there. The winner was over par last week in the American Golf Classic at Akron, Ohio, and this could be the third in a row in plus-par figures.

"An over-par score very easily could win here," said Casper, a four-time Western winner and the defending champion in the 72-hole chase for the $40,000 first prize.

Perhaps the most cogent comment came from tour veteran Butch Baird after his first practice round.

"I lost four balls, my hat and my dignity," Baird said.

Palmer usually plays the tough courses very well and could find the strengths of Butler National to his advantage in his efforts to break a long, winless string. His best showing of the year was in the Masters. He challenged for the Open title at Winged Foot and had a 69, best score of the day, in the final round at Akron last week.

"That helped a little," he said. "It's getting a little better."

Ticket sales booming for WFL's premier

Buying a World Football League season ticket is a little like buying a pigskin in a poke.

But with the July 10 starting date for the new league drawing nearer, the prospect that fans will end up holding an empty bag grows less.

And as the league gains credence, it also gains sales.

The Honolulu Hawaiians say they have sold nearly 7,000 season tickets and hope to boost the figure to 12,000-15,000.

The big sales boost could be the WFL's first appearance on television.

"Fans just want to see that we're for real," said Stu Zanville, the Hawaiians' administrative director. "They want to make sure we really exist before putting out any money."

Most of the 5,000 season tickets and about 80 per cent of the 16,000 tickets sold for the Detroit Wheels' first home game has come in the past three weeks "since we announced our schedule," said Brian Rekiel, team promotion manager.

He said about 70 per cent of season tickets have been sold to companies in blocks of four.

The Chicago Fire is stoking its publicity flame even before the season gets underway, in hopes of reaching 20,000 season ticket holders to fill the 55,700-seat Soldier Field.

"We're close to leading the league in ticket sales," said owner Tom Origer, who said he has spent between $1 million and $1.25 million so far in hopes of keeping losses to around $500,000. "We've done a pretty good job of organizing all the way around, so I think we'll lose maybe only half of the $1 million most of the other clubs may lose this season."

The Houston Texans also have hired a sales force. The result has been more than 4,000 season tickets and a "super" reception, say team officials.

Larry Hatfield, president of the California Sun, reports he is "pleasantly surprised" by the 17,511 season tickets sold through June 18, while officials of the Memphis Southmen report they are pleased by the 5,000 season tickets sold in four weeks.

The Jacksonville Sharks have had to cope with some of the league's early traumas; when the Florida Blazers moved to Orlando from Virginia, the Sharks refunded money to 5,000 persons of the 18,000 who had bought tickets to see the Sharks.

Owner Fran Monaco says Sharks ticket sales have reapproached 18,000. They will play in the 70,000-seat Gator Bowl.

Meanwhile, the Blazers have sold about 1,500 season tickets so far for the 27,912-seat Tangerine Bowl.

The New York Stars have sold 9,000-10,000 season tickets to fill the 21,857-seat Downing Stadium, and Birmingham reports about 7,100 season tickets. Philadelphia and Memphis have sold about 5,000, while the Portland Storm has passed the 4,000 mark in season ticket sales.

Ken Norton tops Kirkman

SEATTLE (AP) — Ken Norton, the fifth-ranked heavyweight who had tired Boone Kirkman flat on his back at the end of the seventh round, said part of his strategy was to get the Renton, Wash., fighter early.

The first couple of rounds I just wanted to see what he was going to do—let him burn up his energy," said Norton, who was awarded an eight-round technical knockout when Kirkman was unable to answer the bell Tuesday night.

The 10th-ranked Kirkman agreed that he just ran out of steam. "I felt strong the first couple of rounds," he said, "but then the gas gave out. I might have overtrained. I just blew it."

"He wasn't fast enough," said Norton of his shorter, lighter and older opponent. "He was easy to hit. I knew I could get to him anytime."

NFL talks to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Football League owners and players meet at the bargaining table again today in an effort to get some movement in their contract talks, something they haven't been able to do since the players' union made its demands last March 16.

After a six-hour, often-heated session Tuesday, federal mediator James Scearce said he was trying to be optimistic, "but there are tremendous differences between the parties."

No compromise was reached during the meeting on any of the 63 demands made by the NFL Players Association, an indication there will be a strike next Monday.

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining agent, said: "We're still optimistic that we can avoid trouble before it really counts—and that's early in July."

The San Diego Chargers open their training camp July 3, first of the 26 NFL teams to call their players together. The first game scheduled is the July 26 nationally televised exhibition between the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins and the College All-Stars in Chicago.

Tuesday's meeting between the two parties was the first since talks broke down June 13 in New York and was called by Scearce. Another is scheduled for Thursday. The mediator said he would like to keep the two sides together through the weekend if there is any hope for resolution.

Thompson said the owners brought to Tuesday's meeting several new offers in the areas of insurance and pensions.

Bill Curry of Houston, union president, described the offers as "a 50 per cent decrease from what we got in 1970," considering inflation and other economic factors.

There was no discussion of the so-called "freedom issues," including the reserve and option clauses, the crux of the 63 items the union has demanded of management, although there were indications they might come up today.

Cuellar banished in Orioles' loss

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Like American League batters, umpire Russ Goetz had trouble handling Oriole pitcher Mike Cuellar. But unlike the hitters, Goetz knocked him out of a game.

It wasn't easy.

Cuellar, the screwball-throwing lefthander, was gunning for his 10th straight victory when he ran into his own wildness and then the long arm of the law.

Cuellar walked Jim Northrup to force in Detroit's second run in the third inning. Only Cuellar didn't see it the same way home plate umpire Goetz did.

"I told him he couldn't see nothing," said Cuellar.

Goetz told Cuellar he couldn't see the game anymore—at least as an active participant. He booted Cuellar out of the game.

Or so he thought.

The next inning, the banished Cuellar still hadn't vanished. He came out to pitch. It seems his manager, Earl Weaver— also tossed out of the game—wasn't willing to give Cuellar the night off.

As it turned out, the Tigers' Mickey Lolich gave all the Orioles the night off. The durable Detroit left-hander struck out nine and limited the Orioles to seven hits in pitching his 11th straight complete game, a 2-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Texas Rangers dropped the Minnesota Twins 7-3; the Chicago White Sox outlasted the Kansas City Royals 10-9 in 12 innings, and the Oakland A's whipped the California Angels 6-1. The Cleveland Indians-New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Brewers-Boston Red Sox games were rained out.

After Goetz threatened to forfeit the game when Weaver sent Cuellar back out to pitch, Goetz and the third base umpire finally convinced Cuellar to leave.

Rangers 7, Twins 3

Rookie Mike Hargrove singled home the go-ahead run in the fourth inning and doubled home another in a three-run sixth to give Ferguson Jenkins and Texas a victory.

White Sox 10, Royals 9, 12 innings

Bill Melton slugged a home run in a four-run sixth inning, then broke a tie with a runscoring grounder in the 12th, giving Chicago its victory over Kansas City.

A's 6, Angels 1

Jim "Catfish" Hunter scattered nine hits to gain his 10th victory of the season.

Chris Evert begins quest at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chris Evert, the 19-year-old No. 2 seed from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., bids for one of 32 spots in the women's singles at Wimbledon today on a recipe of at least 10 hours sleep a night.

That's the strategy for victory of Miss Evert's mother, Colette, as this fiesta of tennis enters its third day with many of the world's top players complaining of "too much" and "too little."

The stars say they are tired from an exhausting schedule of too much tennis and too little practice on fast grass courts.

Despite the groans, there have been no major surprises. Billie Jean King, defending champion and top seed seeking a sixth title, opened the women's events Tuesday with a smooth 6-1, 6-1 victory Kathy May, 18, of California.

In the men's singles, veteran Ken Rosewall of Australia and Tom Gorman of Seattle are safely through to the third round.

Referee Mike Gibson said he hoped to get all remaining 10 men's seeds and five women's seeds through their secondround matches by the time play finished today.

"My girls must have rest," insisted Mrs. Evert, chaperoning daughters Chris, who has won the Italian and French championships so far this year, and 16-year-old Jeanne. "Ideally, it's at least 10 hours a night for a championship like Wimbledon, a good 10 hours."

Tug-of-war slated

Washington Court House Jaycees will be sponsoring a tug-of-war contest at the Annual Jaycees Fourth of July Celebration, which will be held at the Fayette County Fairgrounds. The winning five-man team will receive a cash prize of $200.

Any team wishing to enter must contact Dale Butler, 335-5424, or John Thomas, 335-0222, by July 3. The entry fee is $25 per team.

Fish resources are limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Far from having a limitless resource in the sea, the world is nearing the limit of its fishery possibilities, says Dr. Robert M. White, chief of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. To provide enough fish now and to insure conservation for the future, he asserts, there must be cooperation on the state, federal and international levels.

Corn planting still delayed due to rains

WASHINGTON (AP) — A familiar pattern of delayed planting in the Corn Belt persists, with 5 per cent of the acreage remaining to be planted in Illinois and Indiana, says the Agriculture Department.

Most corn has emerged in Iowa but heavy rains and erosion have cut into stands in parts of the state, the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather report. It followed a special report on Monday showing the 1974 corn crop nationally will be down nearly 300 million bushels from earlier indications.

Moreover, the weather report said, corn development varies widely throughout the Midwest, from newly emerged seedlings to plants seven inches high in Michigan and Indiana; 15 inches in Ohio; and up to three feet in southern Nebraska.

Farmers began catching up rapidly on soybean planting last week, the report said, with about 81 per cent of the crop planted in the Corn Belt, compared with 85 per cent last year on June 23 and 93 per cent normally.

The wheat harvest gained last week and moved ahead of normal in much of the southern Great Plains. The report said the Texas harvest was 86 per cent finished by last weekend, about double the progress of last year. Oklahoma farmers were winding up, and in Kansas 35 per cent of the crop was cut by last Sunday.

Cotton farmers in Texas moved to 94 per cent completion in planting their 1974 crop last week, behind a year-earlier pace of 99 per cent, the report said.

Opening lead - queen of diamonds.

So far as winning is concerned, there is no difference between making a contract on its merits, because you have the necessary values, and making a contract because your opponents err.

It is certainly common knowledge that declarer makes a lot of hands as a result of defensive errors. Naturally, anything he can do to induce such an error is a step in the right direction.

West leads a diamond against four spades. Declarer sees four losers — a heart, two diamonds and a club — and must try to salvage one of them.

If the defenders could see South's hand, they would surely stop the contract. But since declarer's assets and liabilities are normally concealed from the prying eyes of the defenders, declarer can often trade upon this advantage.

South's best method of play is to win the diamond and return a low heart. East follows low and the jack loses to the ace. The defenders thereupon cash two diamonds and switch to a club.

Declarer wins with the king, draws trumps ending in dummy, and plays the queen of hearts. This traps East's king and South disposes of his club loser on one of dummy's hearts.

The only way East can foil declarer is by playing the king when the three of hearts is led from dummy at trick two. However, going up with the king of hearts is a whole lot easier when you see all four hands than when you see only the East hand and dummy. The plain unvarnished fact is that not many players would rise to the occasion and, in any case, nothing is lost by putting East to the test.

Note that declarer makes his move as soon as possible — without drawing trumps and without giving the defense an inkling of what he is up to.

Medal of honor winners cited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Six Congressional Medal of Honor winners from Ohio have been honored with the Brevet Colonel Citation.

Gov. John J. Gilligan presented the citations Monday to Melvin Mayfield of St. Louisville, Forrest E. Everhart of Zanesville, Almond E. Fisher of Mentor, Frank Herda of Brunswick Hills, Ronald E. Rosser of Crooksville and Gordon E. Roberts of Dayton.

The citation is an honorary title which has not been awarded in Ohio since the end of the Civil War.

Gilligan at the same time proclaimed June 24 Congressional Medal of Honor and Unity Day in Ohio.

The first fleet of motorized taxis in the United States made its debut in 1907.

Long-Acting Drugs...

Is there any advantage in using the long-acting capsules and pills that are now so extensively advertised?

Miss G.L., N.Y.

Dear Miss L.:

Long-acting drugs have an important value. They must not be considered commercial gimmicks to capture the buyer's attention.

Many drugs bought by prescription or over-the-counter are rapidly excreted in the urine. Thus it is necessary to take the drugs at regular intervals to maintain an effective level in the blood stream.

A long period of sleep reduces the effective level. This is why the pharmaceutical industry has developed excellent methods of coating drugs for release at regular intervals. This assures continued action.

Many antibiotics, cortisone and other drugs are injected into the body in a special oily substance to maintain a constant flow into the blood stream. This, in essence, is a variation of the idea of the long-acting, coated drugs.

Are there any diseases that can be carried from a dog to a child? Our children are constantly kissing them.

Mrs. L.S., Ohio

Dear Mrs. S.:

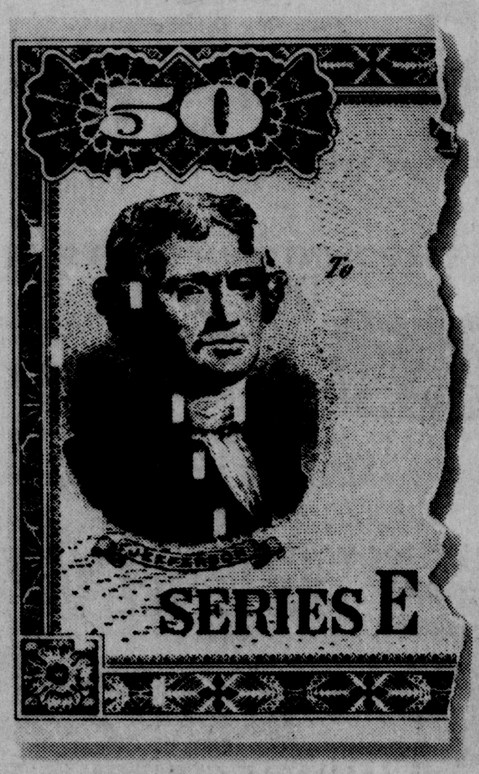
Children should be discouraged from kissing dogs and cats and other domesticated animals. There are a number of parasitic infections in these animals that can be transmitted to humans. One parasite, the nematode, resides in animals and can be passed directly to children.

The nematode from the intestinal tract of a dog can contaminate the soil where children can ingest it. Fungus infections and molds can also be present around the lips and chins of animals.

There are other safer ways for children and adults to demonstrate affection for pets.

Drills studded with hundreds of coarse diamonds are preferred for boring oil wells, because the bits do not have to be drawn up thousands of feet for frequent replacement.

Steal me. Burn me. Throw me away. I'm still yours.



Once you bring me home, I'm yours forever.

Even if I'm burned. Or lost. Or stolen.

If you look for me and can't find me, just report it. And you'll get me back, as good as new.

And remember: I'll never break your heart. Or leave you stranded in the tight spots.

I'll always be there when you need me.

And that ought to make you feel pretty secure.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.
